Mayor Takes Action To Speed New Junior High

Mayor Monte G. Basbas settled down smoothly this week to his new job of running Newton's city government.

One of his official actions as Mayor was to call a meeting of department heads in an attempt to expedite the land-takings for the site of the new $2 million Bigelow Junior High School so that construction of the school may start on time this year.

He also disclosed that he expects to nominate nine members for Newton's Human Relations Commission at the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Basbas received the oath of office from Superior Court Justice David A. Rose before an inaugural gathering which taxed the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall to capacity on the afternoon of New Year's Day.

Basbas himself administered the oath to 23 members of the Board of Aldermen and eight School Committee members.

One seat on the Aldermanic Board is still vacant pending an appeal to the Supreme Court by Boston University Professor Harry H. Crosby who apparently was nosed out for election on a recount by H. James Shea, Jr. Crosby is challenging the validity of the recount.

Retiring Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and former Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., now chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, were among the officials in attendance at the inaugural ceremonies.

During the inaugural program prayers were offered by the Rev. Daniel Bliss of the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, Rabbi Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel in Newton Centre and by the Rev. Donald G. Clifford of the Sacred Heart Church.

More than 2000 persons attended the Inaugural Ball at the West Newton Armory on New Year's night.

Governor John A. Volpe, Attorney General Edward W. Brooke and Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler along with Mayor Basbas and other state and city officials led the grand march.

Randall W. Weeks served as master of ceremonies. Governor Volpe and Attorney General Brooke were presented by Representative Theodore D. Mann of Newton.

In his inaugural address Basbas emphasized his "one-city" concept for Newton and called for charter reform and an updating of the city charter.

He told his listeners that he is "completely committed to the principle of nonpartisanship in municipal politics" and that while he is Mayor he will implement that policy by remaining neutral in regular partisan elections.

While Mayor, Basbas said, he will confine his political activities to city affairs and city elections. This means he will not take part in State or national campaigns. He stressed that he was not suggesting that as a policy for other city officials.

Basbas emphasized that he intends to be the Mayor of all the citizens of Newton.

He said he plans to engage as an administrative assistant "a well-trained, well-educated administrative aide who has a thorough knowledge of federal subsidy programs, federal, state and local rela-

Aldermen 13-5 For Traffic Ordinance

One-way traffic on Webster street in West Newton, from Elm street easterly to Cherry street, will be continued under the terms of a Traffic Commission recommendation approved by a 13-5 vote of the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

The one-way traffic restriction originally was put into effect as a result of a protest by a group of mothers concerning traffic conditions on the street.

Alderman Paul J. Burke, who led the opposition to the ordinance, told his fellow board members that residents of the area were dissatisfied with the one-way regulation which had been put into effect pending the installation by the State Public Works Department of a pedestrian-controlled traffic light at Webster and Cherry streets.

Alderman Harry H. Ham, Jr., replied that the one-way regulation had served to reduce the flow of traffic at the intersection by 1100 vehicles per day. He urged adoption of the ordinance as a proven safety measure.

Aldermen William M. Glovsky, William P. Matthews, Joseph M. O'Donnell and Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman joined Burke in voting against the ordinance.

Absent from the session were Aldermen Winslow C. Auryansen, George L. Hicks, Charles F. Hovey and Jack M. Roberts.

The ordinance making Webster street one-way was one of a number of recommendations by the Traffic Commission considered by the Aldermen at their first meeting of 1966.

A petition by the Nonatum Businessmen & Associates that the parking ban on Watertown street, between Adams and Bridge streets, be lifted, was tabled by the Aldermen until additional information is obtained on the matter. The Traffic Commission had recommended that the petition be denied.

Other recommendations by the Traffic Commission which were approved unanimously were:

A petition by George Cashman for alleviation of traffic

Some of the answers to one of today's most vexing problems, community development, may be forthcoming at the January 20 meeting.

A proud and happy Newton woman, Mrs. Myron Benson of 141 Greenwood St., Newton Centre, has established a fishing record in southern waters.

Mrs. Benson caught the first "white" of the winter season when she bought to gaff a 59-pound white marlin off the resort city of Nassau in the Bahamas.

Using medium tackle, the determined Newton woman hooked the fighting beauty, battled it to a standstill, and boated it.

Landed on 40-pound-test tackle from the Nassau charter boat Lark with Capt. Misher Pinder at the wheel, the catch merited a citation from the Bahamas Ministry of tourism.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Swift Political Power Play By Brooke Opens Senate Bid

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke executed a political power play in publicly announcing his candidacy for the U.S. Senate exactly 24 hours after Senator Leverett Saltonstall had made the surprising disclosure that he will not run for another term.

In the process of speedily staking out his claim to the GOP Senate nomination, Brooke ruffled the feelings and stepped on the toes of a number of prominent members in his own party.

While no Republican will admit it, the fact is that everything isn't exactly sweetness and light right now in the upper echelons of the GOP.

Like most other public leaders across the State, Governor Volpe was taken completely by surprise when Saltonstall disclosed he would retire from public office at the close of this year.

Everything Saltonstall had said and done—every speech he had made—every hint he had dropped—

Mayor Basbas Gets Governor's Praise

Governor John A. Volpe paid tribute both to Newton's new Mayor and to residents of the city in an address at the inaugural ball in the West Newton Armory on New Year's night.

The Governor referred to the exerience Basbas brought to the office of Mayor and at the same time observed that Newton "has a tradition of civic-mindedness, good government and high standards."

The office of Mayor represents the greatest honor which any city can bestow upon one of its citizens, but to be elected Mayor of the city of Newton is a particular honor and a particular challenge. For the Garden City has a tradition of civic-mindedness, good government, and high standards which has earned it a national reputation as one of the most desirable communities in the country in which to live, work, and send one's children to school," Volpe declared.

"To serve as Mayor of Newton is a particular challenge because the citizens of this community demand responsibility and expect excellence. For that is what they are accustomed to and hat is why the live in this beautiful city.

"Monte Basbas comes to the office of Mayor at a time when the problems of local government have never been greater, at a time when the issues have never been more sharply focused.

"A time when the problems of municipal finance of public safety of community renewal,

Political Highlights

indicated that he would be a candidate for reelection next November.

Whether he had been play-acting or whether he changed his mind over the Christmas holidays is something only Saltonstall himself really knows.

Volpe was in the midst of a do-or-die fight for the enactment of his tax program and a limited sales tax enactment of his tax program and a limited sales tax when he was stunned by the word that Saltonstall had announced his intention of quitting the Senate at a Federal Building press conference.

Subsequently, Volpe requested that Brooke delay the announcement of his candidacy for the Senate until the top Republican chieftains could sit down and confer on the matter.

Brooke declined and went ahead with plans for a press conference precisely 24 hours to the minute after Saltonstall made his statement.

Not only did Brooke announce his own political plans, but he came pretty close to announcing those of Governor Volpe, Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson and all but two of the Republican Congressmen from Massachusetts.

Volpe and Richardson presumably took a dim view of Brooke's assertions since politicians like to announce their own candidacies, not read in the newspapers that someone else had done it for them.

What Brooke said was that Volpe expected to be a candidate for reelection, that Richardson expected to be a candidate either for reelection or for Attorney General, that he had talked with the Republican Congressmen and that two of them — F. Bradford Morse and Silvio Conte of Pittsfield—hadn't made up their minds what they would do.

Actually, Volpe and Richardson had given Brooke the basis for his statements except that they obviously thought they were engaged in personal and confidential conversations and had no idea he would quote them.

Volpe told Brooke he had no intention at that time of running for the U. S. Senate. Richardson, in effect, said the same thing.

The Governor subsequently declared that he had not eliminated the possibility that he might seek election to the Senate and that he could not foretell what may happen in the next few months.

Whatever possibility there is that Volpe may change his course and run for the Senate is so slim and remote as to be almost non-existent.

While Volpe probably could defeat Brooke at a convention, he would have to fight him again in a primary. The Republican nomination for the Senate would not be worth much after that kind of party blood-letting, no matter who got it.

Brooke also positioned himself strongly by leaping so quickly into the Senate field. It would be awkward for Volpe to move into the race against him a few months from now.

Congressman Morse is seriously considering challenging Brooke for the endorsement of the Republican State Convention. Morse is an outstanding Congressman and an exceptional vote-getter in his section of the State. He would be no soft touch for Brooke or anyone else although he doesn't have Brooke's state-wide strength.

Whether Morse actually will contest with Brooke is uncertain, but he has been sounding out top Republicans in every section of Massachusetts to determine if he could get their backing.

Brooke, a gifted speaker with great platform presence, smoothly answered or fielded the questions fired at him by reporters and radio and TV newsmen during his press conference.

He said some revealing and significant things in the process of doing so.

Reports have been circulated at the State House for some time and have been published in the daily newspapers that if Brooke retired from the office of Attorney General, he would back his top assistant, John S. Bottomly, for election as his successor.

If Brooke ever had any such idea, he abandoned it after Saltonstall made his startling pronouncement. Brooke said flatly that he would not try to dictate the choice of his successor.

With the prospect that Brooke and Boston Mayor John F. Collins, two of the very best public speakers in the Commonwealth, will be the senatorial opponents in next November's election, political observers began to visualize some history - making campaign debates between the two.

However, Brooke hit that vision right on the head—and hard. He wants no part of any debates.

Brooke said he doesn't like debates, that he felt the Republican party made a great mistake when it consented to debates a few years ago. This was an obvious reference to the debates between the late John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 Presidential campaign which turned the tide in Kennedy's favor.

He went on to say that he did not believe any of the debates held since then had served any useful purpose. Governor Volpe might disagree with him since a debate between Volpe and Francis X. Bellotti at Faneuil Hall in the autumn of 1964 was the turning point in the Volpe-Bellotti campaign and helped to elect Volpe Governor.

But Brooke was adamant on the subject of debates. "I don't anticipate any debates. I don't think debates help. I think they hurt," he said.

Mayor Collins and former Governor Peabody undoubtedly will be happy to learn that Brooke doesn't know anything bad about them. That's what he said at his press conference when he was asked to compare his qualifications for service in the U. S. Senate with the qualifications of Collins and Peabody.

"I don't want to say anything good about them because it's bad politics," declared Brooke. "I don't want to say anything bad about them because I don't know anything bad about them."

No Serious Fight Seen For Brooke Within GOP

While there is some grumbling in Republican councils about the speed with which Brooke established what amounted to squatter's rights to the GOP nomination for the Senate, it is unlikely that Brooke will encounter serious opposition either at the Republican State Convention in June or in the primary next September. (His problem will come when he meets Collins in next fall's election.)

Popular Congressman Morse is seriously weighing the possibility of battling Brooke. Morse would be giving up a safe seat in Congress for the poor gamble that he could defeat Brooke at the convention, defeat him again in the primary and then best Collins in the election. That's what the gambling gentry would call a long-shot parlay.

If Brooke had delayed his announcement until after the sitdown Volpe requested, Volpe probably would have decided that he would stand for reelection to a four-year term as Governor.

A seat in the U. S. Senate undoubtedly would hold great attraction for Volpe.

From a purely political standpoint, however, Volpe would have a better chance of gaining another term as Governor than of toppling Collins in a senatorial race.

And if Volpe does win reelection next November, he'll be out in the forefront as a potential contender for the Republican nomination for President or Vice President in 1968.

GOP Must Find Strong Atty. Gen. Candidate

Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson now has a choice of running either for Lieutenant Governor or Attorney General.

Richardson says his present disposition is to stand for reelection as Lieutenant Governor but that he is not foreclosing the possibility that he might become a candidate for Attorney General.

There are several factors and considerations which may eventually influence Richardson's decision.

Richardson apparently would personally prefer to remain as Lieutenant Governor rather than move over to the office of Attorney General.

He has more duties and responsibilities than any Lieutenant Governor in the history of the Commonwealth. He virtually functions as Governor in the fields of health, welfare and education.

Richardson wanted to be Attorney General when he sought the office in 1962. Now the position no longer has as much appeal for him.

From the GOP standpoint, however, the problem is that Richardson, who has gained tremendously in stature during the past year, may be the only outstanding candidate the Republican party could nominate for Attorney General.

Republican leaders now are assuming that either ex-Governor Foster Furcolo or former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti will be the Democratic nominee for Attorney General. While that is not necessarily a safe assumption at this time, it is a distinct possibility.

Richardson probably would be a favorite over Furcolo or Bellotti. It may not be easy to find any other available Republican who would be a match for either Furcolo or Bellotti.

The GOP would have no great trouble finding a formidable candiate for Lieutenant Governor who would add strength to its ticket.

Ex-Representative Francis W. Perry of Duxbury, State Senator John F. Parker of Taunton, George C. Lodge of Beverly, Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler of Wellesley and former Congressman Laurence Curtis of Newton are among the possibilities who come to mind.

Finding a nominee for Attorney General other than Richardson who could match strength with Furcolo or Bellotti may be another matter.

Lee Loumos Says:

I suppose you have made the usual ritual of New Year's Resolutions and by now, if you are like me, have probably broken most of them. There is one resolution, however, that I would like to make and keep this year, and that is to lay to rest the recurring comment, at least within my sphere of action, that Color TV isn't really perfected yet. Most of these comments stem from viewing poorly transmitted local daytime shows or improperly tuning one's set.

Let me pass on to you all a simple piece of advice I give to all my customers on color tuning. First, tune to the very edge of the good picture with your fine tuning. Second, reduce the color control to the minimum required to get color, and third, adjust the tint control to get natural pink skin tones. If you have trouble following these simple steps, your set has probably not been set up right in the first place, but feel free to call me for further instructions or advice. And, as a parting thought, why not make your New Year's Resolution to make Lee Loumos your Color TV Headquarters. Our years of technical experience can make 1966 your most colorful year.

(Chalue Photo)

It's Official, Monte Basbas Is Not City Clerk

The incoming Board of Aldermen made it official Monday night that Monte G. Basbas, now Mayor of Newton, is no longer the City Clerk.

Basbas' letter of resignation from his former post was accepted by vote of the members.

In his letter, Basbas said he had experienced 15 years of "tremendously rewarding service" and that he was looking forward to a resumption of his "fine relations" with the Board of Aldermen.

No action was taken at the meeting on the matter of choosing a new City Clerk. However, the Board instructed President Wendell R. Bauckman to reappoint a committee to look into the qualifications of candidates for the post.

The members named to the committee are Alderman Melvin J. Dangel, George L. Hicks, Paul J. Burke and Edward C. Uehlein.

tionships and the governmental operations of a municipality.

The new Mayor announced that he will organize and use a municipal cabinet which will meet regularly. It will include the school superintendent and School Committee Chairman as well as representatives of the Board of Aldermen.

In his budget, Basbas said, he will recommend pay raises for city employees.

He asserted that an increase in the school budget is inevitable. "Good schools are expensive," he observed, "and if we want to maintain excellence in our public school system, we must be willing to pay the price."

Basbas said he is disturbed because the city's debt may reach an all-time high within a few years.

Discussing urban renewal, he said that any project must have solid neighborhood support. "The need, however, to conserve and rehabilitate some areas of our city through an urban renewal program is vital," he added.

He said he will review recommendations for beefing up the police department. Basbas indicated his support of proposals for establishment of a recruitment program for the police force, higher pay for its members and the introduction of new incentives such as rewards and promotions, declaring that these are high on his list of priorities in the public safety area.

Mayor Basbas expressed dissatisfaction with existing procedures for adopting traffic regulations and proposed the appointment of a traffic engineer to serve the traffic commission.

He advocated the development of a constructive youth program "to help fill the gap between home and school" and announced that he favors the construction of one or more youth centers.

and development of local education, metropolitan growth, and state-local relations have assumed proportions of unprecedented magnitude and complexity.

"The citizens of Newton can be thankful that Monte Basbas brings to the office of Mayor years of experience with the government of his community," Volpe asserted.

"Newton is now the ninth largest city in the Commonwealth and still growing while other cities are fighting to halt a loss in population. I think that gives the best indication of the kind of community which Newton is, and which the citizens of Newton are determined it shall continue to be," he continued.

"On behalf of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and on my own personal behalf, congratulations to the new Mayor of Newton, and best wishes for a successful administration bringing with it progress for all citizens of this community," Governor Volpe concluded.

Tribute

In presenting the resolution, Alderman Paul J. Burke remarked that it was gratifying to note that Mayor Monte G. Basbas took time to attend the Richard funeral Monday despite the heavy work load that faced him.

The following items were reported by Alderman Ham as chairman of the committee on Claims and Rules, to which they had been referred by the 1964-65 Board of Aldermen at their final meeting:

A request by Elm Rd. area residents that Elm Rd. be left one-way from Kimball Terr. to Walnut St. easterly.

Official Sees Optimistic Trend For Paint Industry

E. Colin Baldwin, president, the Sherwin-Williams Company, in anticipating business in the coming year stated this week that, "Optimistic is the word for the paint industry."

Business generally can be expected to continue improvement in 1966, and the paint industry will surely share in that growth, President Baldwin stated.

His outlook is bolstered by a number of significant factors. For example, defense spending is certain to rise as the American commitment in Viet Nam increases. Retail sales, springing fundamentally from the optimistic attitude of consumers enjoying record incomes, may well rise as much as 5½% above 1965's level. The word from Detroit is that automobile and truck sales will probably top 11 million vehicles in the year ahead. Housing starts should be in the neighborhood of 1.6 million, up slightly from the 1965 figure.

Remodeling and repair of existing residential buildings — a tremendously expanding atcivity — could easily become a 14 billion dollar market in 1966. Finally, it appears there will be no let-up in industry's capital expenditures, with estimates now placing the 1966 outlay at as much as 12% or more above 1965.

Such promise of continued and expanding prosperity is apparent in the paint industry now. Latest available figures (through September, 1965) indicate industry sales are running about 7.5% ahead of a year ago, Mr. Baldwin said.

President Baldwin said his experience at Sherwin-Williams suggests that the pace is being maintained at present. The first quarter of the 1966 fiscal year, September through November, developed a sales increase of approximately 8% over the comparable quarter a year ago. This is particularly noteworthy since paint sales in the 1965 first quarter were considerably above the year previous.

In paint, as in other products, consumers are continuing to be highly discriminating. They demand quality, and they want quality products to be readily available where they want to buy them, at prices they consider favorable. This puts a premium on manufacturing efficiency, quality control and service. It demands that manufacturers invest heavily in research and development. It demands that new and more effective channels of distribution be opened. Any paint manufacturer who fails to grasp these central facts is likely to miss out on the opportunities that lie ahead, Mr. Baldwin stated.

Similar demands are being made in the area of coating for industrial use, the finishes used on the products of industry and on the plants where those products are made. Manufacturing techniques, grown more sophisticated to meet more sophisticated demands, require more durable finishes that apply more quickly and without time-consuming complications. Paint manufacturers have to keep pace with intensified research and development work.

As somebody suggested, this could well be a time when some manufacturers will cash in, and others will cash out.

President Baldwin warned that while there is little doubt that sales will rise in 1966, a corresponding increase in profits could be more difficult to achieve. There has been no significant general increase in paint prices for several years, yet costs have been going up. In order for profits to keep pace with economic growth, there must be improvements in efficiency and productivity.

Crimes

Mrs. Jeanne Fraley of 19 Balcarres Rd., West Newton, notified police that six panes of glass were broken in her garages.

Peter J. Forte of 91 Crafts St., Newtonville, informed police that someone scratched the driver's side of his fender and punched holes in the upholstery while his car was parked at a West Newton store.

Two stolen automobiles, one taken in Boston, were recovered by Newton police.

An automobile owned by Charles J. Beecher of 6 Beecher Ter., Newton Centre, was stolen at Langley Rd. and Union St., Newton Centre, and recovered about two and a half hours later at Walnut St. and Berwick Rd., Newton. Beecher told police he saw a youth get into his car and drive away.

A car owned by J. Harold MacDonald of 191 Allerton Rd., Newton Centre, was stolen from his garage. It subsequently was recovered by police in Dover.

Patrolman William M. Fitzsimmons recovered an automobile on Oak Hill St., Newton Centre, which had been stolen in Boston Dec. 10.

When blizzard conditions develop this winter, keep driving trips at a minimum, advises Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin. If you must drive under severe snow-and-ice conditions, make sure your car is in perfect working order and use tire chains when driving in deep snow or on glare ice.

United Effort Brings Joy To Patients In Sanatorium

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, mindful of the fact that many of the patients at the Middlesex County Sanatorium, in Waltham, could not be with their families during the holiday season, solicited the aid of community-minded organizations to assist in an effort to make the season more pleasant for the shut-ins.

The Newton Upper Falls Girl Scout Troop No. 508 were asked to make favors for the patient's meal trays, and they were most colorful and artistically designed.

Approximately thirty girls from the Warren Junior High Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Sullivan, presented a program that was a medley of Christmas carols for the patients. The program was broadcast through the hospital's intercommunications system for those who were unable to be in the auditorium.

Miss Hilda G. Hope, executive director, of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, and Miss Frances Bruni, from Essex County Health Association, were in attendance. Refreshments were served for the entertainers and patients.

To help enhance the appearance of the Sanatorium, and to engender a holiday atmosphere, Newton's seven Garden Clubs were asked to decorate the seven lounges.

The Garden Clubs were generous with their donations, and every room was decorated with a professional flair.

The clubs and presidents are as follows: Auburndale Garden Club, Mrs. F. Leslie Ford, president; Educational Garden Club of West Newton, Mrs. Frederick E. Whelpley, president; Newton Centre Garden Club, Mrs. John D. Fox, president; Newton Highlands Garden Club, Mrs. Leo A. Handy, president; Newtonville Garden Club, Mrs. George W. Hinman, president; Temple Shalom Garden Club, Mrs. Arnold Shaw, president, and the West Newton Garden Club, Mrs. Richard A. Winslow, president. In addition to the holiday decorations, the Newton Centre Garden Club contributed 13 pair of felt slippers to the patients.

Communion On Sacrament In Science Church

"I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people." This promise from Jeremiah, along with many other Bible citations, is part of the communion service on "Sacrament" to be held in Christian Science churches this Sunday, January 9.

Related passages to be read from the denominational text book includes these lines: "When the human element in him struggled with the divine, our great Teacher said: 'Not my will, but Thine, be done!' —that is, Let not the flesh, but the Spirit, be represented in me. This is the new understanding of spiritual love. It gives all for Christ, or Truth. It blesses its enemies, heals the sick, casts out error, raises the dead from trespasses and sins, and preaches the gospel to the poor, the meek in heart" "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Chisholm of 100 Randlett park, West Newton, passed an examination for the rating of junior chemist in the biological laboratories of the State Department of Public Health. The test was taken by two, but the other man failed in practical question.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

With pride and pleasure I present our Condensed Comparative Statement of Condition for the years 1965 and 1964 for it again attests to the growth of our bank and the important role which it plays in the community. For your support, confidence and trust we are deeply grateful.

Nineteen sixty-five marked the successful opening of our first branch in the Newmarket Square area of Boston. Early in the spring of 1966 we shall open our second branch at 1214 Blue Hill Avenue, near Morton Street, Mattapan. This branch will for the first time afford the individuals, firms and corporations in that area the convenience of a friendly commercial bank within easy access, and we look forward eagerly to the opportunity to serve that segment of the city.

Appreciation of the community's needs inspired the continuance in 1965 of our established policy of contributing generously to many local charitable, educational and civic causes, without regard to race, creed or color, and the opportunity to do so has brought much satisfaction.

For the new year, we rededicate ourselves to serving our loyal depositors and friends, and it is our hope that 1966 will be a year of continued growth, progress and success for all of us.

Sincerely

RUBIN EPSTEIN, President

Men's, Women's Classes To Start At "Y" Jan. 10

During the week of Jan. 10, the informal classes for men and women at the Newton YMCA will start their winter term according to Mr. Louis H. Morrison, chairman of the Adult Work Committee.

Two new instructors have been added to the roster of teachers for the new session. Roger Carpenter of Newton Centre and Eastman's Flower Shop will be replacing Dana Gleason as the flower arranging instructor for the classes starting on Wednesday, January 12. Adolph Monosson, a commercial photograph developer of Newton Centre, will be presenting an entirely new approach to picture taking in a "Photography Workshop" starting Monday, Jan. 10.

This is the season of golf instruction when the two pros, John Oteri of Blue Hills Club and Jay Woodworth of Furnace Brook Country Club will again present their special classes that help the duffer improve as well as teach the beginners.

The regulars, Mr. and Mrs. William Riley, will be on hand for new adventures in ballroom dancing; and auto driving will resume with the behind-the-wheel sessions being given on clear road days.

Throughout the week an assortment of courses for both beginners and doers will be offered in art, bridge, enameling, dressmaking, languages, guitar, investments, writing and Slim Jane.

For further information or a brochure call the Adult Division of the YMCA in Newton Corner at BI 4-6050.

Growth Expected

Marx Brothers Film At Junior College Jan. 12

"A Night at the Opera" with the Marx Brothers will be presented at the Newton Junior College Art and Music Series to be held at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, January 12, at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville.

This classic film is authentic comedy at its best. Sustained laughter, building on visual gags, has made this movie universal and timeless.

Long considered by critics here and abroad as artistic achievement both in its direction and acting, "A Night at the Opera" continues to appeal to audiences of varying ages and backgrounds.

Although many films have tried to emulate its high standards, none have succeeded. "A Night at the Opera" remains uniqiue. This event is free of charge and open to the public.

Hostess, Cook To Be Speaker For Hadassahs

A combined Newton and Oak Hill Hadassah will be held at the Sydney Hill Country Club, Wednesday, January 12, at 1:30 p.m., with Florence Hirschfield as guest speaker.

She is that delightful combination of famous hostess and famous cook, and the author of the latest cook book "Cooking With Love" just published.

Hostesses will be: Mrs. Robert Horlick, chairman of Medical Center for Oak Hill; Mrs. Gerald Glunts, chairman of Medical Center for Newton; Mrs. David Sandler, chairman of Hadassah supplies of Oak Hill; Mrs. Hyman Horwitz, chairman of Hadassah supplies for Newton; Mrs. Morton Alpert, president Oak Hill Chapter of Hadassah; Mrs. Arthur Norris, president Newton Chapter of Hadassah.

Samuel Albert of 6 Glastonbury Oval, Waban, will conduct a 10-week course in the Poetry Workshop this winter at the oBston Center for Adult Education.

Waist Watchers Outgrow Their Meeting Place

Weekly groups of Waist Watchers of Massachusetts are meeting in Newton and other communities, and adding constantly to their membership, according to Mrs. Edith Berman of 57 Rowe St., Auburndale, Boston coordinator of the program.

In fact, the Newton group has expanded — numerically, that is — to the point that a change of meeting place has become necessary. On Wednesday, Jan. 5, the meeting was held in Temple Emanuel on Ward St., Newton Centre, the present quarters in Newton Community Center having become too small.

As participants in the program, Waist Watchers can anticipate losing pounds gradually and sensibly by means of eating habit re-education that permits using gourmet recipes. These recipes, which go hand in hand with the diet, are distributed bi-weekly, giving the members something to look forward to, as opposed to the old "rabbit-food" school of dieting.

First Breakfast For Fathers By Meadowbr'k PTA

Meadowbrook Junior High School PTA recently held its first breakfast for fathers.

Dr. Charles Brown, Superintendent of Newton Schools, spoke on the topic "Meadowbrook Jr. High School, and Its Place in the Movement of Current Education." A question and answer period followed. Future breakfasts will be held on a monthly basis.

Another innovation this year at Meadowbrook was the recently held "Spouse Day". The husbands, wives or members of the family of the Meadowbrook faculty were invited to spend a day at school. A tour of the school was given, lunch served and guests visited the classrooms. Coffee and pastry was served throughout the day.

The Student Council, along with the PTA, helped to make this a most memorable day for all who attended.

Luncheon And Antique Show Is Held Here

A prospective new membership luncheon and antique show, given by the "Golden Key" chapter of Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital of Denver, was held recently at the home of Mrs. Harold Miller of Newton Centre.

After a sherry hour and buffet luncheon, all who attended were welcomed by Mrs. Simeon Elliott, president.

Mrs. Richard Mehlinger of Needham described her five days at the National Convention in Denver last summer and Mrs. Jerome Spivack of Newton spoke about her own experience at "Carih" when her son Robert, aged 10, was admitted for treatment at the Institute in November.

Mrs. Elliot announced that the affair, the first of its kind for the "Golden Key" Chapter, was most successful. All profits from the sale of antiques were donated to "Carih."

Real Estate Activity Here Varies A Little

Figures in the December issue of "Trends," a publication of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, show that Newton, with 83 real estate deeds recorded in November of 1965, was one deed short of the number for November, 1964..

In the first 11 months of 1965, 1048 deeds were recorded in Newton, compared to 1081 in the first 11 months of the previous year.

The number of permits issued for new dwelling units for November of 1965 and 1964 was the same, seven.

In 1965's first 11 months there were 321, and during the same period in 1964 there were only 173.

DID YOU GO POGO IN 1965?

Behold the Pogo Stick . . . to a child it is a means of escaping earthly bonds in a series of spring propelled leaps, at the top of which he experiences exhilaration, and at the bottom of which he punctures the lawn. To an adult' it is a primitive form of transportation. However, many of us are guilty of hopping about (pogo style) in a sport called "shopping for specials."

The economy of pogo shopping is lost when you figure the wasted time, lost motion and the cost of travel against what you save. We invite you to set aside your pogo stick in 1966 AND TRY ONE STOP SHOPPING method for a few weeks. You will find that your average weekly food bill is less because of our overall lower shelf prices in every department every day of the week! And . . . you'll enjoy the quality, convenience and friendliness of ROCHE BROS. . . . the stores that take the hop out of shopping.

Text Of Inaugural Address

Following is the text of the inaugural address delivered by Mayor Monte G. Basbas:

Just as I look back on my association with the City of Newton over the past 14 years with gratitude for the opportunity to have served the City and its people, so do I look forward to the next two years with enthusiasm for the task ahead. Much has been accomplished by my distinguished predecessors, but much remains to be done.

The past 14 years have been rewarding to me, rich in experience and rich in friendship. These experiences and friendships will contribute substantial support for the structure of my administration. Newton is unique in many respects, not the least of which is the depth of dedication and commitment of its municipal employees and executives to the goals of honest, effective and progressive government.

With their help and with the utilization of the tremendous reservoir of citizen talent in the City, I face the next two years with confidence that the long standing recognition of Newton as one of the Nation's outstanding communities will continue to grow.

I am grateful to Reverend Bliss, Rabbi Gordon, Bishop MacKenzie and Justice Rose for their significant contribution to today's exercises.

I could not in all good conscience let this occasion pass without expressing my appreciation to Mayor Gibbs and all of the other City officials and employees who have given me the benefit of their assistance, advice and cooperation in preparing for the new administration.

My congratulations to the ladies and gentlemen seated in front of me — the newly elected School Committee and Board of Aldermen. You serve your City diligently and selflessly. I have great respect and admiration for each of you. My door will always be open to each of you, and I know your doors will always be open to me.

I am well aware of the difficulties and challenges that lie ahead. My Ten Point Program for Progress in Newton which I discussed widely during the recent campaign should form a solid framework within which to operate. I appreciate that many decisions are still to be made.

I hope to be fair, firm, farsighted and wise in the decision-making process. I may not be right all the time, but you may be sure that every decision I make will represent my very best effort. Doing the best possible job for all of Newton's people is my sole objective and will be my sole reward.

I am completely committed to the principle of nonpartisanship in municipal politics. To implement this commitment, so long as I am Mayor of the City of Newton, I shall refrain from supporting or opposing candidates in regular partisan elections. So long as I am Mayor, my political activities will be confined to City affairs and City elections. I do not suggest this as a policy for other City officials, but I do believe that members of the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee should disregard all partisan considerations in the fulfillment of their elected responsibilities as well as in the course of biennial municipal election campaigns.

I cannot express too strongly my desire and intention to be Mayor of all of the citizens of Newton. During the course of the recent political campaign, I laid great stress on the need to consider Newton as one City. I shall be ready to listen for the thoughts of all citizens, whatever may be their political or religious persuasion or their ethnic, racial or economic background. In making appointments, I shall be mindful only of the objective of finding the best qualified citizens who are able and willing to serve. I shall regard political affiliations as extraneous.

For many years now there has been discussion of the possibilities of charter reform. Twelve years ago when my distinguished predecessor, Commissioner Howard Whitmore Jr., took the Mayor's oath for the first time, he recommended that "our somewhat outmoded charter be reviewed and revised."

I regard an updating of our charter as essential. I feel confident that an intelligent review of our charter will lead to recommendations for changes which will have widespread public support. I am sure that the members of the House and Senate representing Newton in the General Court will support any such recommendations. I am hopeful that these recommendations will encourage the spirit of nonpartisanship as well as the principle of home rule for the City of Newton.

I have no illusion about the difficulties and challenges which face the City of Newton today. In the past 12 years the annual budget of the City has more than doubled. When Mayor Whitmore took office in 1954, the annual budget of the City for the previous year was about $13,000,000. Last year the annual budget of the City was almost $30,000,000. While the budget has more than doubled during this period, the complexities of operating the Chief Executive's office have increased in even greater proportions. It is, therefore, vital that I have available to me the kind of talent necessary to meet today's complexities and increased responsibilities.

To this end, I intend to engage, as an administrative assistant to the Mayor, a well-trained, well-educated administrative aide who has a thorough knowledge of Federal subsidy programs, Federal, State and local relationships and the governmental operations of a municipality. I trust that the Board of Aldermen, the School Committee, department heads and other municipal officials and employees will support this decision.

I intend to organize and USE a municipal cabinet made up of the heads of some of the municipal departments the Chairman of the School Committee, the School Department Superintendent, representatives of the Board of Aldermen and other citizens. The cabinet will meet regularly, and I believe will contribute a great deal toward the integration, coordination and harmonization of the tremendous variety of municipally supported activities. I am hopeful that the cabinet will be helpful in the development of the one-City concept.

Unfortunately, this concept has not always been applied to the relationship between the School Committee and School Department on the one hand, and the rest of the City's government on the other hand. The climate must be improved. To help in this direction, I shall actively participate as a member of the School Committee. I urge all City officials — School Committee members, School Department personnel, members of the Board of Aldermen and department heads— to join together in a more effective working relationship for the good of our one city.

Another impediment to effective coordination of our City's services has been the identification by citizens with individual villages rather than with the City as a whole. We must preserve the valuable village tradition while at the same time give emphasis to the total needs of the City.

To his end, I plan to have regular village meetings on a rotating basis. I would hope that while such meetings would give citizens of each village an opportunity to air their views, it would also give City officials an opportunity to discuss the overall City problems. We must all learn that the problems of the whole City take precedence over the problems of individual areas.

Mayor Gibbs recently made a valuable suggestion for improving communications between City officials and the citizens. He proposed that the City distribute, in meaningful form, an annual publication to all residents containing the annual reports of the various City departments. I intend to renew this proposal. Hopefully this could lead the way to developing a greater recognition of the one-city concept by all departments.

We must produce more efficient service by eliminating unnecessary duplication and jurisdictional departmental fences. I believe that the only fiscally reasonable approach to provide better and greater service to our people is through greater integration of our activities and more effective procedural relationships among our departments.

The planning for the new Newton High School and the new Central Library offer a splendid opportunity for constructing facilities for the total Newton community. Schools and libraries cannot operate in a vacuum. The same students who attend schools use both the school and public library facilities. Parents of school children are interested in both the school libraries and the public libraries.

The citizens serving on the special high school and library site committees are rendering invaluable service and merit the thanks of all of us. I hope to have their reports and recommendations by March 1st. I know that these committees will conduct their studies in depth and arrive at sound and reasoned recommendations based on the interests of the whole City. Implementation of the final reports of these committees will follow promptly after receipt of the reports.

Unfortunately the City has fallen behind in meeting the timetable of the capital outlay program. Every effort must be exerted to help make up the lost ground as quickly as sound fiscal planning permits.

Life Magazine, in its special issue on the U. S. City, stated that the two major problems faced by every mayor "are money and jurisdiction." Two thirds of the $7 increase in the 1965 tax rate was attributed to charges beyond the control of the mayor.

I am not offering excuses ahead of time. I am simply trying to put the tax rate issue in its proper perspective.

I shall, in the 1966 budgetary process, which is already underway, strive to hold the line wherever possible. I am sure that I will have the cooperation of department heads, the School Committee and the Board of Aldermen in meeting this objective. I shall also strive to find ways of minimizing expenses without adversely affecting services. Certainly budgetary increases, however, are inevitable, especially in the area of salaries and wages.

I shall recommend to the Board of Aldermen, in my budget requests for 1966, salary increases for City employees. I do this with full realization of the immediate impact on the tax rate, but also with the conviction that we cannot reasonably expect first rate talent for second rate pay.

An even more dramatic impact on the tax rate will be from the inevitable increase in the school operating budget. Good schools are expensive, and if we want to maintain excellence in our public school system, we must be willing to pay the price.

Even tax rate minded citizens should not be too anxious about our school building and other capital improvement program. Our bonded indebtedness has been reduced substantially over the last six years. We can now, therefore, afford some imbalance between commitment and discharge. So long as the increased commitment is undertaken gradually, its impact on the annual tax rate will not be too severe. If, for example, in 1966 we borrow 4 million dollars and pay off only 2 million dollars, the impact on the tax rate would be about 50 cents. On the other hand, I am disturbed that it appears likely that the City's total indebtedness will within a few years reach an all-time high.

This is rather a pessimistically tinged discussion of purely fiscal matters, but it is realistic. It points up the critical need for additional state aid to cities and towns. If it comes, it will be no more than a recognition of a long overdue adjustment in the division of tax burdens in this Commonwealth. The inequitable proportion of those burdens assigned to the local property tax must somehow be remedied.

On the income side of the ledger, we will make every effort to step up the expansion of Newton's tax base. Commercial development over the toll road is one exciting avenue I have begun to explore. The activities of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, the build-up and rehabilitation of our apartment house and commercial zones, and the realization of a number of substantial projects in construction or on the drawing boards are some of the other bright lights for tax base expansion. This expansion is not easy to come by. I assure you that I will meet the challenge by exploring every reasonable possibility.

Urban renewal at best will involve a relative small part of Newton's potential development and redevelopment. The rest must take place through the conventional application of private capital. However, the City's administration has a significant role to play here. There are two major objectives. First, the character of Newton as a garden city must be maintained. Second, Newton must realize the full potential of the uses permitted within areas zoned for apartments and commercial purposes. The Mayor must take the initiative in harmonizing these objectives.

Leisure time is a fact of modern life. Yet public responsibility in this area is only beginning to take shape. Look at how little we have done with such large publicly owned tracts of land as Cold Springs Playground and Edmands Park. Other cities properly envy us these jewels of open space.

I am hopeful that we will be more attentive to considerations of aesthetics and natural beauty than we have been in the past.

The Capital Outlay program contains provisions for developing our recreation and park land potential. I intend to exert the full force of the office of Mayor behind this program. We should have a golf course, more swimming pools, and better facilities for outdoor recreation.

Hopefully the City will be revisited by the spirit of civic charity and farsightedness evidenced generations ago by the gifts of Burr and Edmands Parks, for example. In any event, we must intensify our efforts to find additional open space dedicated to public needs.

The one-city concept requires that we lay great emphasis on planning both for the present and for the future. The Planning Department is the proper place to centralize and coordinate the myriad of information which must be developed and compiled for intelligent progress. I shall rely heavily on the talents and work products of our City planners.

In the last analysis, however, it will be up to the Mayor to bring together the work of the planners with that of other forces in the city devoted to shaping its future. This involves, among others, the plans of the Newton Redevelopment Authority. We must develop our plans with a minimum of misunderstanding and a maximum of concensus. Any projects must have solid support from the neighborhoods involved. Since the extent of blight in Newton is not great, the extent to which redevelopment will require condemnation should be slight. The need, however, to conserve and rehabilitate some areas of our City through an urban renewal program is vital.

The Federal Government offers substantial assistance not only in urban renewal, but also in codes enforcement, housing, open space and recreation and many other programs. Some state assistance is also available.

This does not necessarily mean we will want to apply for all available subsidies. In any event, we will have to make sure that subsidies are requested only for the purpose of meeting our local needs and desires.

Planning for the needs of today also involves the public safety of our people and property. A good deal of attention has been given particularly in the press both in Newton and throughout the country to the rising incidence of crime. We should all be grateful to the Aldermanic Police Study Committee for their perceptive and thorough report on our Police Department and crime. I was gratified that the Board endorsed a number of my recommendations. I shall review the recommendations of the Committee and make every effort to implement the spirit and philosophy of the report. Establishing a recruitment program, adjusting the pay scale, introducing new incentives such as rewards and promotions and trying to change the overly restrictive State civil service rules are all items high on my list of priorities in the public safety area.

I could not let this occasion pass without expressing the justifiable pride which all of us share in the recent election of Chief Purcell as President of the International Police Chiefs Association. His election is not only a well-merited personal tribute, but is a reflection of the quality of the Department which he heads.

The procedures we now have for adopting traffic regulations are unsatisfactory. I believe it is unfortunate that the Board of Aldermen did not adopt the Traffic Commission Ordinance as originally proposed by Mayor Gibbs. It would have relieved the Aldermanic Traffic Committee from dealing with a host of details it has not been able to deal with either effectively or expeditiously. It would help to take politics out of traffic. It would concentrate the authority for the making of the regulations in a Traffic Commission. I would add to this proposal as an indispensable part the appointment of a traffic engineer to serve the Commission. I intend to submit such a proposal to the Board of Aldermen at an early date.

We have been fortunate in recent years to have our able City Solicitor, Matt B. Jones, take up his duties in City Hall on a full time basis. We have, however, continued to use the services of a number of outside attorneys on a fee basis. This may continue to be necessary to some extent, but I would hope we could make further progress in building up the regular staff of our law department by the appointment of full time assistant City Solicitors.

We live in an exciting era. In the City of Newton, in the United States and indeed throughout the world, the ideal of equality of opportunity has come closer to realization than ever before. People are opening their eyes, minds and hearts. Because I believe that this momentum can be most effectively continued at the local level, I intend to place the full resources of the office of Mayor behind a continuation of this momentum.

I look to our community relations commission and its advisory board for the necessary leadership because the members of the Commission and the Board will be uniquely qualified by virtue of training, experience and background to promote the common good as it pertains to the hearts of people.

Some people have expressed the thought that my love of people is a liability. I cannot agree. Government exists for people. In the American tradition, people do not exist for Government. Government is the offspring of people. People are not the offspring of Government. I feel no shame in my love of people. This to me is the basis premise of the democratic way of life.

I see in the City of Newton great opportunities for bringing forth the best of people of all faiths, nationalities and races — the teenagers and the elderly — the economically deprived and the economically privileged.

While I have no professional training in this field, I believe I understand the goals and ambitions, the frustrations and distress, the tensions and turmoil that exist today in many of our people. An example of this is the teenagers of the City of Newton. A substantial number of young men and women have broken their backs and almost their hearts in an effort to establish a youth center. I believe that it is the responsibility of the City of Newton as well as the responsibility of parents, teachers, and the clergy to help provide our young men and women with direction, to help develop in them proper motivation and a better appreciation for the highest moral values.

Adding patrolmen to the police force will not decrease the number of teenagers who take up burglary or violence for a thrill. Developing constructive youth programs to help fill the gap between home and school would in my opinion make a far more significant contribution to the objective.

Our teenagers present a substantial and precious part of the one City of Newton. Some, but not enough, progress has been made by the School and Recreation Departments and other agencies of the City, which have been doing their best to reduce delinquency and enrich the free time of our young men and women. The problem cries out for a unified solution.

I discuss our youth in the context of human relations because I believe that the Community Relations Commission should study in depth the question of youth centers and should recommend a professionally sound approach. While I support the construction and maintenance of one or more youth centers, I am aware that other communities have not realized their objectives in providing such facilities. We need the attention and skills of the professional if we are to come up with the right answer.

I shall within a matter of a few days announce the nine member Community Relations Commission and shortly thereafter, with the advice and consent of the Commission, I shall appoint its twenty member Advisory Board. I shall approve and send to the Board of Aldermen for appropriation any reasonable budgetary requests made by the Commission, so that it may function effectively.

I pledge to you, the people of Newton, that my heart and soul will be completely dedicated to your well-being while I am in the office of Mayor. I expect of myself at least as much as you expect of me. With your help and with the help of God, Newton will become one City — one City in which we live at peace with each other — one City dedicated to the common good. May you all have a rewarding New Year.

How often do you buy a new car?

That's too often.

Buy a Volvo, keep it a long time and get out from under car payments for a change.

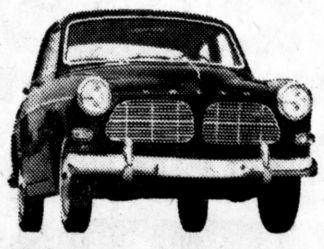

How long can you expect a Volvo to last? We're not sure yet. In Sweden, Volvos are driven an average of eleven years. When you consider that in Sweden there are no speed limits on the highways and there are 70,000 miles of unpaved roads, you can understand why we have to bite our tongues to keep from making some rash promises.

One more thing. You won't mind keeping your Volvo a long time. Its body style doesn't change every year. It's uncomplicated and requires very little maintenance. It runs away from other popular-priced compacts in every speed range, yet gets over 25 miles to the gallon like the little economy cars, even with automatic transmission.

And your Volvo will look good standing next to your swimming pool. The one you build with the money that used to go for car payments.

Come in and test drive a Volvo any time.

Fish Story With Facts

Smiling broadly, and who wouldn't, Mrs. Myron Benson of Newton Centre, poses with 59-pound white marlin she hooked, battled to a standstill, and boated off Nassau.

Mrs. Benson posed for the traditional photo showing the hooked marlin, duly weighed, with its proud captor standing alongside. In this case, a fish story augmented with facts.

White marlin, which weigh in excess of 150 pounds, are an active fish that move into the deep sea and swimways of the Bahamas in fall and winter months. Summer months find them off the eastern seaboard of the Atlantic states as far north as Block Island.

The world record for women was established in Bimini, Bahamas, in 1936 by Mrs. Marion B. Stevens with a 152-pounder.

However, Mrs. Benson's 59-pounder established the record of being the first "white" of the current season caught off Nassau.

Kiwanis To Contribute For Memorial to Heroic Women

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club will join with other Kiwanis Clubs of New England in contributing to the erection of a Memorial Bell Tower at the Cathedral of the Pines at Ringe, New Hampshire. When erected next year it will be dedicated to all American woman war dead.

The local Kiwanis Club was an active participant in raising money in 1951 for the purchase of the Schulmerich Carillonic Bells which have been heard by millions of visitors to the chapel in the wooded hills of the Monadnock Region of New Hampshire.

According to Dr. Douglas Sloane and his wife, Sibyl, who are co-founders of the woodland chapel known throughout the world, it will be the only national monument honoring women who died in service.

Dr. and Mrs. Sloane were former residents of Newtonville and established the renowned outdoor cathedral in memory of their son "Sandy," who was lost on a bombing mission over Germany on February 22, 1944.

More than five million persons have visited the shrine since the jungle brush of pines was first cleared by Dr. Sloane, his neighbors and friends. People from 109 different countries have signed the guest book and 49 faiths have found the setting an inspirational answer to the ageless quest for God. With the erection of the Bell Tower, a surge of new interest is anticipated.

It will be built of fieldstone to harmonize with the Chapel's appointments and be 24 feet square with a fountain in the center at the base. Four archways will grace the vertical column. Above each will be a bronze tablet weighing 1200 pounds and measuring 9 feet by 5 feet, depicting the significant role women have played in the growth and defense of our country.

The tower, designed by Arland A. Dirlam, one of the leading church architects, will be 1400 feet above sea level. It will house a century-old Sheffield bell which has been on exhibit during the past year; also the Schulmerich Carillonic Bells, a gift of the Kiwanis Clubs of New England; and an angelus donated by a Connecticut resident and the great English bell Dr. Sloane bought from the town of Keene, N. H.

"Women remembered here did not necessarily wear military uniforms," Dr. Sloane stated, "for an uncounted number of pioneer women gave their lives."

Drawings for the plaques were made by the eminent artist and cover illustrator, Norman Rockwell of Stockbridge, whose series of paintings entitled "The Four Freedoms" (including the Freedom of Worship) are internationally known. His son, Peter, is the sculptor. His studio is in Rome.

The idea to honor American women war dead is believed to date back to 1950 when Dr. Sloane's cousin, Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, rededicated the family's chapel to include all American war dead, men and women.

Families, friends, and descendants of all those women who have nobly given their lives for America may point to Dr. Sloane as their champion.

In the history of the Cathedral of the Pines, never once has a collection been taken up at a service. Funds received are all voluntary ones, dropped into wodden boxes which are scattered around the premises.

Sealer Bowen Announces Hours For Testing Measure Devices

J. Ellis Bowen, sealer of weights and measures of the City of Newton, has announced a statutory notice to the public to have all commercially used weighing and measuring devices tested at his office at City Hall.

Sealer Bowen's notice is addressed to all persons having or using weighing or measuring devices commercially in Newton and is as follows:

"All individuals, partnerships, associations or trusts and corporations, using weighing or measuring devices for the purpose of buying or selling goods, wares or merchandise, for public weighing or for hire or reward doing business or having places of business located in this City of Newton are hereby notified to bring them in to the Department of Weights and Measurese to be tested, adjusted, sealed or condemned by the sealer."

The testing, adjusting, sealing and condemning of weighing and measuring devices will be performed on the following specified dates and time: Through January 14, except Saturdays and Sundays, 8:30 to 9:30 a.m.

In pointing out the importance to the community of local weights and measures administration and enforcement with relation to scale and meter accuracy Sealer Bowen reports that he is not only concerned with the weighing devices of the butcher and grocer, but also the scales of the apothecary, junk dealer, express company, candy stores, hardware stores and laundries as well as all gasoline vending pump meters, grease meters, fuel oil delivery truck meters and linear measures from yard sticks to taxi meters, not only to insure accuracy for the benefit of consumers, but for the benefit of vendors as well.

With refernce to small inaccuries that may seem inconsequential Sealer Bowen said, "A weighing error of one ounce per pound for 100 weighings a day causes a loss of 6¼ pounds. Multiplied by 300 days in a year of a commodity priced at $1.00 a pound, the resultant loss is $1,875.00. If a scale be fast, the loss is that of consumers. If the scale be slow, such loss falls upon the merchant.

"If a gasoline vending pump meter is in error by 1/10 gallon (1/50 part) on each five gallon delivery at 30c per gallon, such loss will be $60.00 on each 10,000 gallons, and over 40 million gallons of motor vehicle fuel pass through Newton's pumps annually.

"In addition to testing, adjusting and sealing or condemning commercial devices, containers, linear measures, etc., Deputy Sealer Silver and I, during the past year, have conducted thousands of inspections and trial weighings of merchandise prepackaged in anticipation of sale to insure the proper use of devices and fair merchandising practices.

"The paramount function of the Weights and Measures Department is to enforce equity and fair play with relation to quantity determinations in all commercial transactions."

IN NEEDHAM HEIGHTS

WHO: You, if you are thinking about renting a single home.
WHAT: Two-story single with two upstairs bedrooms; bath and one-car garage. Lovely, large porch — very private.
WHEN: Available January 15, 1966. Can be seen NOW, by appt.
WHERE: In the Heights, about five giant steps from elementary school. Routes 128 and 9 are quickly reached by car.
WHY: Because of its location. Also, the back yard couldn't be nicer for snowball fun and building snowmen and for cookouts when warm weather comes once again. (Big enough for pool, too!)

Can be seen NOW, but only by appointment with owner - 449-0393.

Christmas Seal Sales To Equal Last Year's

Last year's sale of Christmas Seals is expected to be equalled this year, or even surpassed, according to John M. Sullivan, president of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association.

"We're holding our breath," said Mr. Sullivan, "but if contributions continue to come in at the same rate, we will equal last year's figures. Or, knock on wood, we might even top them."

Twenty-two thousand, five hundred and thirty-six Christmas Seal letters were mailed to Newton residents in November. To date, the Association has heard from only 8,448, which constitutes approximately a third of the mailing.

This week, reminders have been sent with the hope that the returns will equal or surpass last years.

More than one-half a million Americans need special attention because of tuberculosis. Other respiratory diseases are the major cause of time lost from work and school. Christmas Seal contributions helped to make possible the pilot Respiratory Disease Study, which was conducted in Newton during the month of October.

"We fervently hope that those who haven't responded to their Christmas Seal letters will do so now," concluded Mr. Sullivan, "so we can achieve our goal and therefore carry out and expand our Respiratory Program as planned.

Local Lawyer Heads Newton CP Fund Drive

Atty. Peter Harrington, who lives at 157 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, and maintains legal offices at 1383 Washington St., West Newton, has been appointed a co-chairman for the 1966 drive of United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston.

The UCP campaign for funds will begin in Newton Sunday, Jan. 9.

In accepting one of the top campaign posts, Atty. Harrington said he hoped everyone would take to heart the campaign theme, "Happiness is Helping."

He noted that 25,000 infants are born each year with cerebral palsy, which results from brain damage. "This crippler," the co-chairman pointed out, "deprives the child of muscular control and in addition often affects his vision, speech or hearing.

"Life to a child with cerebral palsy," he added, "seems an insurmountable problem without a lot of special help. That is why the children and their families have come to rely on United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston."

The newly appointed chairman declared that "the upcoming campaign is the responsibility of every Newton resident, and we must raise funds to continue the services needed by the many cerebral palsy victims in this area, and at the same time join in the nation-wide assault on this crippler through research."

Women Of Stone Institute Enjoy Boston Yule Lights

Christmas was enjoyed in a unique way at the Stone Institute in Newton this year. Late on a Sunday afternoon, 20 ladies from the Home on the Hill in Newton Upper Falls boarded a parlor coach and were driven to Boston to see the Christmas Festival of Lights.

They circled Boston Common, drove up and down several streets to see the enchanting displays in store windows, the creche on the Common and the reflection of lights along Storrow Drive.

It was "the first time I've been to Boston at night in 25 years" according to one; "a dream come true" to another, and sheer delight in the surprise trip to all.

Even the harried policeman directing heavy traffic on Tremont Street stopped in pleased surprise to see the smiling faces of the ladies as they drove slowly along the Common.

The trip was a Christmas present to the ladies from the "Friends of Stone Institute". Each lady had a sparkling gay corsage of bright ornaments pinned on her coat. Each was seated beside a window in the big bus which had a vista dome so that no one had to twist her head to see the handsome tower of the Prudential Center as they drove past.

Several members of the Friends joined the ladies on tour which took them through what one called "fairyland". They included Mr. and Mrs. Douglass B. Francis, Mrs. Elmore L. MacPhie and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Shaffer. Mr. Shaffer is president of the Home.

Returning from the tour, they were treated to a festive Sunday night supper served by the Friends with Mrs. E. K. Mentzer, chairman. Ice cream in Christmas molds and decorated cookies completed the meal.

The tour which replaced the traditional Christmas tea made a hit with the ladies who, tired but happy, voted unanimously "to do it again next year". "We've had our Christmas today," said one, "nothing else could be better than this trip."

Board Votes Approval Of Appropriations

A recommendation by Mayor Basbas for an appropriation of $9918 in advance of the budget for various city departments, except water, to effect salary adjustments, was approved by the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

In making his Finance committee report, Chairman John P. Nixon explained that this is a customary procedure at the start of a fiscal year.

Carlton Merrill, veterans service agent, requested an appropriation of $10,000 for veterans benefits and burials which, he said, could not be covered by funds in hand. An appropriation was voted, but on the committee's recommendation it was cut to $8000.

In other action, the Board approved a transfer of $350 from the Fire Department's salary schedule to the care of buildings account.

Also voted was $2000 for aldermanic expenses for the year, and $100 for the deputy sealer of weights and measures to correct an error of omission.

Newton Native Made Partner In N.Y. Firm

He is the son of Mrs. Helen Fay MacGill, 35 Langdon St., Newton, and the late C. Frederick MacGill, a Boston businessman.

Record School Budget Has $3.85 Tax Impact

A record-high $1,168,288 increase in the school budget will make a $3.85 impact on this year's Newton tax rate, municipal officials estimated yesterday.

This means that the city's tax rate probably will be at least $5 higher than last year's rate since all the indications are that the municipal budget will be more than $500,000 greater than in 1965.

The school budget approved at Monday night's School Committee meeting totalled $13,573,174.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who appeared at the School Board session and urged that the boost in the school budget be kept under $1 million declared yesterday that he was "deeply concerned about the impact the very high increase in the school budget will have on the tax rate."

However, Basbas finally voted for the adoptiion of the school budget. He did so after School Committee members told him they had trimmed more than $300,000 from their budget and had reduced the budget increase from about $1.5 million to $1,168,288.

Observing that provisions are made in the budget for creation of 45 new teaching positions, Basbas requested the School Committee members to review each new position before filling it.

He stressed that he is very proud of Newton's public school system and wants to maintain its excellence but that he is also concerned about the impact mounting school costs will have on the tax rate and the taxpayer.

The school budget went up about $850,000 last year. The increase this year in the school budget is the biggest in the city's history.

School Board Asks $63,000 In US Aid

Following a review of the subject matter under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, the School Committee last Monday night, voted to apply to the federal government for a total of $63,700 to cover a program of intensive help in reading and language development to meet the needs of educationally deprived children in two attendance areas with high concentrations of low income families.

The review was presented by Dr. J. Bernard Everett and Dr. Donald T. Welch of the Division of Instruction, who have given the project a great deal of attention.

Both stressed the fact that the cost of the project was 100 percent reimbursable, thus involving no actual expenditure on the part of the city.

The help, they explained, would be accorded the children in the Emerson and Lincoln-Eliot school districts who are in need of it.

The money applied for would be used as follows: addition of two first-grade teachers at Lincoln-Eliot, $8,000; salaries for eight reading teachers, $28,000; salary of a librarian, $4,000; a psychologist to each of two schools, Emerson and Lincoln-Eliot, $8,000; a speech teacher who would devote half time to each of the two schools, $4,000.

A social worker at $4,000; a half-time coordinator at $3,000; a one-fourth-time researcher at $1,000; extra custodial service, $500; supplies, $200 and equipment, $1500.

Both Dr. Everett and Dr. Welch explained that they had purposely limited the extent of the city's

Mayor Urges Big Turnout For Hearing

Mayor Monte G. Basbas yesterday urged as many Newton residents as possible to appear at a public hearing in the Gardner Auditorium at the State House at 9:30 next Monday morning (Jan. 17) in opposition to a petition by the New Haven Railroad to abandon its inter-state passenger service.

Basbas declared that the only way Newton residents can make an impression upon the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who will conduct the hearing, is to turn out in large numbers to voice their objection to the application.

The Mayor, who asserted that he is working with the Chamber of Commerce to get as large a Newton turnout as possible, said he personally will attend the hearing to spearhead Newton's opposition.

Basbas said that a number of Newton residents now drive to the route 128 station in Westwood to board trains for New York.

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, also a Newton resident, has announced that his office will fight the railroad's petition.

Breaks Net Variety Of Local Loot

Police are investigating robberies which occurred in a number of Newton homes during the past week.

A full-length mink coat, a mink stole, jewelry and silverware were included in the loot carried out of the home of George Arafe at 1245 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre.

The burglars got into the dwelling by cutting a hole in the glass of the front door. They then ransacked the house.

Forty pieces of silverware were stolen Sunday from the home of Edward Coplan at 147 Brookline St., Oak Hill. The silverware, which had been in a laundry bag, was taken from the cellar stairs.

Thieves took $70 in cash, a mink scarf and jewelry from the home of Lester B. Radlo at 8 Nod Hill Rd., Newton Highlands.

Robbers took a money tray from the cash register and an undetermined amount of cigarettes in a break at the Newton Market, 558 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre. They entered the store by

Final Phase Of Fund Drive Opens Tonight

The second phase of a $3,500,000 drive to enlarge and renovate Newton - Wellesley Hospital will be launched formally tonight, Thursday evening, January 13th.

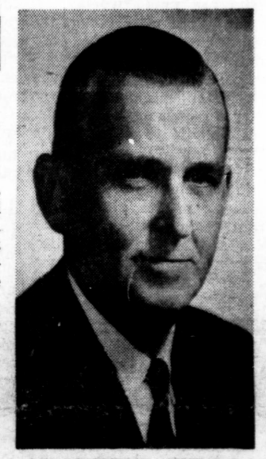

A 6:30 p.m. dinner at Braeburn Country Club will bring together doctors, hospital trustees, drive leaders and friends of the hospital.

General campaign chairman and hospital trustee, Bernard D. Grossman of West Newton, has appointed two men, to direct personal solicitations in Newton and in Wellesley.

They are Richard H. Lovell, Newton attorney, and Richard Wengren, Wellesley banker. Both were active in the first stage of the expansion program and are trustees of the 260-bed community hospital. Presently, they are enlisting teams of workers.

"Our task is to raise $700,000 more. The first phase of the drive produced outstanding results, and is a tribute to our local solicitors. One more good effort will conclude the program and will let the hospital

He will speak to more than 100 citizens who are expected to attend the 6:30 p.m. kickoff dinner, at Brae Burn Country Club.

Hanging in the balance is the success of the $3.5-million drive, and a contemplated $4-million expansion of the Hospital.

Challenge City On Local Delinquency

What is Newton willing to do about its own problem of suburban delinquency?

Dr. Max Schleifer, co-ordinator of the Newton Baker Project, challenged the community in a talk before the Newton PTA Council at its meeting Thursday, January 6, at the Division of Instruction, Mrs. Thomas Burnap presiding.

Financed by the Federal Government on a five-year grant from the National Institute of Mental Health the Newton - Baker Project has tried to determine whether comprehensive clinical services could make an impact on the problem of the suburban delinquent. The project is due to expire this June, while the need grows ever greater.

Newton-Baker worked with about forty boys aged nine to fourteen who had serious learning and discipline problems. They spent an average of ten hours a week at the Center which is staffed by psychiatrists, social workers, educators, and psychologists.

These boys, excluded and undesired elsewhere, came to the afternoon lounge program for pool, pingpong, or talk. Dr. Schleifer suggested that after June Newton could run a Lounge Program in several of its schools that would serve fifty or sixty of these socially isolated children, at very modest expense.

During the summer the Newton-Baker Project ran a Work-Study-Recreation program for about eighteen of the boys. Staffed only by school personnel it continued the general year around program.

Dr. Schleifer felt this was a valuable experience for

Letter From Vietnam For Mother Of 3

Abbe Beth Young, Mrs. Jerold Young, of 44 Brandeis Rd., Newton Centre, is an average American housewife and mother. No, on second thought Mrs. Young must be rated above average.

She is the mother of three children, ages 1, 3 and 5

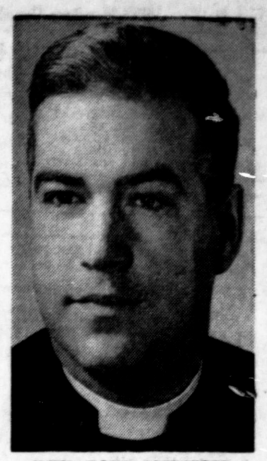

Mrs. Young is average in that the fighting in Vietnam is of more than passing interest to her. She may not be certain about its many facets, but American boys and men are under fire there, many are being wounded and killed. She feels that these Americans need our support, encouragement and prayers.

She is above average in that she took positive action. Mrs. Young wrote a letter to our troops in Vietnam, no one in particular, just any fighting American to whom it might be of some concern.

It was answered from Saigon by a soldier from Russellville, Arkansas, Lee Fields. A simple letter but deeply expressive of what must be the sentiments of all the young men engaged in a dirty, vicious unorthodox campaign in a far-off strange land amid strange people, both friends and foes.

The Graphic prints Mrs. Young's explanatory letter

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Present Legislative Image Is One Of Irresponsibility

A tremendous turnoer would occur in the State Legislature, with the Democratic party suffering staggering losses in both the House and the Senate if an election were held tomorrow.

That is the appraisal of a top Democratic leader who is regarded as one of the most astute students of politics in Massachusetts.

He declares bluntly that the image of the Legislature at the present time is one of irresponsibility.

His judgement is based on hundreds of letters he has received and on the reaction of hundreds of voters with whom he and members of his staff have talked.

That opinion is shared by numerous political analysts, some of whom believe the Republican party might even regain control of the Legislature if public opinion is the same next fall as it is today.

Newton Housewives Answer Boston Urban Renewal Aid Call

Six Newton-area housewives have answered the call for help with the problems of urban renewal in Boston, and each has received an "extra" family in the bargain.

Mrs. Arthur Barnes, Mrs. Thomas D. Hayden, Mrs. Edward Hickey, and Mrs. Loomis Patrick of West Newton, and Mrs. Lewis Gilbert and Mrs. William Campion of Newton Highlands, are helping the Boston Redevelopment Authority by assisting relocated families in Roxbury adjust to a new and strange environment.

Working with 14 other women both from the suburbs and the city itself, these Newton homemakers work intensively with the "forgotten families" recently relocated within the Washington Park area of Roxbury.

Seventy-five percent of these families consists of mothers and children without fathers, and all are economically deprived.

Mrs. Jane Day of Newton, a professional social worker and director of the program, reports that the volunteer case aides have established close ties with "their" families, and often establish closer rapport than professional workers. Families receiving help never had anyone take an interest in their problems, and one case aide, when asked recently if she was paid for her work, naturally answered, "No." The grateful reply was, "Then this means you really care about us."

The case aides do care, and while the minimum requirement for the volunteer work is two hours once a week, usually two or three visits are made weekly. If a family has a telephone, the case aide makes almost daily contact. As the family adjusts, of course, time spent with them decreases, yet even after a case aide is no longer "officially" responsible for "her" family, she periodically visits to see if any additional help is needed.

Duties of the aides range from taking children to clinics and helping with school registration, to finding surplus food and clothing and trying to arrange financial help. A major part of the aide's program is finding adequate housing that can be afforded, but the most important job is showing the family that someone does care.

The BRA refers the relocated families to the City Missionary Society, and at present, requests for help are more numerous than can be handled. However, the Society hopes to expand the Volunteer Case Aide Program as fast as manpower and funds permit. The response by volunteer case aides, living both in the suburbs and the areas affected, to the human problems of urban renewal is significant, and reinforces the efforts of the City Missionary Society to provide counselling, spiritual comfort, material aid, recreational and educational opportunities to the under privileged citizens of Boston.

The City Missionary Society, now in its 150th year, is working continually to supplement rather than duplicate the efforts of other social agencies, and through its extensive network of professional social workers and hundreds of volunteers, carries on a broad program of social services, summer camping and Christian education.

Ward 7 Query

Editor of The Graphic:

Now that the inauguration of the new city officials has become a thing of the past, and they are, I presume, down to business, when will the people in Ward 7 have their rightful representation on the floor of the Aldermanic Chamber?

It seems too bad that the action of an individual could tie things up so that one-eighth of the population of the city (10,000?) should be placed in a position where they do not have a representative to go to in time of stress to have their grievances, if any, presented to the city in the proper manner.

As things stand now it could be months before the court gets around to deciding who's who. Is there not some provision within the framework of the city government whereby a pro-tem alderman might take a seat and function for Ward 7? Or is this a situation which was never going to happen?

Either a thing is right—or it is wrong. In this instance I believe it is very wrong.

Political Highlights

The down-the-line Democratic leader doesn't go that far. But he does concede candidly that Democratic stock is lower in Massachusetts today than at any time in recent years.

The Democratic chieftain hastens to add, of course, that this is only January, that the election is more than nine months away, that there could be a change in public thinking and that things could get better for his party.

This Democratic leader is opposed to a sales tax. He personally favors an increase in the State income tax instead. But he says a majority of the people prefer a limited sales tax and that the Legislature made a mistake in not voting one.

He was shocked when he voiced his objection to a sales tax at home and had his wife tell him he was behind the times, that his thinking was out-dated and that she favored a sales tax.

The strong impression many people have, he asserts, is that the members of the Legislature just didn't face up to the problems they were expected to solve.

Many egislators, including some who voted against the limited sales tax last year, apparently realize that this is so.

There are increasing indications and mounting reports on Beacon Hill that Governor Volpe's seventh tax program will be approved.

But some legislators are planning an attempt to insert an amendment into the sales tax bill providing that the 3 per cent limited sales tax would not become effective until next Jan. 1.

They believe that this maneuvre would get them off the hook. They would be able to point to the fact that they voted for a responsible tax program, and if there were any adverse public reaction to the sales tax it would not come until after next November's election.

The reasoning behind this strategy is obvious.

Realistic political observers recognize that there inevitably is an unfavorable public reaction to any new tax when the people first feel the impact of the tax but don't see any benefits from it. That undoubtedly would be true to some extent in the case of a limited sales tax.

If a sales tax had been enacted last September or October, the people would have adjusted to it by next autumn's election, and by election time the benefits from it would be apparent.

But they might not be adjusted next fall to a sales tax which went into effect in June or July.

However, strong objection to the idea of placing a limited sales tax in operation next Jan. 1 is certain to come from city and town officials who have been crying out for tax revenue and who want some tax relief this year.

A sales tax placed on the books next July 1 obviously would raise only half as much revenue in 1966 as would a tax which had been in effect for a full year.

The obvious answer of the city and town officials will be that some assistance is better than no assistance at all and that if a limited sales tax is the solution to the financial problems confronting the local communities it should be put into effect as promptly as possible and not be delayed until next Jan. 1 for purposes of political expediency.

How this dispute eventually will be resolved is uncertain. You may be sure, however, that the average legislator will cast his vote in the manner he believes will most improve his prospects of achieving reelection next autumn.

Right now the shadow of the coming election is causing a feeling of uneasiness for many law-makers.

Brooke Rated Favorite, Collins Seen Underdog

Surveys made by a professional polling organization for top Republican leaders indicate that as of today Attourney General Edward W. Brooke would be a heavy favorite over Boston Mayor John F. Collins in a fight for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Leverett Saltonstall.

The poll returns would be enough to make the average public figure quake at the hought of matching vote-getting strength with Brooke.

However, the role of underdog is not a new one for Collins. At this stage in his mayoralty battle with former State Senate President John E. Powers the present Hub Mayor was given no chance whatever of gaining election. In fact, the only time Collins ever has been the favorite in a major political fight was when he was reelected Mayor in 1963.

While the poll drew a clear picture of Brooke as the favorite and Collins the underdog, it should be remembered that poll returns this far in advance of an election are usually not reliable.

The most dependable poll is the one made at the height of an election campaign after the voters have had an opportunity to see, hear and size up the opposing candidates.

Yet, there seems little question that Brooke at this time is extremely strong and that Collins is facing an uphill fight.

Peabody Scrambles Political Picture

Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody scrambled the political picture to some extent by his disclosure that he will seek another term in the Governorship.

This means that three candidates and possibly four will be battling it out for the Democratic nomination for Governor in next September's primary.

Peabody, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell all will run in the primary regardless of what happens at the Democratic State Convention next June.

State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue also will be in the primary race if he wins the convention endorsement.

Donahue will retire from the gubernatorial field and stand for reelection to the Senate if he loses at the convention.

Peabody's entrance into the gubernatorial fight probably will mean a long, drawn-out convention struggle.

Up to the time Peabody revealed his political intentions, the clash for the convention endorsement was between Donahue and McCormack, with O'Donnell having little convention backing and apparently planning his big bid in the primary.

Because of favors he did while Governor, Peabody will draw a substantial number of delegates into his camp.

Whether he will take the larger number away from Donahue or McCormack is uncertain.

A problem facing Peabody is that Donahue and McCormick have been out lining up prospective delegate support while it was assumed that Peabody was going to run for the U. S. Senate.

McCormack and Peabody were opponents in 1958 in a hard primary fight for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General which left bitter feeling in its wake.

So deep were the scars left by that battle that Peabody refused to endorse McCormack against Christian A. Herter, Jr., in the subsequent election.

Peabody, incidentally, ran in the 1958 primary after losing at the convention, and in 1960 he sought the Democratic nomination for Governor in the primary without even going to the convention.

The fact that he might lose at the June convention would not prevent him from carrying his drive on into the primary.

Everything now indicates that the primary struggle for the Democratic nomination for Governor will be another political blood-letting.

Congressman's Mail Against Viet Policy

Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., a strong supporter of the Johnson administration, discloses that public opinion as reflected in the mail he receives is strongly against our policy in Vietnam.

In an exceptionally frank and candid interview O'Neill told the writer that in a single month he received 508 letters voicing objection to the U. S. policy in Vietnam and only three supporting our policy there.

O'Neill attributes this at least partly to the fact that there has been no full debate and discussion of the war in Vietnam so that the people would have a through understanding of why our troops are there and what we're fighting for.

He asserts that the members of Congress have been brief on every phase of the war in Vietnam, that they've been briefed by the White House, the Pentagon and the State Department.

To avoid the creation of any impression that there is any split in the support of President Johnson's policies in Vietnam members of Congress have refrained from engaging in any full - dress debate on those policies, he points out.

O'Neill feels this may have been a mistake since one result of it has been that the people didn't realize that the big reason our soldiers are in Vietname is to maintain the freedom of the world.

"We either make our stand there or we make it in the Philippines," O'Neill observes on the basis of his own broad knowledge gained from one detailed briefing after another.

He also thinks that many people do not understand that our entire foreign program is designed to create an outer perimieter which would keep any war from the United States.

At the same time Congressman O'Neill strongly believes that our emissaries must sit down with top representatives of the Soviet Union to see if an end to the Vietnam war could be negotitated.

He sees no use in trying to negotiate with the Red Chinese.

O'Neill's opinion - - one that is based on much more information than is available to the average citizen . . . is that Soviet Russia would like to see the war in Vietnam halted but that Red China would like to see it kept going.

He anticipates an escalation of the war in Vietnam if no settlement can be negotiated.

Philip Perlmutter, Director of the A. J. Committee's New England Region, will speak on some of the problems and issues facing Jewish life in the United States today. A question and answer period will follow his talk, which will cover aspects of Jewish education, group values, shifting patterns of religious observances and several facets relating to preserving Jewish identity.

Co-Chairman of the Seminar Group, Dr. Norman Krinsky of Brookline and Dr. Robert L. Ehrmann of Waban, announce that registration will take place at this meeting for those who wish to continue further exploration of the general topic. No initial reading is required but assignments for meetings scheduled in February through May will be drawn from a paperback text, "The Characteristics of American Jews," by Joseph L. Blau, Nathan Glazer, Oscar and Mary F. Handlin, and Norman D. Stein.

Budget -

School officials said four major factors are responsible for the big budget hike. They are:

"1—In the 1965 budget, the School Committee made certain salary and other personnel obligations, effective September, 1965, which now must be budgeted for an entire year. This sum, which is known as an overlay and which represents a previous bugetary commitment, totals $635,705, and is the largest single factor in the increase.

"2—In order to continue a program of improvement in our instructional program and to increase the availability of certain specialized services such as guidance, library services and reading, an increase of $198,237 has been bugeted for new positions and program expansion.

"3—In order to maintain our competitive position in employing teachers as well as to strengthen the possibility of retaining our present staff, certain adjustments were made in the teachers' salary schedule.

These include a $250 across the board increase, an increase of $100 in the differential for those holding a Master's degree plus 30 hours of graduate study, and the introduction of a double increment and extended maximum plan which will allow us to recognize on an individual basis those teachers who are doing outstanding work.

"Adjustments were also made in the salary schedules for substitute teachers, secretaries and custodians. The total cost in this budget for new salary policies is $143,195.

"4—In order to allow for growth in our staff and for increases in the cost or pertinent materials and services, the non-salary budget was increased by $173,151."

..Consideration of the budget at the meeting was delayed pending the arrival of Mayor Basbas, who was detained at City Hall by a meeting on finance.

..On joining the meeting at school headquarters, the Mayor expressed concern over the plight of Newton taxpayers and hope that the committee members had given it serious consideration in arriving at "this, the highest budget increase you have ever had—one that comes at a time when our surplus is at a new low."

The Mayor urged the committee to keep the increase under $1,000,000. "Every time you employ a teacher," he said, "consider whether one is actually needed.

"I am deeply concerned over the prospect of an increase in the tax rate," Basbas concluded. "Please keep the future in mind and think of the poor taxpayer."

Also present as spectators were two members of the Board of Aldermen, George L. Hicks and Paul J. Burke.

Following the Mayor's remarks, several committee members replied to him. Said Edwin Hawkridge, "I feel we have held this down the way you have asked."

Harold J. Berman explained that the hiring of 45 new teachers was to reduce the teacher-pupil ratio.

"We are sensitive in regard to the fine line between school needs and the wishes of the public, "Mrs. Norma W. Mintz said.

Francis P. Frazier called attention to the fact that "In seven previous years our rate of increase has been greater than it was this year," and added, "We have considered the plight of the taxpayer."

Manuel Beckwith said that he had sat in on a total of 10 budget sessions during his time as a committee member, and this year "we have been much more dilligent in studying the requests than ever before."

Nashoba Valley Ski Area Opens For 1966 Season

Nashoba Valley, a new ski area to eastern Massachusetts opened its 1966 season last weekend and despite the stormy weather a large number of skiers were on the many slopes.

The new ski area is located in Westford, between routes 2A and 110 on Power road and less than 35 minutes driving time from this section of Greater Boston.

Nashoba Valley boasts the longest and steepest slopes in eastern Massachusetts in addition to good intermediate and beginners runs. The four slopes include 2 novice, 1 intermediate and 1 expert and 4 rope tows. A snack bar is available and a snow maker stands by for use at all times.

The ski school is conducted by Andy Hastings (USEASA certified) with a number of well qualified instructors ready to teach any phase of skiing from novice to expert, and offers private lessons and package plans in addition to the regular group lessons. Ski equipment can be rented or purchased at the Ski Rental Shop.

An added outdoor feature this year is the "Horseshoe" where one can sit on a log bench by the fire and watch fellow skiers master the sport.

Alan Fletcher, owner and operator, is endeavoring to retain the scenic beauty of the area, and reports that the possibilities are unlimited to make skiers feel more comfortable at Nashoba Valley with each coming ski season.

Prevention Of Rabies Advised By Heath Dept.

The Health Department of the City of Newton has issued a release on the prevention of rabies and has advised all local dog owners to take precautionary steps.

The release issued by Dr. Hale H. Cook, commissioner of health, is as follows:

"Rabies is one disease which, in man, is one hundred per cent fatal. So prevention is the only cure. Because Massachusetts has not had a case of rabies in dogs since 1949, many dogowners have been careless. However, in 1965, 3 cases have been reported in bat in Massachusetts, 2 in Connecticut and 1 each in New Hampshire and in Maine. And, for the first time in years, a rabid dog was found in Rhode Island last October.

"Wise Newtonians will thus plan to bring their dogs to see their private veterinarian to take advantage of our annual-anti-rabies dog vaccination clinics which will be held early in the spring. Watch for detailed announcements.

"They will also contact their alderman and ask that strict yearly dog license rules with anti-rabies immunization required for licensure be passed. After all, it is usually the neighbor's dog who bites!"

Tim Miller Gives Our Lady's A One-Point Win

Tim Miller, son of Jim Miller, Boston College football coach, played a fantastic game of basketball last Sunday afternoon, when his Our Lady's High School team defeated Xavier by one point in a Catholic Suburban League contest played in Our Lady's gym.

It was Tim Miller, who fired the game's final shot, which left his hand only a fraction of a second before the buzzer brought the game to a close. With that shot a definite counter, Our Lady emerged victor by 78 to 77, much to the vociferous delight of the partisan of Our Lady's crowd.

Thanks to Tim's shot, Our Lady's beat Xavier for the second time this season. Those two games were Xavier's only losses thus far in the season.

During the game, Miller had twice helped his team attain a slight edge.

Said Tim Hurley, Our Lady's coach, in the dressing room, "I hope there won't be any more like this one. I just couldn't take them. Never mind how he made the shot. I don't even know how he happened to be standing at that section of the court in the first place."

(Miller made the game-winning shop by capturing a loose ball in Xavier's end of the court.)

The Biennial Convention of the New England Region, American Jewish Congress, will be held next Sunday, January 16, at the Hotel Statler-Hilton, beginning at 10:00 a.m. and continuing through a luncheon and an open-end discussion in the afternoon.

The subject of the 1966 Convention is "The Relevancy of Being Jewish", and the open-end discussion following the luncheon meeting will feature Dr. B. Zvi Sobel, professor of sociology at Brandeis University.

Prior to joining the Brandeis faculty, Prof. Sobel was program director for the New York regional office of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith and was an instructor at Miami University in Ohio. He was a member of the American Sociological Association and is currently a member of the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officers.

Other members of the panel will be Dr. Judah Shapiro, executive director of the National Foundation for Jewish Culture, who will also speak at the luncheon meeting, and Dr. Rashi Fein, economist, of the Brookings Institution, Washington, D. C. Moderator of the panel will be Dr. Leonard J. Fein, professor of political science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (M.I.T.). Judge Alvin C. Tamkin of South Brookline is chairman of the nominating committee.

Ephraim Weiss of Lexington is chairman of resolutions committee. Marvin N. Geller of Needham is president of the New England Region. Mrs Edward Silverman of Hull and Mrs. Robert Berns of Newton Centre are presidents, respectively, of the Metropolitan and Suburban Regions of the New England Women's Division.

The convention will open at 9:30 a.m. with registration of delegates; sessions will begin at 10:00, and the morning meetings will be devoted to the business of the convention, including adoption of resolutions, election of officers, and an address by Howard Squadron, a national vice-president of the American Jewish Congress. All sessions are open to the public.

readily expand, to cope with service loads that are increasing an average of 10 per cent annually," General Chairman Grossman said.

The first phase of the drive began late in February and ended in June.

A total of $2,800,000 was given and pledged, by more than 7,000 residents and businesses. According to a prior agreement, the drive was broken into two parts, to prevent a conflict with the United Fund's annual preparation and solicitation.

The $3,500,000 campaign for the teaching hospital, an affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine, seeks to finance a new wing and extensive interior improvements.

Among new and remodeled departments the drive will provide are an operating suite, to replace operating rooms opened in 1928; a bigger intense care and post-operative recovery suite, with heart monitor equipment and stations; larger quarters for burgeoning x-ray, laboratory and physical therapy departments; a long stay division for patients requiring extended hospitalization; re-organized maternity and children's departments; out patient and preventive medicine clinics; mental health facilities; plus additional beds for medical-surgical patients.

Currently, occupancy of medical - surgical beds at the hospital hovers at an all-time high. Occupancy in excess of 99 per cent was recorded during November for those beds.

The drive reflects a pattern established two decades ago, when the previous expansion program added the north wing to the hospital. That campaign was organized beginning in 1945. A second phase went into the planning stages in 1947.

A prominent national hospital official is expected to be present and to address the volunteer workers at the kick-off meeting.

Many Books On Automation At Free Library

Newton Free Library has issued a selected list of books on "Automation," and is exhibiting the books at the main library.

The role of automation in today's world is increasing at a tremendous tempo. In industry, business, government, transportation, schools and libraries, as well as hospitals and homes, some aspects of automation have been employed in varying degrees. As time goes on it will increase.

Just what is automation? And how does it affect our culture? Many books have been written which help to define it, and studies have been made to determine the effects on our lives. Among them are the following titles—all of which may be borrowed from the Newton Free Library:

Automation — what is it, how it works, how it can be used, by Carl Dreher.

The New Improved American by Bernard Ashbell.

The Automation Age, by P. Arnold and P. White.

Automation—implications of the future, by Morris Philipson.

The Shape of Automation for Men and Management, by Herbert Simon.

Copies of the booklist may be obtained at the main library and all branches.

Mass. Society For University Education Of Women To Meet

A highlight of the 89th annual meeting of the Massachusetts Society for the University Education of Women to be held at the George Sherman Union of Boston University on Saturday, Jan. 22, at 1:30 will be a talk entitled "The Past Is Prologue" to be given by Miss Ruth L. Bean of Wellesley.

Miss Bean has been executive director of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston since February, 1964. Prior to that she was an administrative officer in the field of higher education serving successively at M.I.T. and at Brandeis University. She holds degrees from Simmons College and Northeastern University.

Mrs. James R. Hobson, president of the Society, will call for committee reports including that of the Nominating Committee, which is headed by Mrs. Raymon Eldridge of Newton Highlands. Particular interest is centered in the report of Mrs. Cecil R. Fraser, chairman of the Beneficiary Committee, which is charged with the major work of the Society — that of interviewing and screening candidates for scholarship and loan aid.

The principal function of M.S.U.E.W. is the awarding of scholarships and loans to young women seeking a college education whose motivations for education are high but whose resources are limited. During 1965 some seventy students receive assistance. M.S.U.E.W. was organized in 1876 at Boston University, and the first president of the Society was Dr. William F. Warren, then president of the University. Since that time, all presidents of the Society have been women. The nature of its purpose was such that it soon broadened its horizons to include students in other institutions of learning and acquired the present name of Massachusetts Society for the University Education of Women.

Michael D. Myerow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Myerow, 142 Morton St., Newton Centre, has been named to the honor roll at Tilton School, N. H. A senior, the honor is in recognition of his high scholastic achievement during the school year's first term.

The organization is actively engaged at the present time in discussing long range plans for the annual luncheon, and only fund raising event, which will be held on May 4, 1966, at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel.

Proceeds of the May event, as with all such fund raising of the organization, will be used to award scholarships to worthy Greater Boston girls attending colleges in this area.

A previous meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Yanofsky in Newton. Mrs. Jack Smookler, association president, discussed the May event at the meeting, which was attended by Mrs. A. L. Laskey, also of Newton, one of the founders of the Women's Scholarship Association and its most devoted member.

Residents Seen As CP Fighters

In announcing the opening of United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston's annual campaign for funds, Herbert L. Connolly, president of the association, said that recruitment of volunteers to fill various posts has been completed and, relative to the Newton effort, he said, "I am confident that the men and women of the Garden City will again respond generously when called on for help."

"Happiness is Helping" is the theme of this year's campaign, which gets underway Sunday, Jan. 9.

They explained, in reply to a question, that the help to educationally deprived youngsters would be available, also, to pupils of parochial and private schools who needed it. The money involved, they said, would fund the project from Feb. 1 to next June.

Perhaps the delinquency problems of some of these boys will be met by an expanded program at the Community Center or at the new Mental Health Clinic. But after June what? is a real question to be faced squarely by all interested Newton citizens.

High School Singers Seek Chorus Posts

Each year the State of Massachusetts holds two concerts for high school students; the first organized on a district basis.

Newton students have auditioned for the Northeast District which consists of Essex and Middlesex counties. Sixteen applicants were sent to Bedford to audition from Newton High School, and eight have been accepted, including seven seniors and one sophomore.

There will be two major rehearsals for the concert, to be held on Jan. 14 from 7-9:30, and Friday, Jan. 28, all afternoon and evening. The final weekend, there will be a rehearsal on Saturday, Jan. 29, from 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. The concert will be held in Waltham, Saturday, Jan. 29, at 8 p.m.

The second concert will be on a state level. An all-state chorus is selected from members of the district choruses. The eight participating in the district concert have been busy over the past few weeks preparing the difficult music, under the assistance of Geraldine Seaver, director of choruses at Newton High School.

Auditions for the Massachusetts All-State Chorus are to be held this year on January 22 at Stoneham High School, Stoneham.

Five students from Newton High School have been selected by the district judges to audition for the chorus.

They are Jonna Amicangioli, alto; Jeffrey Elson, Cliff Orent, tenors, and Marc Miles and David Maslan, Bassos. These students are all in either A Capella Choir or the Madrigal Singers of Newton High School.

The concert is to be held early in the spring.

Electronics Guild Lauds Localite For Leadership

Gilbert P. Clark, of Newton, currently serving as treasurer of the Electronic Technicians Guild of Massachusetts, has been cited for his outstanding leadership at a recent meeting of the presidents of the twenty-three chapters that make up the state organization.

The citation was read by State Guild President A. Arthur DiLoreto. He pointed out that Clark's leadership was one of the factors responsible for the increased public respect for Guild members.

President DiLoreto also stated that the Newton man was responsible for the impetus that the Guild has received in the direction of establishing its members as acknowledge professionals who rigidly subscribe to a Code of Ethics, and make professional improvement an important factor in their operation.

In the citation presented to him it was stated that Gilbert P. Clark has been responsible for the fiscal operation of the Electronic Technicians Guild of Massachusetts for more than two years and, in addition to his financial leadership, has been active in developing the state organization into a highly respected trade association of professionals, licensed radio-television repairmen.

Letter -

to the newspaper and the answer she received from Vietnam, as follows:

Editor of The Graphic:

I am not a letter-writer, nor am I a crusader; I am a mother of three children ages 1, 3, and 5 years. Like so many others content in my home I follow the news carefully tho' a little impersonally, but a series of incidents impelled me to act out of character.

I was disturbed by the full-page personal ads appearing in the Newton Graphic demanding U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam regardless of consequences. The supposed "peace marches" and draft-card burning disgusted me. We all want peace, but not at the price of freedom. I was appalled by reports of Viet-Cong glassy-eyed by heroin charging U.S. boys like mad animals and of the atrocities committed daily against our men by Vietcong WOMEN and CHILDREN. My heart ached for those facing endless pain and death while a very small misinformed, or perhaps, radical minority created anti-American headlines for the U.S. soldiers to see. Only history can tell if any war is right or necessary, but we have elected our leaders and we MUST support their decisions. Our boys are not dying in vain. They are whole-heartedly backed by the citizens of the United States and all free nations.

My impatience and anger at my own silence prompted a letter of encouragement, respect, and deep gratitude addressed to the "soldiers in Vietnam who are giving their lives so that my children may live and learn democracy and freedom." (I cannot remember my exact words.)

Less than a week later I received this letter from a boy I do not know, nor will I probably ever meet. I hope you will print it so that others will be made aware of the immediacy of the war and the reality of the fine healthy minds and bodies fighting OUR war so that we may continue to be free.

Perhaps others more voluble and more persuasive that I will write, speak out, or at least take a firm stand and support our men and our country's policy in Vietnam or in any other troubled spot on the globe where OUR freedom is threatened.

Sincerely,
Abbe Beth Young
(Mrs. Jerold Young)

This is a copy of the letter Mrs. Young received from Lee Fields, Sp.6 Lee Fields, RA 25434267 Hqs USMACV, (Comptroller); APO San Francisco 96243

Saigon, Vietnam
December 26, 1965

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Young and Family:

I am an American soldier in Vietnam. Yesterday, through the USO, I received with deepest appreciation your letter Mrs. Young, whereas you expressed feelings of gratitude towards us defending the United States; preserving Democracy, and living your "lives."

Although your letter was viewed by many, and I have no means of knowing if anyone could take the time to write, please permit me to offer my sincere and warmest "thanks" from every soldier in Vietnam.

You said that you have been told that this is the "dirtiest war" of all, please let me assure you, as long as we have people like yourselves backing us, then we will gladly be thankful to you. We will not hesitate to take any measures whatsoever, so you all may live in the society you choose.

May God's richest blessing be bestowed upon you. I take this liberty to express my own personal satisfaction towards the most wonderful people in the world; those who believe in the Democratic way of life. Thanking you, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Lee Fields,

N-W. Hospital Names Dr. O'Dea Pathology Head

Dr. Arthur E. O'Dea of Milton has been named Chief Pathologist and Director of the Laboratories of Pathology at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

He replaces Dr. David Skinner of West Newton who, after 20 years with the community hospital, resigned recently to accept a position with a Boston hospital. There he will focus upon Bacteriology, a field of special interest.

Dr. O'Dea attended the University of Notre Dame and earned his medical degree at the University of Buffalo. He completed residencies in pathology at hospitals affiliated with the University of Rochester Medical School and Harvard Medical School.

In 1958, he came to Newton-Wellesley Hospital as Associate Pathologist, after having served for five years as chief medical examiner for the State of Rhode Island, and as Consulting Pathologist at the Rhode Island Hospital.

As Director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Laboratories, he will supervise a burgeoning department. During 1965, it conducted nearly 238,000 tests, a record number and an increase of nearly 10 percent over totals for the previous year.

The laboratories, opened at their present location in 1950, also figure prominently in the hospital's $3,500,000 expansion fund drive. During 15 years, their workload has quadrupled. New and larger quarters are being planned.

Dr. O'Dea is married to the former Helen L. Kingsley of Milton. They have five children.

The meeting will be held in the Van Trees' home on Wednesday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. All interested people are cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Cibley, who has offices in Boston and Waltham, is Senior Obstetrician and Gynecologist at Newton-Wellesley and Waltham hospitals, Associate in Obstetrics at Beth Israel Hospital, Assistant Visiting Obsterician and Gynecologist at University Hospital, and Clinical Assistant in Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Boston University School of Medicine.

The Boston Association for Childbirth Education is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization whose purpose is to help make pregnancy, delivery, and parenthood more informed and satisfying family experiences.

It does this through public meetings, pre-natal classes, film and book rental libraries, and its Nursing Mothers' Council.

vancing grass-roots education and discussion on matters of war and peace.

Commenting on the Center's decision to sponsor a public meeting on Vietnam, Attorney Leonard Salter, chairman of the group, stated:

"Perhaps no war in American history has proved more divisive and confusing than the current conflict in Vietnam. Perhaps no war has evoked and demanded more informed citizen debate."

According to Salter, partisan politics have provided no clear-cut answers for the citizen concerned about our dense involvement in Southeast Asia.

"Criticism or support of the war crosses party lines, and citizens are bombarded with appeals to back 'Escalation' one hand, or 'Withdrawal' on the other.

"The Peace Center," Salter continued, "believes many Newtonians are honestly in search of more facts about the course of the Vietnam conflict. The January 25 debate will provide people committed to a position and those in search of a position on Vietnam with information and an opportunity for legitimate exchange of opinion."

Dorothy L. Case, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Y. Case, Newton Centre, was a soloist in a recent afternoon recital at the State University College of Potsdam, N.Y. A pianist and junior in the college's Crane Music Department, she performed "Pictures at an Exhibition," by Mussorgsky.

International Cast Will Feature Judo Club Event

An international cast of experts headed by world famed Nobuyoshy Tamura, 6th degree black belt in Aikido, will present an unusual demonstration of the Oriental Martial Arts at the field house on Tyler Terrace, Newton Centre Playground, home of the Bay State Judo Club.

The general public, particularly those interested in Judo, Karate or Aikido, are invited to this admission free event scheduled for 8:00 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, January 14.

Mr. Tamura, assisted by his wife (also a black belt), will demonstrate the finer points of Aikido that won such acclaim on their recent European tour. Mr. Tamura studied under the great Uyeshiba of Japan, founder of Aikido.

The Karate demonstration will feature Korean Champion Dong Pil Kim, third degree black belt in Karate. Mr. Kim studies music in Boston and teaches Karate at the host club.

health experience includes appointments as consultant and teacher, and cover a span of more than 25 years. He has served as editor of Public Health Dentistry and has published several studies on family dental care.

Laurie Asherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Asherman, 69 Winston Rd., Newton Centre, a student of drama and music theater in her freshman year, will play the role of Laurey in scenes from "Oklahoma."

Local Girl Enters Trinity, Skips Country Day School

Miss Eleanor Cavanaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cavanaugh, 43 Parker St., Newton Centre, met with a surprise on her return last summer from France, where she had lived five weeks with a French family and then toured the country with a group of American students.

She had left home after finishing her junior year at Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, but on getting back to her native land she discovered that she wasn't to enter the senior class at Country Day, because she had been accepted as an early admissions student at Trinity College, Washington, D.C.

That meant she had to repack and depart for the District, and there she is today—a college freshman.

Ellie had taken College Boards in her junior year at Sacred Heart, and had the scores sent to Trinity. She had already left for France when Trinity's admissions officer wrote to her about early admissions. Ellie, of course, was not at home; but her mother decided that this opportunity should not slip by, and off she went to D.C. Ellie's application was accepted. She was pleased that the headaches and problems of the high school student applying to college were bypassed.

Trinity is an old story in the Cavanaugh family, as the three daughters are now Trinity girls. Tara, now Mrs. Edward J. Lynch, was graduated in 1959, and Gael is a Trinity junior.

Says Ellie, "I love it. The work is harder than it was in high school, but the way I look at it, it would have been just as hard for me next year."

In addition to her regular courses at Trinity, Ellie participates in the activities of the French Club and works at the Christ Child settlement house in the District.

She wants to major in French or English, and then go into teaching, on either the high school or college level.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

BY EILEEN BORIS

Though the second term is ending in a blaze of final exams, numerous activities flow from Newton South.

Over 400 S.U.P.P.E.R. agents relished every bit of a catered chicken buffet at last month's senior supper. A combination of slapstick comedy, sensitive modern dance and subtle satire, the skits reflected teenage experiences ranging from a guidance counselor appointment to a discotheque. Steve Weisman as agent Napoleon Brandy and Freddie Leibman as Illya What's Crack'in stole the show. Ronni Bloom and Audrey Jacobs directed the cast's all-out effort.

The faculty, also, performed at senior supper. Spoofing the marvelous reputation of the Newton schools as illustrated in national magazines, their acts showed a feigned discrepancy between what seems to be prevalent and what really is.

Our senior class joined with Newton High's in presenting Little Anthony and the Imperials. These nationally known singing stars entertained on the first night of Christmas vacation, December 23.

Another top recording group will delight South students, January 21. Simon and Garfunkel (of "Sounds of Silence" fame) will be featured at Cutler House Music Night. French teacher John Berwold's Dixieland band and the Cobras round out the evening's entertainment schedule. Co-chairman of this activity are Ken Geffen and Nancy Lerman.

And seniors are reminded that today is the deadline for ordering a copy of "Regulus." There will be very few extra yearbooks printed to purchase in the spring.

Yet, the senior is not the only busy member of student government. During lunch periods, one can feel the persuasiveness of junior class salesmen. By selling orange and blue license plates bearing the words "Newton South Lions", they hope to increase both school spirit and class treasury. The plaques can be attached to the bottom of a regular license plate.

Likewise, next year's cheerleading squad has just been chosen. Although formal practice does not start until March, at least one co-captain will attend all home basketball games and practices of the present squad.

Our new bouncing rooters are: Irene Applebaum, Bonnie Belson, Linda Bickelman, Paula Festinger, Dorey Finn, Sandy Gale, Leslie Fichmond (co-captain), Alice Shor Carol Steinsieck (co-captain), and Amy Espar (alternate).

ficials hope to obtain $500,000 more in Federal funds, so minimum expansion needs of the Hospital can be resolved.

"This is the critical segment of the program," said Campaign General Chairman, Bernard D. Grossman of West Newton. "Everything hinges on what is done within the next 45 days, the period during which we hope the second phase can be completed."

Guests at the kickoff dinner will organize into squads, and will launch a limited special gits solicitation among townspeople.

Richard H. Lovell, Newton attorney, will direct the selected prospect canvass in Newton. Richard Wengren, Wellesley banker, will direct a similar effort in Wellesley and adjacent towns. Both are Trustees of the 260-bed hospital.

Dr. Bonnet, featured speaker, is the former administrator of Boston's University Hospital. In September, he was elected President of the American Hospital Association, the organization that functions in behalf of the nation's 7,000 hospitals. Its headquarters are in Chicago.

Also scheduled to make brief remarks at the kickoff dinner are Jarvis Farley of Wellesley, recently elected president of the hospital, and William S. Brines of Wellesley, hospital director.

Mr. Farley will note the community has benefited from the thoughtful planning and generosity of previous generations, who provided an outstanding hospital. Now, he will note, it is the present generation's turn to pass along a similar hospital to families and children who will follow.

Director Brines will touch upon the reasons for expansion, citing the skyrocketing occupancy of medical-surgical beds at the Hospital. Presently, occupancy of those beds hovers at 99 percent of capacity.

He will note, too, the extreme pressure placed on diagnostic and treatment departments. The Hospital has experienced increases in service that average eight percent a year, over the past decade, he will indicate.

Also on tap is an industrial solicitation, beginning on Monday, January 17. Approaches will be made to area businesses that use the Hospital and who were not seen during the first solicitation.

Leading that group is Giles D. Mosher, Jr. of West Newton, a hospital trustee and a Waltham banker.

Newton's Lincoln Day Dinner Is Area Event

Republicans from Newton, Brookline, Dedham, Needham, Wellesley, and Weston are actively carrying forward plans for the annual Lincoln Day dinner to be held Thursday evening, February 17, at the Sidney Hill Country Club in Newton.

The annual get-together of Republicans in Newton started by the local GOP in 1960 has been continued every year since then and has won recognition as a major political event in the state.

This year's dinner receives very considerable impetus because of the broadened sponsorship and greatly increased support.

Enthusiasm for the dinner this February is heightened by the fact that the special guest of honor will be Senator Leverett Saltonstall. The Senator had accepted the invitation weeks before his announcement that he will not again seek reelection.

His appearance in Newton where he started his distinguished career is certain to be charged with emotion and political over-tones. Advance reports on ticket sales indicate that this year's dinner will be the most successful on record.

Attending the dinner to honor Senator Saltonstall will be top State officials, including Governor John A. Volpe, Lt. Governor Elliot L. Richardson and Attorney General Edward W. Brooke who have already indicated they will be on hand.

Sponsoring Newton organizations are: The Newton Republican City Committee, Edward C. Uehlein, chairman; Newton Republican Club, William R. Haney, president; Newton Women's Republican Club, Mrs. Robert Tennant, president, and Newton Young Republicans, Melvin B. Clayton, president.

Representing co-sponsoring GOP groups of neighboring communities are the following:

From Brookline: Mrs. Estelle Goldman, coordinator; Mrs. Louis Katz, Mrs. Charles Nayor, Mrs. George Stephenson, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph Silvano; from Dedham: Gilbert W. Cox, Jr., Paul D. Maggioni and Harcourt Wood; from Needham: Mrs. Ann D. Harper and Mrs. John N. Hill II.

From Wellesley: State Committeewoman Mrs. Robert Amesbury, and Mrs. John W. Baldwin; from Weston: Rep. Edward M. Dickson.

An early advance partial listing of patrons who are sponsoring tables at the dinner now includes: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Amesbury, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell.

Alan W. Licarie heads the annual awards committee which cites two local Republican workers each year for special recognition. David A. Lurensky is chairman of the public relations committee. Mrs. Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., is chairman of the committee on art and design.

Many others serve on various committees. these being: Leonard Alford, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Alan S. Barkin, Mrs. Edward C. Becherer, Mrs. Daniel Carmen, Melvin J. Dangel, Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, Louis I. Egelson, Jr., Robert Freeto.

Also, Hon. Ralph Garrett, Thomas Gerlack, Marshall D. Glen, Mrs. William P. Giles, William R. Haney, William R. Horner, Mrs. Everett M. Kiefer, Mrs. Albert M. Kreider, D. Stuart Laughlin, Robert F. Lovett.

And, Mrs. Maynard Slessinger, Carleton P. Merrill, Hon. Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Jack Roberts, Benjamin F. Shattuck, Mrs. Herman Smerling, Robert Tennant, Mrs. Edward Wabennecht, Joseph Walsh, and Henry J. Wilson.

"Never Too Late" Set For 3-Day Auburndale Showing

Preparations for "Never Too Late," the winter show to be staged at the Auburndale Club on January 27, 28 and 29th are proceeding on schedule, according to Russ MacClure, drama chairman.

Set Designer Leigh Woodward has turned his plans over to Stage Manager Sam Cooper, who is supervising the construction work of Dick Holmes, Roy Faulkner, Vic Jordan, Jim Timoney and Walter Stone.

While set construction is underway Pat Woodward is hunting down furniture and decorations with which to fill the set once it is complete. She is also designing posters to announce the production to Auburndale residents and working on the play's program book. Lining up advertising for the program is Helen Betten.

Meanwhile, Line Director Betty Schuft and Cast Managers Janet Holmes and Carrol Felopulos are assisting the cast in rehearsal while Barbara Floyd and Betty Head search out costumes for the production. Hand "props" to be used in the show are being rounded up by Janet Lapman, Shirley Fitzgerald and Ethel Waugh.

Lighting and sound plans are being formulated by Record Rogers and Walter Stone, respectively, while Marnie MacClure and Frank O'Donnell are working on publicity.

Services Manager Donna O'Connell has enlisted Tink Rogers and Peggy Bailey to handle make-up for the show.

While all these backstage preparations are going on, director Chuck Ganss, assisted by Sue Malloy, is rehearsing his cast three times a week and ticket reservations are being taken by Alice and Ron Morrison HI4-7697.

Scientists Have "Life" As One Of Key Terms

"Life," one of the key terms through which Christian Scientists seek a deeper understanding of the nature of God, is the subject of this week's Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches. Other key synonyms for God to be taken up in succeeding weeks are: Truth, Love, Spirit, Soul, Mind.

"Ignorance of God is no longer the stepping-stone to faith," states the denomination's textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "The only guarantee of obedience is a right apprehension of Him whom to know aright is Life eternal."

The Golden Text is from I John and reads: "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

Boston Trio Concerts To Be Held At Music School

An evening of chamber music is in store when The Boston Trio will perform the Trio in G major by Haydn, The Trio in B flat major, Opus 97 (Archduke) by Beethoven, and the Trio in C minor, Opus 101, by Brahms, in the first of two concerts to be presented by the Parent's Association of the All Newton Music School on Sunday evening, January 16 at 8 p.m.

A second concert featuring The Pro Arte Woodwind Quintet, is scheduled for Sunday, February 13. Both concerts are open to the public and will utilize the excellent acoustics of the All Newton Music School concert hall in the new facilities at 321 Chestnut street, West Newton.

The Boston Trio, consisting of violinist Roger Shermont, cellist John Sant Ambrogio, and pianist Phyllis Moss, were featured players at the gala benefit opening of the new Music School building early last Spring. Subsequently, they performed at the Southern Vermont Art Center Music Pavillion where they received rave reviews. Most recently the trio gave a memorable performance with the New Bedford Symphony Orchestra which was described as the best played and most enjoyable in the eight year history of the Orchestra's subscription series.

Roger Shermont and John Sant Ambrogio are both members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Shermont is a graduate of the Paris Conservatory and has concertized extensively in Europe. He has been soloist with the Boston Symphony and a member of the Orchestra since 1950. Mr. Sant Ambrogio has been soloist with the Little Orchestra Society and the Boston Pops. He was a recipient of the Piatigorsky Prize at Tanglewood and joined the Boston Symphony Orchestra in 1959.

Miss Moss, at 11 years of age, became a scholarship student of Mme. Isabelle Vengerova at the Curtis Institute of Music. She has been soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Boston Pops and the WQXR orchestra and is presently a member of the All Newton Music School faculty.

The All Newton Music School, under the direction of Mrs. Anne Gombosi, is a non-profit member of the National Guild of Community Music Schools and has a current enrollment of over 850 students.

These concerts of chamber music were planned as the first in a series of annual events by the Parent's Association of the All Newton Music School, Mrs. Ephraim Friedman, president.

Tickets are available from the chairman of the Chamber Music Committee, Mrs. Leston Havens, 304 Otis street, West Newton, LA 7-7108. Many Newton Residents Honored As Writers In Book Of Authors

Almost forty Newton residents and former residents are listed in Notable Boston Authors, Members of the Boston Authors Club, 1900-1966, published recently by Dresser, Chapman and Grimes, Inc., of Cambridge.

The author is a resident of this city, Mildred Buchanan Flagg, Litt. D., L.H.D. of 12 Hunnewell Circle, Newton. Mrs. Flagg is the president of the Authors Club. The book is dedicated to Marjorie Chalmers Carleton, famous mystery story writer and dramatist who lived on Highland Avenue, Newtonville until shortly before her death in June, 1964. The Foreword of the book is by Dr. Erwin D. Canham, a former resident of Waban, Editor in Chief of the Christian Science Monitor.

Arthur Walworth, Pulitzer-prize-winning biographer and educational publisher, lives on Homer Street in Newton Centre. He is the author of the two-volume biography of Woodrow Wilson and also of Black Ships Off Japan, Cape Breton and several other volumes.

Bill Cunningham, noted Boston Herald columnist, author, radio analyst and lecturer lived until his untimely death, in Newtonville. In addition to his book, The Pearl of Her Sex, a saga of complete masculine frustration in a household of women, he was the author of a Hollywood produced motion picture "Consolation Mary," in which Irene Dunn was the star. He wrote countless thousands of words for newspapers, magazines and radio.

Dorothy Speare, talented author and opera star grew up in Newton Centre, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Speare. She won national attention by her Dancers in the Dark, The Road to Needles, The Gay Year and The Girl Who Cast Out Fear. In addition to these and other books she wrote many short stories and made an operatic debut in Italy. She was widely acclaimed and became a successful concert singer in this country. She died in 1951 a mirror of the circle she knew.

Haydn S. Pearson, hard-working naturalist, authentic New England countryman, author of country cookbooks, editorial writer and columnist extra-ordinary, was the headmaster of the Bigelow Junior High School in Newton for a long period of years. The long-faced, six-foot Pearson is one of our country's most famous sectional writers. He is the author of several well-known books and his "Country Correspondence" column is widely read. Often he is called, "Mr. New England." Few writers are more beloved by his readers than he.

Dr. Leroy M. S. Miner, prominent oral surgeon and dental educator, Dean of the Harvard Dental School for twenty years and former President of the American Dental Association, lived with his family for many years on Walnut Street, Newtonville. He probably was the only man to hold two full professorships at two universities simultaneously. Dr. Miner was the Professor of Oral Surgery at Harvard and Professor of Stomatology at Boston University at the same time. He died April 19, 1964 after a brief illness.

Anne Sexton (Mrs. Alfred M. Sexton II) lives with her attractive family in Newton Lower Falls. She is Poet-in-residence at the experimental Charles Playhouse, under a Ford Foundation Grant. Recently she won a $6000 literary prize which she used in a journey to eight foreign countries, including Russia. She was the first Traveling Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Letters. She is the author of All My Pretty Ones and To Bedlam and Part Way Back.

Arthur T. Gregorian, lecturer, author and Authors Club patron, spends much of his time in Newton Lower Falls where his oriental rug business is located. He is praised for his book Oriental Rugs and the Stories They Tell, now in its third printing. On November eleventh he left on a flying trip for Turkey and Persia, where he has relatives and friends.

Ileana, Princess of Romania, a new sort of old world princess, heroine and patriot, founder of the Hospital of the Queen's Heart and writer, lived until recently on Hyde Avenue, Newton with her husband, Dr. Stefan Issarescu. She is the author of I Live Again, The Hospital of the Queen's Heart, and My Inner Faith.

Dr. Kirtley Fletcher Mather, one of the most distinguished figures in the world of science today, geologist, author, teacher, and lecturer, lived for many years on Homer Street in Newton Centre. Professor of Geology at Harvard for twenty-seven years he also taught a course in Harvard's General Education Program on the Impact of Science on Modern Life. Dr. Mather was the founder of the Boston Center for Adult Education, is an officer or trustee of many clubs and organizations, a former president of the National Council Y.M.C.A., of the American Academy of Arts and Science, Phi Beta Kappa Senator, and Fellow of the Geological Society of America. Currently the Mathers live in Cambridge when the Professor isn't on lecture trips or traveling around the world.

Sara Ware Bassett, beloved New England novelist, author of more than thirty novels of Cape Cod and former teacher, was born in Newton and for many years lived at 93 Eldridge Street there. She was a kindergarten teacher in the Newton schools. Today she lives in Boston where-by many she is called the "Queen of Cape Cod story writers." Thousands have learned to love the Cape of which she has written so convincingly.

Ralph Edgar Bailey of Sargent Park, Newton, retired not long ago after fifty years as a newspaper man to devote full time to writing books. All of his work now is for young people, the most recently published being Indian Fighter, the story of Nelson A. Miles. It is a fascinating biography of a great General but almost forgotten leader.

Russell Gordon Carter always said he was the "father of forty-six," forty-four books and two daughters. His books included fiction, juveniles, historical novels and a military history of the 101 St. Field Artillery A.E.F. He was awarded the Silver Star for "Gallantry in Action." For many years after his return from overseas, he was the Editor of "The Youth's Companion." His short stories appeared in a wide variety of magazines and he conducted classes in Creative Writing in the Adult Education Center in Boston. Mr. Carter lived at 14 Blackstone Terrace, Newton, until his death in 1957.

Sara Cone Bryant (Mrs. Theodore F. Borst) journalist, teacher and short story writer, as well as lecturer, lived for many years in Newton Centre. She was known also for the hundred-of records she made for the Victor Taling Machine Company.

Dr. Louis O. Skids And Falls Bring Grief To Many Victims

Newton's first substantial accumulation of snow brought grief to a great number of victims of the hazardous travel that resulted.

The fall measured only six inches here, but it was enough to make plenty of trouble.

Newton Hospital physicians sewed a man's finger back on. It was severed by contact with a snow blower on Saturday. The victim was Albert Beatrice, 56, of 143 Charlesbank road, Newton.

Among other storm victims who required hospital treatment were the following:

Mary A. Yearardi, 11, of 143 River street, West Newton, cut over the eye by a snow shovel.

Catherine Giordano, 54, 260 River street, West Newton, leg and head injuries from a fall in her yard.

Raymond W. Kent, 49 Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, cut face in a fall Sunday.

Mary L. Reidy, 10, 479 Walnut street, Newtonville, leg injured while coasting Sunday.

Frank Campagnone, 2. 59 Cummings road, Newton Centre, cut chin in a back yard fall Saturday.

Jeanne Negrotti, 1, 110 Dalby street, Newton, cut lip in fall.

There were five weekend skidding accidents that caused injuries to a dozen motorists in the city.

Four passengers in one of two cars that collided at Henshaw street and Henshaw place, West Newton, Sunday, were injured. The car was operated by Jane Robinson, 19 Seton Hill road, Auburndale. The injured were Nancy Osterberg, 13 Nonantum place, Newton, Diana Wires, 25 Groveland street, Auburndale, Teresa Green, 12 Dunston street, West Newton, and Ellen Dockton, 160 Randlett park, West Newton. The other car was being operated by an Illinois driver.

A Needham man, Seymour Zablasky of 75 Deerfield road, was listed as injured after his car was in collision with a city truck Saturday at Needham and Oak streets, Newton Upper Falls.

Three were treated at the hospital following a collision Saturday near 1894 Washington street, Auburndale. They were Thomas J. Frazier of 28 Somerset road, Waban, John F. Hynes of 1073 Washington street, West Newton, and Laura Hynes, 16, a passenger in the Hynes car.

There was one weekend accident for which the excessive snow could not be blamed. Ladder I responded Saturday to a call from 10 Owatonna street, Auburndale, to get a child out of a fireplace in which the youngster had managed to get stuck.

Two were hurt in falls Monday and were taken to Newton - Wellesley. Susan Hoffman, 17, of 27 Nordone road, Newton Centre, slipped on ice near South High School. Dorothy McLean, 65, of 51 Jefferson street, Newton, was treated for a possible fractured hip after a fall at her home.

Christmas Service Brought Holiday Joy To 420 Families

Newton's Christmas Service Project made possible a brighter holiday for 420 families in the city, as a result of the cooperation of more than 30 local organizations and individuals under the leadership of the Newton Community Council and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

Funds contributed this year, which totaled more than $4000, were received from many groups including, as major donors, the Horace Cousens Industrial Fund, Perpetual Benevolent Fund, and Salvation Army. Others contributing were member clubs of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, two houses at Newton High School—Bacon House and Riley House, the Mothers' Rest Club, churches, other organizations and individuals.

Families helped through this project are referred to the Community Council office by agencies, departments and schools. Most of these families receive checks from $5 to $25, depending on the size of the family and the seriousness of the situation. This money is intended to be used in whatever way the family wishes, but most often buys toys for the children or a little extra food, which otherwise would not be possible.

Among the departments and agencies who referred Newton families in need of help are the Public Welfare Department, Public Schools, Visiting Nurse Association, Rebecca Pomroy House, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Family Counseling Service, Newton Boys' Club, Newton Community Center, Salvation Army, Newton Lodge of Elks, St. Vincent de Paul, Kendrick Fund and Churches.

Since the 1930's the Christmas Service Project has been helping match Newton's families who need a little extra help with groups and individuals who are able and willing to help. Originally, Christmas baskets were distribtued to families, but this was later changed to checks so that the families could buy what they wanted most.

Officers of the Christmas Service Committee this year are Mrs. Victor D. Baer, chairman, representing the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and Constance S. Garbutt, treasurer, who is also executive director of the Newton Community Council.

Groups and individuals interested in knowing more about this project and how they might be able to assist in this work should contact the Newton Community Council, 950 Watertown St.,, West Newton.

George L. Sweetnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sweetnam, 1670 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, a Hobart College freshman, has won frosh soccer numerals as a member of the 1965 team. He prepared for college at Newton High School, where he was a member of the soccer team and photography editor of the year book.

$10,000 Jewelry Haul Tops Weekend Newton Burglaries

Jewelry valued at more than $10,000 as well as 22 guns were carried out of a Newtonville home Monday night in one of several weekend burglaries in the city.

Four persons also were held up in a Newton market Monday night and robbed of $240 at gunpoint. The three holdup men, two of whom were armed, made their getaway in a green sedan.

The valuable jewelry and guns were taken from the home of Arthur Schwartz at 57 Blake St., Newtonville, which the robbers entered by forcing the cellar and kitchen doors.

The loot carted away by the burglars included a $3500 ring, a $1000 wedding band, two bracelets, each worth $500, an $800 ring, a $700 bracelet, a $650 pin, a $500 ring, a $500 bracelet, a $750 ring, three watches, a set of earrings valued at $190, a $250 string of pearls, a $125 jewelry box, a $150 camera and $50 in cash.

Stolen from a den in the Schwartz home was a collection of 22 guns, including revolvers, pistols and automatics. An investigation of the robbery is being directed by Police Sergeant John J. Bartinelli.

The holdup Monday night occurred in the Victory Market on California St., Nonantum.

In the store when the three bandits entered were Frank LaPorta, 38, a clerk, Toni Pannaggio, 17, a girl cashier, and Carmelo Valente, 51, of Waltham, a customer. All three were ordered to lie down behind the counter at the rear of the market.

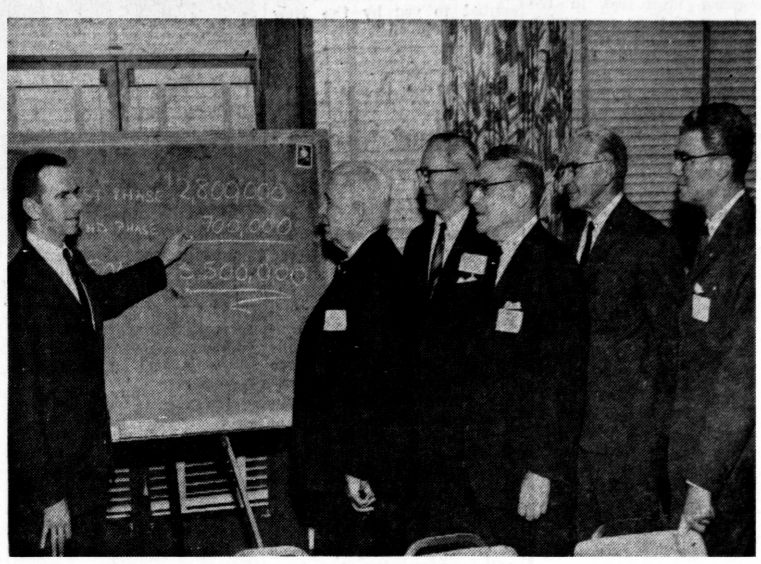

Oscar LaRosee, 42, of 246 California St., proprietor of the market, entered the store with his German shepherd dog during the holdup and was immediately forced to the floor.

One of the robbers took $35 from La Rosee's wallet, $35 from Valente's wallet and $170 from two cash registers. A holdup man poured a bottle of wine on the floor before taking the money. Another of the bandets put two bottles of beer in a bag but then left the bag on the counter when the three raced out to get into an automobile.

One of the bandits had a silver-plated revolver, and another had a black automatic. All three were described as being dark complexioned and having black hair. One was about 5 feet 6 inches tall and was wearing a black stocking hat.

LaPorta, the clerk, reported that two of the holdup men entered the market and

Vote By Aldermen Sets School Work

An immediate start will be made on preliminary work on the proposed new Bigelow Junior High School as a result of the action of the Board of Aldermen Monday night in appropriating $6000 and approving a $200,000 bond issue.

The funds will be used principally for the acquisition of property, which will be part of the location for the new school, and for site development.

Five houses near the present Bigelow Junior High are to be taken by the city.

The new $2 million school will be built next to the present school which will be used until the new structure is completed and ready for occupancy. The existing school eventually will be torn down.

A $40,000 appropriation was approved Monday night for a flood-control project at the Rumford avenue incinerator. Plans call for the extension of the 60-foot concrete pipe in order to carry the Brunnen brook beyond the causeway in Auburndale.

This was part of the overall plan calling for the draining of the Flowed Meadows in connection with the construction of the new incinerator, Alderman George L. Hicks, chairman of the Aldermanic public works committee, pointed out.

Other appropriations voted were as follows:

Requested by the Mayor, $235.09 in advance of the budget to the Executive Department as 15 days vacation pay due employees who left Jan. 7.

Health Department, $1368 in advance of the budget for salaries of reserve school physicians.

City treasurer, $809.50 to cover expense of a $900,000 bond issue sold Dec. 1, 1965.

Authorization for City Treasurer Archie R. Whitman to borrow up to $10,000 during the year in anticipation of taxes. An Appropriation of $320 to cover printing cost of the 1966-67 Government and Officers Book.

Approval was given to three petitions for lodging house licenses covering existing dormitories as follows: Andover Newton Theological School, one dormitory; Lasell Junior College, four dormitories, Fes-

Hospital Drive In Encouraging Start

The second phase of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital expansion drive was launched with enthusiasm last Thursday night as gifts and pledges totalling more than $150,000 were reported by campaign officials.

Tonight, Thursday, January 20, soliciting squads will meet at Brae Burn Country Club for a first report. A second report meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, January 26, in the hospital cafeteria.

The drive's second phase seeks $700,000, an amount necessary to meet the $3,500,000 goal. Additional pledges announced at the kick-off dinner represents 22 percent of the second phase goal. Total subscriptions to the once-in-a-generation program now stand at slightly more than $2,950,000.

"For the drive to be a success, every citizen must respond. The need for an enlarged hospital is great. I hope people will lend spontaneous help, just as they will turn to the hospital spontaneously, if they need its services," Campaign General Chairman Bernard D. Grossman told assembled volunteer workers.

Aldermen In 'About Face' Traffic Vote

Members of the Board of Aldermen reversed themselves at their meeting on Monday night and voted to rescind their action of Jan. 3 which continued one-way traffic restrictions on Cherry street in West Newton.

The motion to rescind the Jan. 3 vote was made by Alderman Melvin J. Dangel who previously had given notice of his intention to move for reconsideration of the earlier action.

Dangel at first offered a motion for reconsideration but then withdrew it when Alderman Harry H. Ham, Jr., suggested that a motion to rescind the Jan. 3 vote would be preferable.

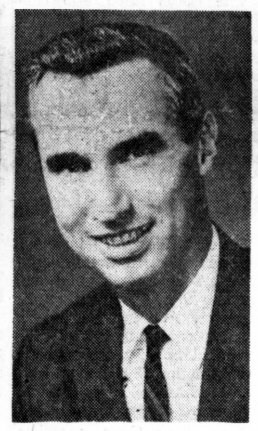

Alderman Dangel told his fellow Board members that since the Jan. 3 meeting he had talked with Police Captain James W. Corcoran, head of the traffic division, and residents of the area about the controversial danger spot at Webster and Cherry streets.

He said Corcoran favored the lifting of the one-way restriction in order to lessen traffic congestion on River St. during peak hours.

Residents of the section also desire two-way traffic on Webster street, Dangel reported. The matter now goes back to the Aldermanic Committee on Street Traffic.

Kevin H. White May Enter Race for Attorney General

A bitter feud is building up between Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell, two of the contenders for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Both have ties with members of the Kennedy family.

Reports that U.S. Senator Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy may run for Governor appear to have no foundation of fact.

Republican leaders have been quietly urging Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler to stand for election to state-wide office next fall if she doesn't run for Congress.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White is seriously weighing the possibility of stepping into the fight for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Recall Dial Phones In Newton

We've Been Dialing Here For 25 Years

Newton telephone customers can mark an anniversary on their calendar this year—the 25th year of dial telephone service. This represents a lot of digital twirling dexterity.

Newton customers first had telephone service around 1882, about six years after its invention.

Dial telephones were introduced in Newton in 1940, says Philip J. Corcoran, local New England Telephone Company manager.

Today, more than 42,000 Newton and Waltham customers are served from the central office on 787 Washington St., Newtonville, where the intricate dial equipment is located.

The three former central offices in West Newton, Newton Corner and Newton Centre were replaced by the Washington St. office.

In 1940 there were 60 operators to handle the calls. Today there are 260. In 1940 there were 24 switchboard positions, today—84.

There have been only two chief operators in the 25 years Miss Mary Connell of Somerville, retired, was first chief operator in the dial office.

The present one is Miss Olive Downing of Newton.

Wilmot Smith of Dover, now general traffic manager-Mass., was the first dial traffic manager in 1940.

Chamber Official Speaks In Favor Of RR Services

Justin T. Horan, executive vice-president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, appeared at the hearings held in Gardner Auditorium in Boston on Monday, January 17th, in support of a continuation of passenger service by the New Haven Railroad.

Mr. Horan delivered the following remarks at the hearing:

"The Newton Chamber of Commerce, a recognized Chamber of Commerce under the General Laws of the State of Massachusetts, represents 600 businessmen in the City of Newton. As businessmen interested in the economy of their community, our members have a substantial interest in the continuation of passenger service by the New Haven Railroad.

"The proposed abandonment of that service would render irreparable harm to our community.

"As an additional basis of our opposition to abandonment, we maintain that the proponent in this case has not segregated, sufficiently, that service which may incur great deficits from services which appear to be profitable.

"It is also common knowledge that one of the expressed conditions of a proposed merger between the New Haven Railroad and the Pennsylvania/New York Central Railroad is that the New Haven rid itself of all its passenger service. This is patently not in the public interest.

"For these and other reasons, we request your honorable body to deny the application for abandonment presented to you by the New Haven Railroad."

Postage stamps and related items such as autographs and photographs from the collection of Arthur F. Bell, formerly of Newton but now residing at 11 College road, Wellesley, are on exhibition this month at the Wellesley Free Library.

Presented by the exhibit committee of the Friends of the Library, items in the display range from two envelopes posted in the United States in 1868 to contemporary treasures such as first day covers honoring John Glenn's space flight, shown with photographs of Colonel and Mrs. Glenn.

Mr. Bell, who has been collecting such items for less than a decade, is also exhibiting stamped envelopes from The White House and the capitols of Greece, Peru, India and Nepal; stamps from New Zealand and Vatican City, with autographs of the respective stamp designers; and stamps from various British possessions, along with a letter from Her Majesty's Postmaster General.

Of special interest among the several stamps honoring American presidents are those of Lincoln, shown with autographs of a man who spoke with Lincoln and of another person who was a witness to the assassination. Boy Scouts, the Olympics, Labor Day and Alaska's statehood are among the other topics of stamps on exhibition.

More than 2,500 autographs are in Mr. Bell's collection, which focuses on items pertaining to people who are famous and to those "who are not famous in themselves but who happen to be around the famous in great moments of history." Lecturer and radio broadcaster as well as author of articles about his collection, Mr. Bell is a senior inspector in the control division of the First National Bank of Boston and is currently vice president of the Boston Bankers' Stamp Society.

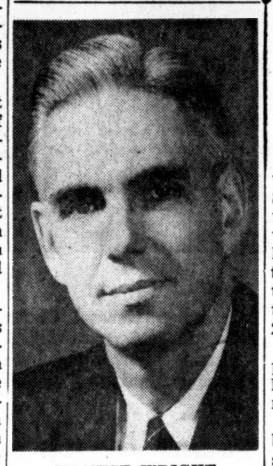

The exhibition of items from Mr. Bell's collection will remain on display at the Wellesley Free Library through Saturday, January 29. Chairman of the exhibit committee of the Friends of the Library, which coordinates the monthly displays, is W. Michael Bodden of 23 Cornell road.

from neighboring Brookline, Dedham, Needham, Wellesley and Weston are joining those in Newton in sponsoring the area-wide event.

Local Republicans had their plan underway weeks before Senator Saltonstall issued his statement that he would not seek reelection. In announcing the decision to honor Senator Saltonstall, William R. Haney, general chairman, declared:

"We wish to honor our Senior Senator in recognition of the distinguished service he has given to his country and to his state for a period of more than 40 years. Since the time he became a member of the Newton Board of Alderman he has established a record of devoted service to those he represents.

"It is most appropriatae that we, his friends and neighbors of his home city of Newton, and the neighboring communities, should join in honoring him."

In his long career in the U. S. Senate, the State Legislature, and as Governor of the Commonwealth, Senator Saltonstall has received numerous honors in recognition of his service. A most recent count of honorary degrees reveals that at least 25 have been conferred upon him by various colleges and universities, including his own alma mater. (The Senator holds his A.B. and LLB degrees from Harvard University)

Despite his numerous honors, the simple tribute of his friends at home is certain to be a moving experience.

Senator Saltonstall's long public career began with his service as Alderman in Newton. In later years, he was elected to the U. S. Senate, in November, 1944, with a record vote for statewide office. Currently, the Senator is the ranking Republican of the Appropriations Committee and of the Armed Services Committee, two of the most important committees in the U. S. Senate. His legislative efforts represent a wide range of subjects relating to national and international problems.

The Senator's unique place in the community is mainly responsible for the readiness with which the various groups of the several communities united to jointly support this year's Lincoln Day Dinner in Newton.

Representing the co-sponsoring groups of the several communities are: Newton, Edward C. Uehlein, William R. Haney, Mrs. Robert Tennant and Melvin B. Clayton; Brookline, Mrs. Estelle Goldman, Mrs. Louis Katz, Mrs. Charles Nayor, Mrs. George Stephenson, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph Silvano; Dedham, Paul D. Maggioni and Harcourt Wood; Needham, Gilbert W. Cox, Jr., Mrs. Ann Harper and Mrs. John N. Hill II; Wellesley, State Committeewoman Mrs. Robert Amesbury and Mrs. John W. Baldwin; Weston, Rep. Edward M. Dickson.

Wide interest in the dinner is indicated by the number of early reservations being made for tables. Added to those listed as Patrons who are sponsoring tables at the event are:

Hon. and Mrs. Laurence Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Epstein, Hon. and Mrs. Ralph L. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gerlack, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Horner, J. Lawrence Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Norris.

TIME FOR ACTION

February is Heart Month—a time when the people of Newton rededicate themselves to the proposition that diseases of the heart and circulation ultimately can be conquered, if only enough of us do enough about it.

It is natural, although a mistake, to assume that heart disease is a problem only for the medical profession—to ask what you, as an individual can do about it.

The fact is that the public has a vital place in the battle against heart disease, by supporting Heart Association programs of research, education, and community service, and by continuing interest in and concern about the problems of the heart and circulation.

This family of diseases accounts for more deaths, in our community, state, and nation, than all other causes combined. It strikes at every age and economic bracket. It is clearly a matter for personal concern by everybody old enough to comprehend its seriousness.

Over the years, Heart Funds have already brought tremendous advance in these areas. Every new surgical, and therapeutic tool, every program of education for living with one's heart, that the 1966 Heart Fund brings will be not only ours but posterity's, to use and to build on in the years to come. The Heart Fund is our best possible investment in life and health.

The degree to which we invest in life and health will be decided over the next month. The responsibility rests upon us all.

Training To Start For Inter-American Students Projects

Noreen Connelly of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, local representative of the Conference on Inter-American Student Projects, announces that in two weeks more than 800 U.S. and Canadian students from more than 60 colleges will begin the final four-month training program to ready them for special work this summer in Latin American towns and villages.

These students belong to the largest overseas service program in North America that is directed and run by students. Their group serves as a coordinating agent for the increased interest by students in engaging in summertime education and community development projects in Mexico and other Latin American countries.

About half the students will be returning to project sites that they worked on last summer; others will be returning for a third or fourth summer.

The type of work done depends on the local situation of each town and the community development or pastoral plans that might already be in progress there. Some have helped to build schools and community buildings. Others have literacy or health programs to follow up on this summer.

The training program in the U.S. which takes place on the college campus of each CIASP group, emphasizes the study of Spanish and Latin American culture for those going for the first time. Everyone in the program studies the basic principles of community development and other technical skills according to the nature of the work they will engage in.

Strong emphasis in the training program is given to leadership formation and basic principles of team work. Student direction of CIASP is shared among the group leader on campus, the area chairman who is in charge of many groups and the regional directors of the East, Mid-West and West Regions.

The National Chairman of CIASP, Don D'Aloisio, at a recent national board meeting, said that because of its student leadership CIASP has certain values that other overseas sending groups do not have.

"One thing lacking in many private and government youth programs is student leadership," he said. "This point was well made last November by a Committee on Youth Activities organized for the White House Conference for 'International Cooperation Year'."

He referred to the statement by that commission that there was a "tendency of youth-serving organizations and government agencies to regard youth as a subject"; and that "things were done for youth and to help youth, rather than by encouraging youth to act for themselves."

He felt that CIASP by "encouraging leadership on all levels allowed for more student development. Responsibility for training and fund raising which is considerable is shared by all students."

Letters

Voice Of Women

Editor of The Graphic:

Members of the Voice of Women - Newton were among the signers of the anti-Viet Nam war paid advertisement which appeared in your newspaper in November.

We wish to respond to the news item you published (free of charge) about Mrs. Jerrold Young's correspondence with a soldier in Viet Nam. Your "reporter", exceeding his repertorial prerogatives, "rated" Mrs. Young as an "above average" housewife because of her "positive action" in writing to a soldier in Viet Nam, and sending the story of the correspondence to the Newton Graphic with her statement expressing her "disgust" at positive actions being taken by other American citizens who protest the war.

We who signed the ad are distressed that Mrs. Young so misunderstands what democracy is all about. Citizens in a democracy are not supposed to "follow their leaders" (like sheep, or like Hitler Youth) when they believe their leaders are set upon a disastrous or morally unjustifiable course. Citizens in a democracy are committed to informed participation in government actions and decisions and owe to their country the expression of their opinions (even when it costs them hundreds of dollars to have it printed), and even when it may bring down upon their heads the abuse of people like Mrs. Young. This is elementary and should be basic knowledge possessed by every American.

We find it distressing also that Mrs. Young, while she "may not be certain about many facets" of the war, according to your article, feels herself qualified to pass derogatory judgment upon the signers of the ad, who do happen to have taken the trouble to inform themselves through every available source of very many facets of the war, seeking and unable to find justification for it.

May we suggest to Mrs. Young that she read much, much more about the war in Viet Nam before she presumes to equate our opposition to it with "anti-Americanism," or she may find herself liable to suit for slander. One source of informatoin is Robert Scheer's How the United States Got Involved in Viet Nam, published by the Center for Democratic Institutions; also a new paperback, just published, entitled VIET NAM, History, Documents, and Opinions on a Major World Crisis, edited by Marvin E. Gettleman, published by Fawcett. If Mrs. Young should read these, perhaps we could count on her signature the next time we run an ad in opposition to the war in Viet Nam.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Douglas W. Reynolds
Corresponding Secretary

Editor of The Graphic

As a signer of the ad in the Newton Graphic pressing for a negotiated settlement in Vietnam. I was distressed by the letter of Mrs. Jerold Young on Jan. 13. It's hard to believe that she even read the ad which was not "demanding U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam regardless of consequences". On the contrary, it declared "support for the U.N. (or other international machinery) to supervise the cease-fire, provide for peaceful establishment of a new government in South Vietnam, protect the rights of minority groups, and protect the neutrality of North and South Vietnam."

Mrs. Young is appalled by "the atrocities committed daily against our men by Vietcong WOMEN and CHILDREN." So am I. I am also appalled by the atrocities committed daily against Vietnamese (Vietcong and otherwise) WOMEN and CHILDREN by OUR MEN.

The soldier in replying to her letter states: "We will not hesitate to take any measures what-so-ever, so you all may live in the society you choose." These measures include napalm bombing, setting fires to villages, and destruction of crops in areas where the presence of Vietcong is suspected.

Mrs. Young says: "We have elected our leaders and we MUST support their decisions." One reason I voted for Pres. Johnson was that he led me to believe that his Vietnam policy would be very different. I was deceived, and if Democracy is to have strength and meaning, it demands that we speak out when we disagree, particularly when we feel that truth and morality are being violated.

This is precisely what our boys are supposed to be fighting for. Backing them up does not mean backing the war policy, and many good American citizens do not. In the same issue of the Graphic, Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill (a strong supporter of Johnson's Vietnam policy) states that in a single month he received 508 letters objecting to U.S. policy and only 3 supporting it.

Our allies give us half-hearted verbal support, and continue to trade with North Vietnam. I devoutly hope that current peace efforts will be successful and lead at long last to the Vietnamese being allowed to rule their own country, instead of being ruled by a government that would fall immediately without American military support.

Prolonged fighting will make them more dependent on China and Russia, a condition which I deplore as much as you do, Mrs. Young.

Mrs. Edwin Moise

Young Newton Scientists To Hear Lecture

Ten Newton science students have been selected by their high school science departments to attend a Science Frontiers lecture at Boston's Museum of Science tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, Jan. 21.

The lecture is the third in a series inaugurated by the museum last November to give outstanding high school students the opportunity to hear world-renowned scientists speak on their chosen field.

The Newton youngsters, who will hear Dr. Isaac Asimov, associate professor of biochemistry at Boston University, are:

Ernest Siciliano, 61 Pelham street, Newton Centre. Sacred Heart High; Joanne DiBartolomeo, 96 Floral street, Newton Highlands, Sacred Heart High; Mary Magaret Galvagno, 53 Falmouth road, West Newton, St. Bernard High; Patricia Chiasson, 27 Barbara Rd., West Newton, St. Bernard High.

Also, Denise Rab, 39 Floral St., Newton Highlands, Walnut Hill School; Richard M. Barger, 5 Sharpe Rd., Newton Centre, Roxbury Latin School; Victor Lerish, 5 Longmeadow Rd., Newton Centre, Newton South High; Warren Sadow, 15 Sharpe Rd., Newton South High; John Rahall, 25 Thaxter Rd., Newtonville, Our Lady High; Theodore Maslowski, 22 Jefferson St., Newton, Our Lady's High.

In recent years, Dr. Asimov has devoted himself entirely to science writing and is the author of numerous books for laymen on a variety of scientific topics from the nature of the atom to the satellites of outer space.

About Leaders

Editor of The Graphic:

I read the letter of Mrs. Abbe Beth Young, and the letter of the American serviceman in Vietnam, Lee Fields, in your Jan. 13 issue. They well state a point of view which is common in the United States: "We MUST support the decisions of our leaders". Stephen Decatur said the same thing in 1816: "Our country! . . . May she always be in the right; but our country right of wrong!"

This is exactly the same philosophy with which the Nazis supported their Feuhrer Adolf Hitler in World War II — who by the way is the hero of General Ky, the present dictator in South Vietnam. Ky said what they needed most in South Vietnam was five Hitlers.

The trouble with the viewpoint "we MUST support the decisions of our leaders" is that from time to time the decisions of leaders may be wrong — wrong in the sense of producing evil for our country and for the world. The decisions of even elected leaders are sometimes wrong. In South Vietnam a revolution is going on against the present Saigon government.

Over 95% of the weapons used by the revolutionaries (Viet Cong or National Liberation Front) are weapons captured from the Saigon government forces and from the Americans. President Eisenhower said that the United States would not let elections be held in South Vietnam because the other side would win. But it seems to the peace marchers, the dissenters, and other Americans that the Vietnamese people have a right to decide for themselves what kind of government they want to have without any foreign interference.

North Vietnam and South Vietnam were one country until the "temporary" separation in 1954. Almost all the foreigners fighting in Vietnam are Americans; there are no Chinese and no Russians fighting in that country.

Communism is an idea; foreign aggression is not proved by calling one's opponents communists.

I hope Americans will become more informed about the issues in Vietnam, and not shut their minds with the emotional view "my country right or wrong".

Yours sincerely,
Edmund C. Berkeley

College Dance Group Will Be At High School Jan. 26

The Bennington College Dance Group will appear in the Newton South High School Auditorium on Wednesday evening, January 26, at 7:30 p.m., under the joint sponsorship of the Dance Clubs and Modern Dance classes of Newton and Newton South High Schools and the Creative Arts Committee of the Newton P.T.A. Council.

The group's reportoire consists entirely of works created, choreographed and performed by its student members. Bennington College dance groups have toured biennially since 1945. The 1964 tour covered 3,000 miles, won warm praise in the press, and included television network appearances. The 1966 group consists of 10 student dancers.

Most of them have had years of dance training and some have had experience with professional dance companies before enrolling at Bennington. Of the 10, two are men who are enrolled as special students in the primarily women's college. One member—Susanne C. Snyder—is a native of Boston.

The tour is entirely student-managed and each member of the group not only performs but has one or more specific duties in connection with stage management, lighting, sound, wardrobe, publicity, transportation, or lecturing and teaching. In addition to the public performance on Jan. 26, there will be a master class for high school students the following afternoon at 3 p.m. at Newton High School.

Arrangements are in the hands of a committee including Mrs. Neal Gross, Mrs. Harold Jacobs, Mrs. Herbert L. Solomon, Mrs. Alfred Scott, Mrs. Stanley Charren, Mrs. Hugh Tombs, Mrs. Israel Silkowitz, Mrs. Robert Richmond, Mrs. Arnold Shaw, and Mrs. Michael Cooper. Tickets may be ordered in advance by telephoning Mrs. Gross at 332-0375, Mrs. Jacobs at 332-9635, or Mrs. Solomon at 332-3748—or they may be purchased at the door.

Great Decisions Discussions To Start Jan. 30

The Rev. Robert J. Harding, minister of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, and Mrs. J. Edgar Birdsall, chairman of its Social Action Committee, have called attention to the fact that the Great Decisions discussion program will be held throughout the country in February and March, and the church starts its part of the program on Sunday evening, Jan. 30.

On that date, a speaker from the Massachusetts Council of Churches will give a talk on "Vietnam and the United States," a presentation of both sides. The speaker will be the Rev. Charles W. Tait, associate rector of St. Andrews Church in Wellesley and formerly with the State Department.

There will be dessert and coffee and fellowship at 7 o'clock, an explanation of the Great Decisions program at 7:30, Mr. Tait's talk at 7:40, questions and answers from 8:15 to 8:45, and adjournment to follow.

It is pointed out that the program is an opportunity for the church family to become better acquainted through meetings in the homes and in neighborhood gatherings. Five hosts for discussion groups have already been chosen, and, there will be many more.

Lee Loumos Says:

Amongst the many obvious reasons why Color TV has been in so great a demand since last September, the most salient reason has been, for the most part, completely overlooked. The age and condition of millions of TV sets which have been serving long past their time has been, in my experience, the greatest impetus to color TV purchases.

Of course, the large increase in Color programming along with the improvement in quality concurrent with price reductions are important reasons, but what has given fuel to the demand is the replacement factor. Instead of making expensive repairs to older sets, the buying public is now replacing them with new high-performance Color TV. Add all these people who are buying from necessity to those who buy from desire and it becomes obvious that the demand for Color TV will continue unabated for another couple of years.

Watch out for your pets. Those which stray may be picked up and end in the hands of merciless experimenters. And be sure your dog wears a collar with its license number and your name and address.

We plead for mercy; must it be in vain?

The reports of the vivisectors themselves in the medical journals reveal the shocking truth.

They relate the grim story of how they mutilate, skin, burn, beat, starve, freeze, gas, electrically shock, and otherwise cruelly mistreat their pathetic victims.

The medical journals are accessible to the public at the Countway Medical Library, 10 Shattuck St. in Boston, and doubtless in other such libraries.

Joint Meeting Of Clubs Held Last Wednesday

The Oak Hill Park Woman's Club and the Evening Division of the Newton Community Club had a combined meeting at the Memorial School Auditorium in Oak Hill Park last Wednesday, January 12.

A new kind of cooking party was held on stage to entertain and inform housewives on the art of gourmet dishes. Spotlighted on stage for this gala event was Mrs. Jeanne Ambuter, who conducted a cooking session in which gourmet dishes were prepared with full directions.

Part of Mrs. Ambuter's attractive stage setting was a work table with a large overhead mirror which allowed everyone in the audience to see clearly all the details of food preparation. Some lucky winners went home with the gourmet dishes as door prizes. About twenty prizes consisting of bags of grocery items were given away.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

The hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Charles Conway, Mrs. Anne Gillis, Mrs. Frederick J. Wood, Mrs. Peg Delorey and her committee of the Newton Community Club.

U. ALEXIS JOHNSON

State Dept. Official At Press Convention

The former deputy U. S. Ambassador to Vietnam, four New England governors, two U. S. Senators and Northeastern University President Asa Knowles will be among the principal speakers and honored guests at the 17th Annual Winter Convention of the New England Press Association, Thursday through Sunday, Jan. 20 to 23, at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

U. Alexis Johnson, the former Vietnam envoy and an expert on Southeast Asia, will be the principal speaker at the NEPA Annual Awards winner Friday evening. He will be introduced by U. S. Senator Thomas J. McIntyre of New Hampshire.

The four New England governors who will also participate at the dinner are John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, John Dempsey of Connecticut, John King of New Hampshire and John Chaffee of Rhode Island.

Another U. S. Senator, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, will be interviewed by NEPA women editors on Saturday.

Johnson, a Foreign Service career man, served in the Vietnam post from June, 1964 until recently. During his lengthy State Department career he has served in Tokyo, Manila, Seoul, Yokohama and Mukden, as well as on General Douglas McArthur's staff.

He has also served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, a member of the U. S. Delegation to the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference, ambassador to Czechoslavakia, coordinator to the U. S. Delegation to the Geneva Conference on Korea and Indochina, ambassador to Thailand, U. S. Representative to SEATO and Deputy Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs.

Since returning from Vietnam, he has reassumed the latter post.

The four-day convention of the six-state association is expected to attract more than 400 editors, publishers, newsmen and other members, representing 200 weekly and community daily newspapers.

The eight Transcript Press newspapers are active members of the New England Press Association.

The four-day program will feature a series of panel discussions with experts from the many areas of the newspaper business participating.

A Saturday night reception for NEPA will be given by Prudential and the Boston Winterfest Committtee on the second floor of the Prudential Tower. The Saturday evening program is under the direction of Newsome and Company, Boston.

Mayor Studies Jones Ruling On Meter Maids

Mayor Monte G. Basbas told The Graphic yesterday (Wednesday) that it was his intention to give careful study to an opinion by City Solicitor Matt B. Jones to the effect that only by changes in the city ordinances could women school traffic supervisors be assigned to the job of checking parking violations.

If, after his study, he feels the ordinances changes are necessary, the Mayor said, he will recommend that they be made.

The City Solicitor ruled that under the existing ordinances members of the auxiliary police patrol cannot serve as meter maids nor can meter maids serve as traffic supervisors.

Mrs. Breed Elected

Mrs. William Breed of Newton Centre has been elected to the executive committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the New England Baptist Home at Chestnut Hill.

City Democrats Co-Sponsors Of Vietnam Debate

Sponsorship of a debate on United States Policy in Vietnam scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 25, was voted this week by the Newton Democratic City Committee.

The Committee, which is co-sponsoring the event at the Mason - Rice School Auditorium at 8 p.m. with the League of Women Voters, World Affairs Council, the Newton Community Peace Center and others, recommended its support with a resolution that stated:

"This Committee endorses open debate and free discussion when both sides of important public questions are presented."

Prof. Paul Seabury of Harvard University will debate the question in support of President Johnson's administration view. Russell Johnson of the American Friends Service Committee will discuss the opposite point. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, will serve as moderator.

whose co-sponsorship of the debate was announced today by Attorney Leonard Salter. Salter, chairman of the Newton Community Peace Center, which originally planned the meeting, reported that the following organizations are now officially backing the debate:

Democratic City Committee, League of Women Voters of Newton, Newton Council of Churches, Newton J. C.'s, Mass. Political Action Committee, Italian-American Veterans Post No. 50, Voice of Women, World Affairs Council, and Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Commenting on the diversified support the Viet Nam debate has elicited, Salter stated:

"We are impressed that Mayor Basbas and Supt. Brown have given their personal support to a community-wide debate on Viet Nam.

"We are also impressed that a Veteran's post and a strongly anti-war group such as the Women's International League have agreed on the need for publi cdiscussion on this urgent matter of national policy. This is a heartening evidence of democracy in action.

"By an honest aring of both major positions on Viet Nam," Salter continued, "and with plenty of time for the audience to present additional shadings of opinion, the debate should provide a valuable educational service for Newton."

Serving with Mayor Basbas, honorary chairman, and Attorney Salter, chairman for the debate, is the following committee of Newtonians: Mrs. Leo Poverman, co-ordinator; Rev. Harold Fray, Eliot Church of Newton; Mrs. Lawrence Cooke; Mrs. Proctor Houghton; Mrs. Dwight Merrill; Mrs. David Nemzoff; Mrs. Melvin Shoul and Herbert Weiss.

Camera Prize Winner A Dog

A Connecticut dog won a camera in a Newton raffle recently.

Sandy, housepet of Mrs. Rhea Kaetz of Hamden, Conn., is now the proud owner of a brand new camera, and Sandy never even paiid for the raffle ticket.

Mrs. Kaetz is the aunt of two enterprising youngsters from Newton who conducted the raffle recently to raise money for CARE.

Eight-year-old Freddie and 11-year-old David Albert of 92 Varick Rd., Newton—assisted by eight-year-old Peter Saravis of 110 Evelyn Rd.—sold about 60 raffle tickets to relatives, friends, neighbors and their Aunt Rhea.

Aunt Rhea bought several, and for fun she bought one for her dog—and when the drawing was made Sandy held the winning ticket.

Sandy was unavailable for comment.

Trojan Club Raises Funds To Fight Cystic Fibrosis

In Newton there has been serious discussion concerning the delinquency problem. It is an established fact that the citizens of Newton are faced with an enigma, but there is one teenage goup which due credit should be given to. The name of this is the Trojan Club.

It is a basic and long-lasting desire of youths to organize themselves into fraternal organizations. The Trojan Club was born out of this common desire, however, the quality of the founding members was such that they were a driving force to continue the life of the club which appears to be an infinite period of time.

It was early in 1931 that seven boys—Irving Helman, Leon Rogers, Myron Alexander, Sanford Levanthol, Jack Solomon, Lloyd Berman, and Robert Kingsdale—founded the club. Within a short period of time after the founding pledges began to be taken in as applicant for membership. Since 1931 over four hundred boys have taken the oath of membership.

On December 24, 1965 the Trojan Club held its annual Christmas Eve dance at Longwood Towers. The proceeds of this affair were to be given to Cystic Fibrosis. It was a magnificent evening and the boys of this organization should be given praise for their dance. Guy Ormandy provided the music, and while they took a break, Kevin and the Echoes filled in.

This added much to the atmosphere because instead of members of the club felt that this added feature would relieve some of the tensions. After Kevin and the Echoes had finished playing, Vice President Steven Goldberg introduced the person who had led the club during this dance term—President Steven Joselle.

President Joselle stated that this year the Trojan Club would contribute $1,800 to Cystic Fibrosis and $500 to the Herbert J. Gardner Memorial Fund. In his speech President Joselle stated that "the contributions given by the Trojan Club tonight and in the past represents more than just their monetary value. This unselfish act has helped in developing the permanent bond of brothership between the members."

At the end of his speech President Joselle awarded a trophey to Steven Goldberg as the single member who contributed the most to making the dance a success. After the formal speeches were given the evening continued in its magnificent way. It is only too bad that more people did not attend to spend such an enjoyable evening.

Now that the dance is over with the club held its elections for the second term. Those chosen were all from Newton and are as follows: Steven Goldberg — President; Marc Ginsberg — Secretary; Hank Simons—Vice President; Bob Fishkind — Treasurer; Dene Berman — Corresponding Secretary.

President Goldberg will continue the trend set by last terms President Joselle. Plans have already been set on working on next years dance as well as adding to the fraternal aspect of the club. President Goldberg stated that "this term of the club has the conotation of being primarily for pleasure, but this has to be balanced with the work involved in preparing for next year. I believe that a happy medium is the solution."

The Trojan Club is an independent, non-sectarian organization concerning itself with the fraternal, charitable, athletic, and social aspects of life. In its 35 years of existence the organization has never found it necessary to employ adult leadership or assistance. By using a very selective system of accepting members, the success of the club is unequaled by any other independent boys' club.

Emerson Rug Co. Winner Of National Retail Award

Emerson Rug Company, New England's largest broadloom store, has received the highest honor that the carpet industry can bestow on a retailer.

At the annual banquet of the American Carpet Institute held in Chicago last week, Emerson received the national award for Retail Excellence.

The presentation was made by Horace C. Jones, president of James Lees and Sons Company and chairman of the board of trustees of the American Carpet Institute. Emerson's President, John J. Reilly, and Executive Vice President, Daniel Reilly, were present to accept the bronze plaque.

The American Carpet Institute is the official trade organization of the carpet industry. The award is given for high standards of excellence, intergrity and service to the community.

Emerson was selected from thousands of carpet retailers throughout the nation, and acclaimed an outstanding leader in the industry.

The firm was established in 1934 by John J. Reilly and John A. Emerson, treasurer. Its growth has been rapid, especially in recent years. Emerson has six showrooms in suburbs surrounding Boston, and more are planned for the near future.

Emerson showrooms are noted for their spacious interiors and attractive decor. An impressive feature is the enormous variety of broadlooms that are on display.

A typical store contains more than 900 broadloom samples, as well as accent area rugs, braided rugs, and room-size remnant rugs. There is a great abundance of colors, textures and patterns to stimulate the imagination and inspire fresh decorating ideas.

Quality Brands

Although the company offers carpet in every price range, only better brand names are ever sold at Emerson stores. Emerson believes that dependable brands are the surest way to protect the customer's investment.

Emerson was one of the first stores in the nation to offer its customers the conveniences of shop-at-home service.

By using a 25,000 square foot warehouse in Dedham, Emerson has solved one of the major problems faced by the carpet retailers.

Emerson stores are open weekdays till 9 p.m. and Saturdays till 5:30 p.m. The showrooms are located on Route 9 in Natick, 115 Parkingway in Quincy, Route 28 in Stoneham, Route 114 in Danvers, Route 23 in Hanover and Route 1 in Norwood.

Drive

Speaking at the kick-off dinner was Dr. Phillip D. Bonnet, president of the American Hospital Association. He likened the hospital's fund drive to the building of a cathedral.

"Each generation must add and build. The job never is done once and for all, because the work centered in the building never ends," he said.

Dr. Bonnet spoke about his three-week inspection of Russian hospitals, during July. He toured the Soviet Union with a five-man delegation sponsored by the United States Public Health Service.

Russian medicine is tax-supported and government dominated, he explained. In-hospital services are received without charge. Drugs and appliances needed outside the hospital are paid for by patients.

He cited instances where ratios exceed those of the United States. The number of patient beds per 1,000 population and the number of physicians per patient are higher in Russia, he indicated.

However, the Soviet health program generally is rigid, unimaginative and formal in its organization.

"A Soviet hospital makes do with equipment placed there when it opens. Little replacement or updating of equipment occurs," he said.

Hospital technology in Russia is relatively primitive, Dr. Bonnet observed. He said, "Small amounts of lab work are done. The testing reminds me of our hospital laboratories of the 1930s, back when I was a medical student."

The Russian patient occupies a cast iron bed. It does not raise or lower and it is covered by a lumpy felt mattress. A hospital is plain and functionally designed, Dr. Bonnet reported.

The important difference lies in the philosophies of medical care. "Russia offers more beds and doctors because every citizen is a worker. Hospitals exist to keep people healthy enough to work.

"In our nation," he continued, "we hold a stronger view. We keep people healthy because we value the individual. The patient is important in himself, not merely because he is a utilitarian worker."

Reviewing programs of government medicine found in other nations of the world, he noted the absence of an effective counter force, and an interested citizenry.

"In your fund drive, you want to meet a need at a local level. It is not enough to say you will pay for the hospital when you are sick. You first must assure the facilities are there and providing reasonably good care, before you can consider paying for using them."

According to Dr. Bonnet, fully sponsored government medicine programs furnish quantity, and rarely quality. Government programs operating free of public scrutiny and interest usually permit health care to drift to the lowest common denominator, he emphasized.

He felt the present partnership of government and medicine in the United States is healthy. The key toward countervailing big government medicine, he indicated, is a vigorous self-reliant people, behaving strongly and effectively working to meet local community needs.

Interest To All Homeowners

By PLYWOOD CENTER, DEDHAM

Selecting a wall panelling is really no different from selecting a piece of furniture, a major appliance or other functional equipment. All are an integral part of modern living, all have to be chosen carefully and wisely, except that somehow you expect more from a wall. You know you'll have to repair and replace other equipment but you want a wall to last a lifetime. You would also like it to be unusually beautiful and you would prefer seeing it stay that way without any maintenance.

This is asking a lot, to be sure, but you have a right to expect all of these advantages from a Rocket Wall panelled wall. Here is why . . . A Rocket Wall panel is economical to buy, install and maintain. Decoratively, it is one of the most beautiful materials in the world and structurally it is one of the strongest.

From the strictly practical angle, Rocket Wall panelled walls offer immediate as well as long range economy. The panels are light in weight, easy to install. They go up quickly in either new or old construction. They do not need repair and they are remarkably easy to maintain.

News Tips From Plywood Center

Restore original beauty to your wood furniture, panelling or woodwork by a new product sold at the Plywood Center. This product will quickly restore original beauty to dull, lifeless panelling, woodwork and furniture. It removes scratches, scuffs and stains, cleans, preserves and renews. Just apply with damp cloth and wipe it off. It is not a wax or a polish but contains natural oils that nourish wood, protect finish against drying and dulling due to heat and age. It will not dull glossy surfaces or put a shine on satin finishes. It's unbelievable but a fact. Visit the Plywood Center and try it out for yourself, you'll be amazed.

Zone Appeals Board Grants Two Petitions

Two petitions for hardship variances have been granted by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

One was that of Mrs. Joseph Krinsky, 55 Beethoven avenue, Waban, for a variance of the setback requirements. The other was brought by Samuel L. Katz, 122 Shorncliffe road, Newton, for a variance of the side lot requirements.

The Krinsky petition was to legalize an overhang inadvertently built too near the lot line, which was not discovered until the owner sought to sell the house after owning it for 12 years.

The Katz petition, granted by a 4 to 1 decision, sought permission to construct a second - story addition over an existing non-conforming porch. The porch was 5.65 feet from the side lot line in Residence 'A' District, where the zoning requires 12½ feet.

A public hearing was set by the Board for Tuesday evening, Jan. 25, at 7:45 o'clock on a petition of John D. Sweeney for a petition to subdivide his lot at 85 Farlow road, Newton, into two lots. The lot is in Residence 'A' Zone.

Jonathan Brown, Chris Kinchla and Scott Reynolds, all Newton residents, members of the Lenox School Harriers, have led the school's crosscountry team to eight consecutive victories.

A lively debate has developed within the Republican party on whether Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson should run for Attorney General or reelection. Richardson is not lacking for advice on what he should do. The trouble is that about half his advisers want to see him stay where he is while the other half think he should strike out for the Attorney Generalship.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins made an early move in his unannounced campaign for the seat now held by Leverett Saltonstall in the U.S. Senate by urging the repeal of Section 14-B—the so-called right-to-work provision in the Taft-Hartley law.

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, whom Collins expects to oppose in the senatorial battle, declined to say where he stood on the 14-B issue when he announced his candidacy for the Senate last month.

These were among the major developments along the political front in recent days. They merit discussion in more detail.

Secretary of State White is being urged by a number of Democratic politicos to move into the already crowded Attorney General field. White is giving thoughtful consideration to the proposal.

As matters presently stand, the leading candidates for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General are ex-Governor Foster Furcolo, former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and former State Commerce Commissioner Lester S. Hyman.

Former Assistant Attorney General Robert J. DeGiacomo also is running for Attorney General on a "no politics platform." Others in the field but not considered to be in serious contention are Representative Michael S. Dukakis of Brookline and former State Public Safety Commissioner and ex-State Senator Richard S. Caples.

DeGiacomo, who once angrily threatened to move out of Massachusetts, declares that he wants to find out if an attorney with no political organization and no campaign fund can be elected Attorney General.

Most political observers believe they already know what DeGiacomo will learn. In fact, they can't figure out how DeGiacomo could obtain enough signatures to have his name placed on the September primary ballot if he has no organization to carry out the task.

Ex-Governor Furcolo currently is regarded by political pundits as the favorite to capture the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

But the experts might revise their opinions if White steps out to challenge him. White would be strong both at a convention and in a primary.

Whether White would be willing to give up a reasonably safe position as Secretary of State to gamble that he can win election as Attorney General is a big question and one to which White himself presumably is devoting a good deal of thought.

An unusual aspect to the situation is that White was one of a group of Democratic leaders who maneuvred the nomination of Francis X. Bellotti as the Democratic candidate for Governor in the 1964 primary and the defeat of ex-Governor Endicott Peabody.

Now White is being asked to enter a contest in which Bellotti would be one of his adversaries.

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler may be the Republican nominee for Secretary of State if White decides to strike out for the Attorney Generalship.

GOP leaders would like to see Councillor Heckler run for state-wide office in order to strengthen their party's State ticket for next November's important election.

Councillor Heckler would prefer to go to Congress and has her eye on Congressman Joseph W. Martin's place on Capitol Hill if Martin steps down at the end of his present term at the age of 82.

If Martin should run again, Mrs. Heckler may heed the suggestion that she stand for Secretary of State in the event White vacates the office. She would be quite an asset to the GOP State ticket.

Donahue -- O'Donnell Feud Is Developing

Bitter feeling has developed between Senate President Donahue and Kenneth O'Donnell as a result of O'Donnell's outspoken attempts to disparage Donahue's candidacy for Governor.

O'Donnell at various times has indicated that he did not believe Donahue could win as the Democratic nominee for Governor and has intimated that he did not regard Donahue as a serious contender.

This has not set well with Donahue who can stake a much stronger claim to the Governorship than can O'Donnell and who probably has much better chance of winning the office than has O'Donnell, whatever that chance may be.

O'Donnell apparently is basing his campaign for Governor on his relationship with the late President John F. Kennedy and Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York State.

While O'Donnell claims that supporters of Senator Ted Kennedy eventually will be in his camp, Donahue, who served as Ted's floor manager in the latter's 1962 convention fight with former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, is actually closer to Ted than is O'Donnell.

One thing that can be said for O'Donnell is that he's not lacking in gall and brass. Here's a man with no background whatever in the State government, who is trying to run for Governor on the memory of the late President Kennedy and on the coattails of Senator Robert Kennedy who no longer lives in Massachusetts. And he is striving to minimize the candidacy of Senate President Donahue who is an acknowledged expert on State problems.

It's not uncommon for a candidate to try to pin a "can't-win" tag on a primary or convention opponent in his own party, but it's a risky tactic which can boomerang.

On the basis of all the solid information this writer has been able to gather, Donahue has substantially more delegate support than has O'Donnell.

Donahue has declared that he'll run in the primary only if he gains the convention endorsement. O'Donnell has asserted that he'll go into the primary regardless of what happens at the convention.

Our long-range guess is that Donahue as the convention choice would have no trouble defeating O'Donnell. The adversaries he'd have to worry about would be former Attorney General McCormack and ex-Governor Peabody.

O'Donnell insists that the fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor will be between him and McCormack. Most political experts disagree.

Ted Says "No" On Governor Run

Stories have been published in the daily newspapers periodically over a period of weeks that Senator Ted Kennedy may step into the breach, run for Governor and recover the Governorship for the Democratic party.

Ted denies the reports every time they crop up and insists that he has no intention whatever of giving up his seat in the U. S. Senate to become Governor. That, however, does not prevent the spasmodic publication of the rumors.

While Ted Kennedy undoubtedly could defeat Governor Volpe in a state-wide election battle, such a move wouldn'a make much political sense.

If Ted were to win a four-year term as Governor, there would be no place for him to go at the end of that term unless he wished to continue indefinitely as Governor.

One writer implied that Ted as Governor could appoint a seat-warmer to hold his place on Capitol Hill until he completed his gubernatorial stint and was ready to run again for the Senate.

It so happens that's not possible under the law. If Ted Kennedy were elected Governor next November, a new Senator would be elected in 1968 to serve the last two years of his unexpired term.

But Ted Kennedy says there's no likelihood of any such thing happening, and he should know.

Republicans Debate Richardson's Move

A lot of arguments are flaring up among Republicans these days on whether Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson should run for Attorney General or reelection.

An interested listener to the disputes is Lieutenant Governor Richardson himself who ticket would be stronger with has given no indication of his reaction to them.

Our school of Republican thought is that the GOP State a John A. Volpe and Richardson running in a tandem as the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor respectively ,as they did in 1964.

An opposing view is that the Republican party should mafle the strongest possible effort to hold the office of Attorney General and that Richardson is the GOP candidate who would be most likely to be able to do that.

There are other cinflicting claims and counter-claims which add up to quite a squabble over what Richardson should do.

Bad Going Still Causing Mishaps To Automobiles

The majority of the accidents that brought victims to Newton-Wellesley Hospital this past week could be traced to automobiles and the uncertain going on ice and snow that continued to make its presence known on the roads.

However, there were a couple of mishaps that could not be blamed on the effects of weather.

One such happened to David W. Wilson, 23, of 40 Oakland street, Newton, who reported that he had fallen asleep in his car that was parked in front of his home and was awakened by a crash.

The car, somehow, rolled down the hill there, struck another parked car, and caught fire. The ignition wires were on fire, Wilson said.

The other parked car was the property of John Caldrone, 9 Winthrop avenue, and it was pushed into a chain link fence. Fire apparatus made short work of the fire.

The other non-skid accident involved a woman who was trapped in a car at Ash street and Commonwealth avenue, early Monday morning. Firemen were called and did the job of extrication.

On Monday and Tuesday there were four automobile accidents that hurt eight persons.

Michael Smith, 21 Belmont street, Newton, was X-rayed at the hospital after his bicycle was hit by a car at Washington street anad Central avenue. The driver, Barbara Botsford, 46 Central avenue, reported that she was making a right turn from Central avenue. The lad's left knee and leg were injured.

A Waltham man was treated at Newton-Wellesley Monday night after his car was in collision with that of Michael E. Murphy, 111 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton. It happened at Harvard and Cabot streets, Newtonville.

A two-car collision at Beacon street and Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, early Monday morning, sent three to the hospital, Steven H. Ives, 24 Elmore street, Newton, one of the drivers, his two-year-old son Alan, and Edith Kristman of Everett, the other driver.

A collision of a truck and a car Monday afternoon at Commonwealth avenue and Ash street, Auburndale, sent three out-of-town persons to the hospital.. Two Maynard women and the truck driver, a Dorchester man.

During the weekend the hospital's accident ward was unusually busy caring for victims of a number of mishaps.

Three persons in a car operated by a Wellesley man were injured when it was in collision with a Waltham woman's car at Chestnut street and Collins road, Waban.

A Brighton woman suffered head and right leg injuries when her car was in collision with that of Peter D. Friedman, 437 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, on Harvard street, Newtonville.

Five of seven accident victims were taken to the hospital by police during a weekend marked by skating and coasting mishaps, and various other types of ill luck.

Thomas W. Bowen, 2 369 Watertown street, cut his hand on a toy Saturday.

Philip Kruger, 11, 50 Grafton street, Newton Centre, injured his right arm while coasting on the Newton Centre playground.

Craig McCool, 12, 19 Cummings Rd., Newton Centre, got a head cut on Bullough's Pond.

Isabel A. Marino, 70, of Revere, hurt her arm, leg and hip in a fall at 43 Riverside avenue, Newton.

Michael Tye, 12, 116 Floral street, Newton Highlands, cut a lip coasting at the Albemarle playground.

Board Denies Two Petitions And Grants One

The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted one hardship variance request and denied two others by a 4 to 1 vote.

The one granted was brought by Gabriel C. Koundakjian for 54 Evergreen avenue, Auburndale. It allows him to convert his single home into a two-family house, provided there be no exterior alterations, that there be no change in the house's general appearance and that the only access to the third floor be by a trap door. His lot contains 32,000 square feet, and is the largest in the neighborhood, where the average lot size is 10,000 square feet. It was reported that five of the 10 houses in the vicinity were two-family dwellings.

Petitions denied were those of Frank Glordano of 260 River street, West Newton, and Louis J. Bilski of 41 Keefe street, Newton Upper Falls.

In denying the petition for a subdivision of the Giordano lot, the majority of the Board stated that the vicinity has only one lot as small as the proposed new one, which would have had 5570 square feet. They said most of the lots there have 6000 square feet .

The Board denied the Bilski petition on similar grounds.

The chairman, Maurice A. Reidy voted to grant both the petitions that were denied. Voting to deny were V. Stoddard Bigelow, Champe A. Fisher, William P. Ripley and Hirsh Sharf.

Joseph R. Bingle, 201 Newtonville avenue, and Richard J. Brown, 283 Tremont street, both of Newton, have achieved the Dean's List at Bentley College.

Gets Combat Ready Status

Captain David S. Dow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman M. Dow, 81 Avalon road, Waban, has earned combat-ready status on a Strategic Air Command (SAC) B-52 Strato Fortress crew at Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C.

Captain Dow, a radar navigator, met intensive study, ground training and operational proficiency requirements to attain the recognition. He is a member of SAC, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force.

The captain, a graduate of Newton High School, attended the University of New Hampshire and was commissioned in 1961 through the aviation cadet program.

His wife, Linda, is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph E. McKenney of 23 Carthay circle, Newton Highlands.

Aldermen Delay Action On Storing For Inflammables

The Board of Aldermen, following a public hearing held Monday night at City Hall, voted to delay any decision until the next meeting on the petition of the Massachusetts Oxygen Equipment Co., for storage of inflammables at the firm's proposed site, 285 Newtonville Ave., Newtonville.

The inflammables named in the petition are oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen, acetylene, argon and propane.

The petitioner's representative, Frank Finn of 7 Robin's Lane, Westboro, told the Board the company was a non-manufacturing firm that services welders and hospitals. He said that no inflammables would be kept inside the building, but would be stored in approved containers on covered platforms at the front and rear. Also, he said, an eight-foot chain link fence would be constructed all around the property to guard against vandalism.

Francis Howley of the Fire Prevention Bureau told the Board that there was no objection to the granting of the license sought as the materials were all in containers under pressure, and also, the petitioner had agreed to the department's suggestion that all the inflammables be stored outside the building. There was no possibility of an explosion, the fireman declared.

However, there was opposition expressed by two abutters of the proposed location—Atty. Thomas F. Donnelly of 313 Washington St., Newton, representing the Norcross Corporation and Norcross Trust, 255 Newtonville Ave., and Jacob Gilfix, treasurer of G. and S. Paper Company, Inc., 281 Newtonville Ave.

It was the contention of both that, although neither oxygen nor acetylene was hazardous by itself, the combination stored at one location constituted a danger to the neighborhood.

The Norcross firm was only 100 yards from the site at which the inflammables were proposed to be stored, Atty. Donnelly pointed out, "and I believe that oxygen and acetylene combined are highly explosive." He declared that materials of that type were not allowed to be transported over the toll road extension, which also abuts the proposed location.

Jacob Gilfix told the Board that his company had invoices worth $1,000,000, and a 5000-gallon tank of gasoline behind the building. He urged that the presence of a school nearby should be taken into consideration by the Board.

According to the petitioner's spokesman, the company's materials are transported over the Massachusetts Turnpike daily, and the company is not penalized in any way by the Fire Prevention Bureau. He added that the company's fire rating was the same as that applied to a retail shoe store, and presented the company's insurance agent, who corroborated that statement.

The petitioner now operates plants in Grafton and Malden, the spokesman said, and removal of operations from Malden to Newton must be made within a few weeks, or another location besides the one in Newton will have to be found. He said it was the intention to hire Newton residents as employees.

The reason for delaying action in the matter was explained by the Board as a move that would give time for obtaining from the Fire Department the details of the conditions to which the petitioner had agreed, as well as to investigate the claims of the objectors.

Following a hearing on another petition for the storage of inflammables, this one brought by Calvin L. Meisner of Waltham, six abutters indicated objection for increased storage capacity at 76 Lexington St., Auburndale and 340-344 River St., West Newton.

At present he is licensed to store 275 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil for use in his restaurant on the property, and 275 gallons for use in the house. He requests a license to store 1000 gallons of gasoline in a tank, and propane gas in eight 25-pound tanks. There would be a total of 11 tanks at the location.

Meisner said the gasoline was required to service his four trucks, which would be stored on the property overnight.

Two of the objectors declared that the proposed storage of gasoline would be too close to their property at 334 River St., and 82 Lexington St.

They, and the other four objectors, expressed opposition only to the storage of gasoline.

The Board reserved decision.

Other members who are on the planning committee for the Workshop are, Mrs. Dolores Mitchell of Watertown and Mrs. Margaret Blizard of Norwood, program; Mrs. Alberta Roosa Turner of Boston, publicity; James Mitchell of Norwood, reservations; Miss Mary Lally of Dorchester and Mrs. Alice Connolly of West Roxbury, luncheon.

The morning session will be devoted to the theme "What It Means To Be A Democrat." Representative Robert Quinn, Majority Leader of the House of Representatives, former Mayor Frank Kelleher of Marlboro, Representative James Nolan of Ware will be the featured participants at this session.

The afternoon session activities will focus on "How and Why Democrats Must Work Together." James M. Burns, professor at Williams College and Paul W. Costello, head of the State House Press will discuss this topic.

The concluding portion of the program will be highlighted by discussions and short talks by all the candidates for major constitutional office.

Heater Location Was Fire Cause

A gas heater that had been installed too close to combustible material was found by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., to have caused the fire on Jan. 13 in a two-story dwelling at 374 Winchester St., Newton Highlandns.

The first floor and basement were damaged. Owner of the house is Miss Anne Berlin. Mrs. Nadine Adams is an occupant.

Mrs. Shirley I. Gibley of Newton Centre is assigned to the Angier School kindergarten as a substitute during the absence of Mrs. Nancy Kirk for the balance of the school year.

Buenos Aires — One-fourth of Argentina's population is in the Buenos Aires area.

Local Policeman Has Role As Cop In Play

There will be no lack of authenticity to the role of the policeman in the Auburndale Club's presentation of "Never Too Late," for the part is being enacted by Arthur Rooney, a veteran of 14 years on the Newton police force.

Officer Rooney, whose voice is familiar to anyone who has had to call Newton Police Headquarters in recent months (he takes all incoming calls during the day) feels that the part as written is true-to-life.

"The only thing I would question," he says, "is the idea of only one officer answering a call like the one in the play," which gives some indications of the wildness to be seen on the stage of the Auburndale Club on January 27, 28 and 29.

"Never Too Late," the long run Broadway comedy hit, is being directed at the Auburndale Club by Chuck Ganss. Ticket reservations are being taken by Mrs. Alice Morrison.

THE SACRED COD CLOSING OUT SALE

We're going back to East Gloucester . . . The Rte 128 safari is more than we can take. It all sounded so delightfully easy a year ago — open a branch and balance out stock . . . two stores can run as cheaply as one — or almost. Well maybe they can, but we can't. The price of money can be too high. I've burned out three pairs of tires, received two tickets for speeding, had two store breaks and one theft of goods from the station wagon, (goods which I'd pick up that same day from customs after waiting four months for delivery), had innumerable quarrels with the wife over meals I never showed up for ("just running out to the Natick store; be back in time for dinner"), alienated my Gloucester partner who hasn't put a foot off Cape Ann in 25 years, and found myself on occasion (O Troth, give me the powers of understatement), at odds with my store manager (my Mother-in-Law). In short, I've become so mentally and emotionally bugged that Rte 128 has become my psychological Ho Chi Minh Trail. And I have no interest in a negotiated compromise.

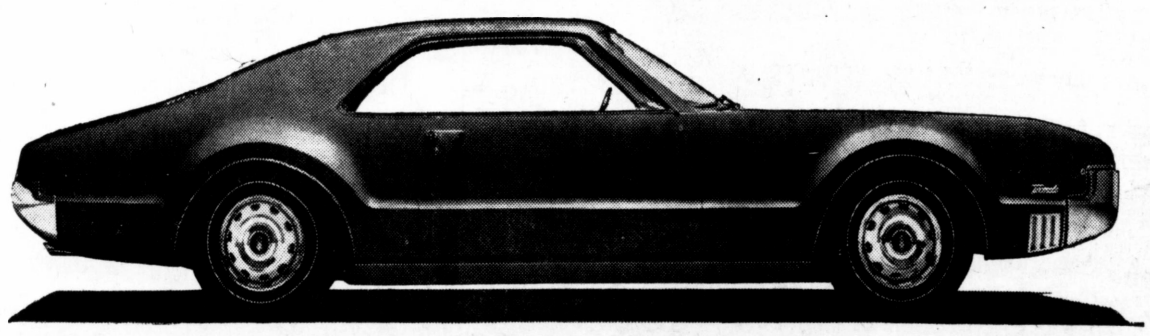

There's only one solution — I want out. This means that if you like our kind of goods, you can have them just this once at our cost — and below. This last week, we're giving on top of our 40% discount sale prices, an additional 10%. The less I have to move back to Gloucester, the better. These are neither dogs nor odds and ends; they're the Standard Cod Classics which are never discounted at all at our down East emporium — luxury Swiss velours, Scottish Shetlands, Irish and Scandinavian hand-knits, British tweeds, etc.

We thank our many new friends for their patronage and support, and look forward to seeing you at our East Gloucester Store when we open in the spring.

City Digs Down To Dig Out After Snow; More Promised

Mayor Monte G. Basbas called a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen for last night to approve a $100,000 emergency appropriation to finance snow-plowing and snow-removal operations.

Basbas gloomily declared that the city has exhausted its available funds for fighting snow storms which so far this year have cost Newton's city government about $250,000.

This represents about 80 cents on the tax rate, and still more snow is being predicted, Mayor Basbas declared.

Last Sunday's crippling blizzard, which deposited 14 inches of gale-driven snow on Newton, felled tree limbs and electric wires, leaving hundreds of homes without heat or light, cost the city an estimated $120,000.

With the city braced for still another storm, municipal crews engaged in mop-up operations yesterday, completing the removal of snow from shopping centers.

Mayor Basbas put emergency measures into effect Sunday to aid Newton residents whose homes were without heat and light because of power failures.

The City Hall cafeteria was opened as an emergency haven, but most such persons went to the homes of more fortunate relatives and friends.

In the Riverside section of Auburndale alone about 500 homes were without electric power from 5:11 a.m. until 11 a.m. Monday after broken tree limbs struck wires and caused short circuits.

Power failures on a smaller scale occurred in Newton Centre, West Newton, Chestnut Hill, Waban and Newton Highlands.

A 78-year-old Newton Highlands man was taken by police to the City Hall cafeteria at 2:45 Monday morning after a power failure cut off the heat at his home.

Some telephone lines were knocked down by tree branches in sections of Newton.

Police headquarters was obliged to go on emergency power for a brief period starting at 2:50 Sunday afternoon.

All schools in Newton were closed on Monday, and the elementary schools remained closed Tuesday.

In addition to the $120,000 the city government spent for plowing and snow-removal operations, Newton residents themselves dug down into their pocket to the collective total of many thousands of dollars to pay for having driveways and sidewalks cleared.

The storm did tremendous damage to shrubbery and trees. It appears certain that this loss will run into tens of thousands of dollars when it is finally assessed.

Newton's civil defense and Red Cross units were alerted during the blizzard. The staff at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital was placed on an emergency schedule.

To try to keep abreast of the raging storm and keep the city's streets open to travel 70 city-owned plows and another 70 hired plows were pressed into action by Street Commissioner George V. McCauley.

In some areas plowing operations were hampered by parked cars, and more

Alert Police Work Nabs Burglar Trio

Swift and alert work by Newton police resulted in the arrest of three men who allegedly had invaded a Waban home after representing themselves as police officers.

The fact that Mrs. Robert Flower of 42 Gordon Rd., Waban, was talking on the telephone to her daughter, Mrs. Robert Segal of Arlington, when three intruders rang her doorbell, helped to make possible the capture of the three men.

Mrs. Flower removed a chain link lock from the door when one of the men displayed a police badge and said they were police officers.

But she screamed when the men, after getting into the house, ordered her into a bedroom where they placed a pillow case over her head and tied her hands with a scarf.

Mrs. Segal heard her mother's scream and promptly telephoned Newton police headquarters.

Within minutes four Newton police cruising cars were screaming toward the Flower residence.

Guns drawn, the Newton officers advanced on the home, threatening to shoot in the door if it were not opened.

The men inside opened the door. Two of the men were immediately arrested at gunpoint in the hall, and a third was found in a closet.

An automobile, its motor running, was parked in the driveway of the Flower residence. Police said it had been stolen in Cambridge on Jan. 10.

Police found two loaded revolvers in a linen closet and a badge under the refrigerator. They also discovered some money in a wastebasket and a diamond pendant on the floor.

The officers who arrested the three men were Patrol-

Services To Be Held For Late Officer

Funeral services will be held this morning (Thursday) for Patrolman T. Manley Kiley, 62, of 1 Greenough street, West Newton, who was fatally injured in an unusual collision in Newtonville, Monday afternoon.

A solemn requiem Mass wil lbe celebrated at 9 a.m. in St. Bernard's Church, Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Kiley has been a permanent member of the city's police force for almost 29 years. He was named a reserve officer on Aug. 13, 1963, and was made a permanent officer on April 24, 1937.

The police officer was driving west on Washington street when his automobile was grazed by a car traveling in the opposite direction and driven by Francis C. Rice of Needham, according to police.

Kiley's car careened across the street, smashing into a parked car owned by William E. Chase of Watertown which was pushed into still another

Educator To Make Survey In 2 Nations

How two different countries will handle one of the major social issues of today will be studied in Germany and Sweden by a Boston University School professor from Newton, during the coming semester.

Prof. Banks McDowell, Jr., of 203 Langley Road, Newton Centre, will compare the German and Swedish systems of dealing with the problem of illegitimate children. During his sabbatical he will examine both the legal and social aspects of the problem.

Professor McDowell selected the countries because of their diverse legal and social structures, with Germany representative of a civic law system, and Sweden representative of the Scandinavian system.

Discuss Plans For Hub Students Here

The possibility of Newton admitting some Negro children from Boston into its public schools was discussed at Monday night's School Committee meeting.

At the same time the complex problems involved in such a move were outlined in some detail. No action was taken on the matter.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas as well as the School Board members listened attentively as Charles E. Brown reported on the work of the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunities.

Dr. Brown said he understood that the School Committes in Brookline, Wellesley, Winchester and Lexington have indicated a willingness to take part in the development of a program for admitting Negro pupils from Boston but that none of these School Boards has yet advanced any specific plan.

He declared that the Metropolitan Council has been delving into all phases of a possible program for having Boston Negro children attend school in the suburbs.

Negro children who would

Dr. Brown, who is chairman of the Council's project planning committee, listed a number of questions the other School Committees want answered.

One is the number of study in suburban communities under the plan.

Another is the age at which a child should leave his neighborhood school. Dr. Brown expressed the opinion that a second or third-grade pupil

2 New Buildings At Day Jr. High

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has decided to construct two permanent buildings instead of erecting portable classrooms to relieve crowded conditions at the Frank A. Day Junior High School.

Basbas will submit a message to the members of the Board of Aldermen at their Feb. meeting recommending that $75,000 be appropriated to finance the construction of two parallel buildings each containing three classrooms.

He said they will be very simple buildings of concrete blocks with no elaborate trimmings.

While the Day School is to be replaced by a new school within the next few years, Mayor Basbas said the two buildings he has in mind can be used in the future for some other purpose, possibly for classrooms for retarded children.

Mayor Basbas reached his decision on the erection of the two permanent school buildings after plans for installing portable classrooms at the Day School struck a snag.

Boston Mayor Is Moved By Tribute Here

Boston Mayor John F. Collins broke down and wept as Rabbi Israel J. Kazis was paying a stirring tribute to him at a Brotherhood breakfast held last Sunday at Temple Mishkan Tefila in Chestnut Hill.

The theme of the breakfast was "A Salute to Good Government." It was held to honor Newton's elected municipal officials. Mayor Collins was the principal speaker. It turned out Collins also was paid quite an honor.

Rabbi Kazis referred to Mayor Collins as "a living sermon" and declared that Collins is proof of the truth of the saying of "the old Rabbis that nothing can stand in the way of human will."

In lauding Collins' great courage, Rabbi Kazis recalled

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Ted and Bobby Split Over Kenny O'Donnell Candidacy

The Kennedy brothers — Ted and Bobby — seem to be working on opposite sides of the street and going in different directions in the campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy, now of New York State, has gone about as far as he could go in booming former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell for the Massachusetts Governorship without formally endorsing him and urging his nomination for the office.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, who has been carefully walking a political tightrope in the battle for the right to run as the Democratic nominee for Governor, has been much more restrained in his phase of O'Donnell than has his older brother.

Both Kennedy brothers spoke at the friendship

$67,000 Boost For Hospital Campaign

Sixty-seven thousand dollars pledged and reported at last Thursday's meeting, gave a substantial boost to the expansion drive of Newton-Wellesley Hospital now in its second stage. Solicitors from Newton, Wellesley and Weston attended the meeting for the first report.

Gifts and pledges received by the squadrons rose to $225,000 or 32 percent of the $700,000, second-phase, goal.

Overall, the $3,500,000 drive has exceeded the $3-million mark. Total gifts and pledges, to finance extensive enlargement and modernization of the community's hospital, stand at $3,025,000.

A second report was held last night (Wednesday, January 26) in the hospital's cafeteria.

The third report will be held next Thursday night, February 3, at Brae Burn Country Club.

"A good start and a long way to go," was the summary of Campaign General Chairman Bernard D. Grossman of West Newton.

"More than 7,000 families in the hospital service area have not been heard from. The fate of the program hinges upon their response, and commitment," he said.

He urged the soliciting

The Mother's March leader noted that a quarter-million babies are born each year with serious birth defects. Thousands of them die before their first birthday. Other thousands survive to spend lives marred by physical disability or mental retardation.

"This program," said Mrs. Henes, "includes a nationwide network of hospital-affiliated centers, where birth-defect children can receive the best care and treatment available. And while it is providing this assistance to victims of birth defects, the March of Dimes, through research grants in this country and abroad, is spearheading the search for the means to prevent these conditions.

"Many of us know mothers who have had to ask why their babies were not born perfect," concluded Mrs. Henes. "We can help spare future mothers that question by giving generously to the Mother's March".

that Collins and three of his children were stricken by polio in the summer of 1955.

He said that the three Collins youngsters recovered completely from the disease but that Collins himself was left permanently crippled by it.

Despite this, Rabbi Kazis told his listeners, Collins overcame tremendous odds to win election as Boston City Councillor, as Suffolk County Registrar of Probate and finally as Mayor of Boston.

Mayor Collins, the Rabbi continued, even has regained the ability to walk, demonstrating that nothing can stand in the way of human will.

Obviously moved by the tribute, Collins turned and lower his head as Rabbi Kazis was speaking. Those sitting close to the Boston Mayor could see tears streaming down his face.

Collins recovered his composure and delivered the main address. Newton Mayor Monte Basbas also spoke briefly. Governor's Council-Margaret M. Heckler was seated at the head table.

A large crowd attended the breakfast despite the storm.

Students

might benefit most from the shift.

"All of us feel that if it is at all possible, any youngster involved should have the opportunity to continue his full public school education in the system to which he moves," Dr. Brown told the School Committee members.

One of the most puzzling, problems, it was indicated, is that of transportation and how to bus children to possibly 12 different locations in the city and have them all arrive by 8:30 a.m.

The Negro children would be admitted only to schools which have available places for them, and these are scattered among different schools.)

School Committeeman Edwin Hawkridge urged his fellow board members to approach the matter realistically and cautiously.

"On the one hand," said Hawkridge, "it is my hope that we should seriously consider ways and means of becoming involved in such a program. On the other hand, we have an obligation to the parents and children in Newton that cannot be denied by over-crowding any classrooms in the city."

A disturbing factor, Hawkridge continued, is that while there is probably room for Boston children in the elementary schools, the reports indicate that the junior and senior high schools are overcrowded.

Superintendent Brown observed that a yearly evaluation would have to be made and that no firm agreement could be made as to the number of children who could be taken over a period of time. He said the actual number might vary from year to year.

Dr. Brown expressed the conviction that the admission of Negro pupils would aid in the education of Newton children who, he said, are deprived in the sense that "they have no realistic contact with other parts of our society."

Newton could accept Negro pupils from Boston, it was brought out, only if someone paid their tuition.

Committeeman Francis P. Frazier said it would be impossible to accept any sizeable number of Negro children from Boston but that it might be possible to educate a few from grade to grade in the hope that they would provide leadership for others.

Mayor Basbas requested that the School Committee members "keep in mind your own school program, the number of new teachers requested this year, the expense of the program to take care of Newton children now, the new schools and the additional guidance services called for and to keep in mind your own projections, anticipations and goals."

sider this public service program a success."

The members of Local 32 gave up a Saturday in order to put the building in good condition for the Sea Scouts.

Sea Explorers, the oldest program of the Boy Scouts of America, has attracted thousands of older scouts and young men. The Sea Explorers program offers the boys opportunities in leadership in the broad fields of adventuring in the out-of-doors, living socially with other boys, being of service to others, and investigating vocational possibilities.

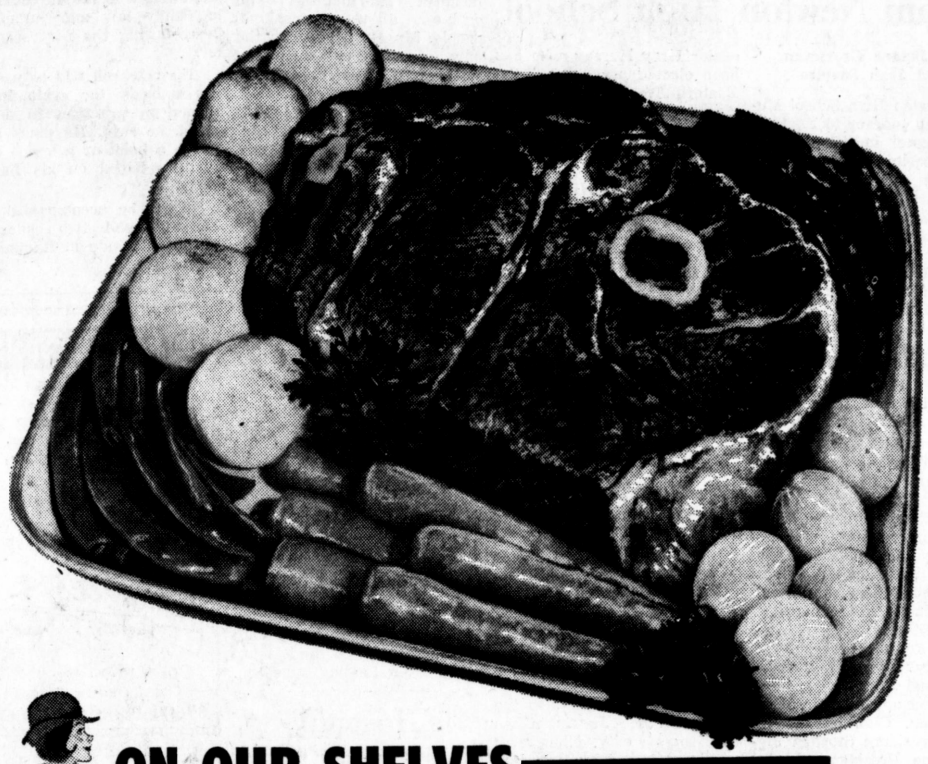

Sea Explorer Ship 13 has been in the City for forty years and for twenty-five of these years the Newton Lions Club has given financial assistance to insure continuance of the program for these young Newton residents.

dinner for O'Donnell which was held in an attempt to give impetus to O'Donnell's gubernatorial drive.

Senator Robert Kennedy came here only for O'Donnell's dinner. And Bobby left no doubt in anyone's mind who heard him that he favors Kenny O'Donnell for the Bay State Governorship.

Bobby went well beyond the bounds of an ordinary tribute to an old friend at O'Donnell's dinner as he declared that Kenny O'Donnell gave his advice on every major decision that was made while the late John F. Kennedy was President.

Senator Ted Kennedy is maintaining a position of strict neutrality at least until after the Democratic State Convention next June. But if Ted privately has a favorite candidate for Governor, it certainly is State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, not Kenny O'Donnell.

That poses the intriguing question of what Ted and Bobby Kennedy will do if Kenny O'Donnell is defeated at the Democratic State Convention, as it is generally assumed he will be.

O'Donnell himself obviously is not confident that he will gain the convention endorsement because he has declared publicly that he will run in the September primary regardless of what hapens at the June conclave.

But will he when the chips are on the table? Or will he accept a nomination for lesser office such as Lieutenant Governor.

For all practical purposes Senator Ted Kennedy can do one of two things after next June's State Convention.

He could publicly support the choice of the convention in the primary; or he could stand on the sidelines and maintain his neutrality in the primary while the Democratic contenders fight it out for the right to run against Governor John V. Volpe in the November election.

It is inconceivable that Ted Kennedy would even consider throwing his political weight in the primary behind a candidate who was defeated at the convention. To do so would be to split the Democratic party in this State into warring factions, and Ted is trying to promote party harmony.

So if Kenny O'Donnell is defeated at the State Convention, he could hardly look to Ted Kennedy for any support, direct or indirect, in the primary.

Whether he could look to Bobby Kennedy for any assistance is another matter. But except possibly for helping to raise funds for O'Donnell, Senator Robert Kennedy already has given about as much aid to the appointments secretary of his late brother as he can give.

What Ted Kennedy is likely to do if O'Donnell is defeated at the June convention is to undertake to persuade him to withdraw from the gubernatorial field.

If O'Donnell refuses to do so, Ted then will find himself in an embarassing dilemma.

In such a turn of events Ted could either oppose the man his older brother obviously favors for the Governorship; or he could remain neutral and maintain a hands-off attitude.

Without active help from Senator Ted Kennedy, Kenny O'Donnell probably would not have much chance in a primary against a candidate of the stature of Senate President Donahue or former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack.

Although O'Donnell has declared that he'll run in the primary even if he loses at the convention, the hard fact is that his gubernatorial hopes will be just about dead if he fails to gain the convention endorsement.

Senator Ted Kennedy, incidentally, already has spoken at the fund-raising dinner held for Senate President Donahue, to whom he paid high tribute, and he will speak at the dinner to be held for former Attorney General McCormack late in February.

A condition which Ted imposes when he agrees to speak at these dinners is that the unannounced candidates remain unannounced and that they not publicly reveal their political intentions at the dinner.

That is the reason O'Donnell didn't officially toss his hat into the gubernatorial ring at his big friendship dinner.

People Should Record Selves on Tax Issue

One thing the people and their elected representatives on Beacon Hill will be obliged to decide very quickly is whether they want any tax program enacted which will produce new revenue to lighten the tax burden on real estate this year.

As Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson has emphasized, any tax program which is to provide meaningful assistance for the cities and towns this year must be enacted speedily.

Any tax program adopted near the close of the 1966 legislative session would not yield enough money to have any real impact on this year's tax rates.

A prolonged impasse between Governor Volpe and Democratic legislative chieftains over what kind of tax program should be enacted probably will mean tax rate increases this year in most Bay State cities and towns.

The voters really have these two questions to answer:

1. Do you want a tax program enacted this year which would furnish the new revenue necessary to lighten the heavy burden on real estate?

2. If you do desire the adoption of such a tax program, do you prefer that the bulk of the revenue be raised through a limited 3 per cent sales tax or by an increase in the State income tax?

If you wish to record yourself on the most important matters which will come before the Legislature this year, write to your State Senator and your State Representatives and let them know what your answers are to those two questions.

Urge Viet Withdrawal

Editor of The Graphic:

We have sent the following night letter to President Johnson.

"Only the Lyndon Johnson type of political courage could admit our mistake and withdraw from Vietnam. Our prestige would rise. Alternative of endless war in Asian quicksand too terrible to contemplate. Please do not take such risks with our future and possibly even the future of mankind."

Folk Song Mass Featured At Church Here On Sunday

The lilting melodies and the rhythmic beat of music make up the musical setting of the American Folk Song Mass which will be sung by Episcopal young people at the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale on Sunday, January 30 at seven o'clock.

The vocal score will be sung by many of the youth, while another group will play the guitar accompaniment. The service of Holy Communion has been set to this contemporary music by the Rev. Ian Douglas Mitchell.

Preparations have been underway for some time for this service to which Youth Groups from other churches, as well as all adults, are cordially invited. Last week many of the group met with Miss Mary Virginia Shaw, recently a teacher in the Newton School system, and now a student at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge.

Miss Shaw has had wide experience with the Folk Song Mass and has given the group excellent guidance in interpreting the music. A dozen of the guitarists also met on a previous Sunday with Robert G. Hunt, son of Mrs. Warren G. Hunt, director of Christian Education at St. John's Church.

On vacation briefly from the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest where he is a student, and where he has played the Folk Song Mass with a number of groups, Mrs. Hunt introduced the guitar score to these musicians.

The Rev. William G. Berndt, rector of St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, will be the celebrant at the free-standing altar with the priest facing he people during the service. The Rev. Robert Goldledge, rector of the host church, will preach. The Rev. John Balcom, rector of St. Paul's, Newton Highlands, is in charge of the guitar players. Frank P. Pickett is organist.

In addition to the participation of the entire attending group in the music, young persons representing the churches, will serve in special capacities as ushers, crucifer, torch bearers, readers. This event is being sponsored by the Episcopal clergy and directors of Christian Education from the eight Episcopal churches in Newton. They are Church of the Messiah, Auburndale; St. Mary's, Newton Lower Falls; St. Paul's, Newton Highlands; St. John's, Newtonville; Grace Church, Newton Centre; Trinity, Newton; Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban; and Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill.

Newton Savings Bank Has Newtonville Branch Plan

Frederick C. Ober, president of the Newton Savings Bank, announces that the trustees of the bank have voted to extend further the services of the 137 year old institution by petitioning the Commissoner of Banks for authority to establish another branch office of the bank at 40-42 Austin street, Newtonville.

They also voted to establish "bonus" systematic savings accounts which earn as much as one percent more than the dividend rate on regular savings.

If permitted, the bank plans to erect a modern efficient building that will have provisions for parking on its own premises. All the regular savings bank services will be offered, including regular savings accounts, club accounts, personal loans, home and business property mortgage loans, higher earning special notice accounts, and its new, exclusive "bonus" savings accounts with even greater earning power.

The bank is also an issuing bank for low-cost savings bank life insurance. The proposed office will provide drive-in banking which is now available in the Newtonville area. This seventh office will give the bank an increased opportunity to better serve the public and its many customers in Newtonville.

The bank had total deposits of $150,183,000 as of December 31st, an increase for the year of more than 15 million dollars. This total deposit figure of over 150 million dollars coincides with the beginning of the 150th anniversary year of the mutual savings bank industry. Interestingly enough,, just prior to the Civil War, all of the then 300 mutual savings banks only had a total of $150 million in deposits which has now grown to over $52 billion.

The practices of the various socia' agencies in the two countries and the ways in which social attitudes affect the legal and social procedures will be examined by Professor McDowell, who taught courses in family law and jurisprudence during the first semester.

The research will be used as a basis for evaluating American practices in this field, he said. He plans to write a book or a series of articles based on his findings.

He will be accompanied by his wife and two children. They will reside in Hamburg, Germany.

Lee Loumos Says:

At the end of 1964, there were about 1.2 million color TV sets in use. The most optimistic estimate for color set sales in 1965 was 2.2 million but sales actually reached 2.8 million and even that number didn't begin to fill the demand.

With all the new tube plants slated to go into production, and allowing for tubes earmarked for inventory and replacement purposes, it is expected that approximately 4.2 million color sets will be produced this year. If normal demand doubles again this year, as expected, that would still leave the industry over a million sets short for 1966. It is entirely possible that we will have a man on the moon before the industry can produce enough color TV sets to fill the ever increasing demand for them.

All this should work to my customer's advantage, however, as I won't be getting color sets any faster than I have competent service personnel to install and service them. I'm sure you realize by now that good color performance depends upon proper set up and installation.

TB Association Directors Meeting To Be Held Today

The Board of Directors of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, will meet at the Pillar, House, Quinobequin Room, today, Thursday, January 27. A special invitation has been extended to Dr. Hale H. Cook, newly appointed Commissioner of Public Health for the City of Newton.

An evaluation and assessment of the Association's program for the year will be presented.

Dr. Marjorie Ellicott, chairman of the Respiratory Disease Committee, Miss Anita Charpentier, board member, and Miss Hilda G. Hope, executive director of the Association, recently attended a workshop on Respiratory Diseases at 1200 Beacon street, Brookline. Dr. Ellicott gave a progress report on the current pilot study where 968 people were ex-rayed, and 218 Pulmonary Function Tests were given at this time.

Miss Hope, executive director, has been unstinting in her work, availing herself as speaker for Womens Club and Schools of Nursing. School teachers, nurses, students and lay people have been furnished with many health Fact pamphlets, posters and films.

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has worked quietly and ever constant with the Newton Health Department providing Tine Tests to the public and parochial school children.

Since last September chest x-rays were arranged for 1,263 people. This comprised some of the employees of the Newton school system, six industries, and the guests and employees of a nursing home.

John N. Sullivan, president of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association stated that many people are under the impression that the Christmas Seal Campaign for 1965 is concluded, but it extends to March 31, 1966. Those who have not given should know its not too late to do so today.

Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, 1357 Washington street, West Newton, Massachusetts 244-4911.

WHY DO YOU WORRY ABOUT ELECTRICAL POWER FAILURES?

GORDON BURNERS WILL KEEP YOU WARM

Warm because you are generating all the electricity needed to HEAT with GAS. Warm because you are independent of all outside sources of Electric Power.

It's such a glorious experience to own a Heating Plant that, Blow High or Blow Low, in Ice Storms or Tornadoes, you are always sure of keeping warm.

Those who appreciate this Security, Heat with Gas and own a Robert-Gordon Gas Conversion Burner or a Gordon Boiler.

Are you one of the 50,000 fortunate Homeowners who have insisted upon owning a Gordon (self generating) GAS BURNER?

It's your privilege, for the asking.

5 Firemen Hurt In Newton Ctre Two-Alarm Fire

Five firefighters were taken by police to Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment of injuries received in a two-alarm fire early Monday morning that drove the Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Menk and their two children from their home at 992 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

The Menk family was unable to return to the house, and went to the home of a friend.

The blaze caused $25,000 damage as it swept the 2½ story frame house. It was fought for eight hours.

Treated and released were the following firemen: Joseph Daniels of 93 Thurston road, Newton Upper Falls; George O'Dowd of 49 Adams avenue, West Newton; Ronald Murphy of 183 Waltham street, West Newton, all suffering from smoke inhalation. Samuel Rizza of 49 Prairie avenue, Auburndale, was treated for an eye injury caused by falling plaster, and Robert Mella of 12 Milton street, West Newton, was treated for chest pains.

It was determined by Chief Frederick Perkins Jr., that the fire started in the fireplace flue.

Medicare To Be Meeting Theme Next Wednesday

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will present Wendell H. Coltin in a program on "Medicare" at its Workshop meeting on Wednesday, February 2nd at 1:45 p.m. Mr. Coltin has had for some months a daily "Medicare" program in the Boston Herald. He has recently been cited by the Regional Director of the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare for conducting this column.

There will be a question period, and refreshments will be served following the program.

Buildings

Bids submitted for the portable structures with six classrooms ranged from $60,000 to $100,000.

However, Newton officials were informed by State authorities that the bid specifications did not call for necessary facilities such as toilets, proper ventilation and a permanent-type foundation, according to Basbas.

In view of this Basbas called a conference with Building Commissioner Vincent D. Burns and other municipal officials to determine what steps should be taken.

It was decided that the most feasible plan would be to erect two concrete - block permanent buildings at a cost of about $75,000.

Since the State would reimburse the city for 40 per cent of the expense, the city would be better off in several different ways, it was pointed out.

The School Committee voted last Oct. 6 to seek the erection of portable classrooms at the Day Junior High School, and on Dec. 6 the Board of Aldermen appropriated $68,000 for this purpose.

Now the plans for the portable classrooms have been abandoned.

MEDICAL PROGRESS IN Massachusetts with the MARCH OF DIMES

ARTHRITIS
POLIO

In MASSACHUSETTS your contributions to the 1966 MARCH OF DIMES will fight crippling diseases on three major fronts:

ARTHRITIS

The MARCH OF DIMES Special Treatment Center for Juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis at the ROBERT BRECK BRIGHAM HOSPITAL in Boston is supported by all Massachusetts Chapters.

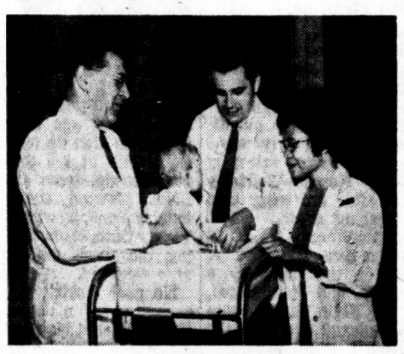

The grant from The National Foundation-March of Dimes makes possible the out-patient treatment of arthritis patients by providing part-time support for the clinic staff in addition to the necessary x-rays and laboratory work.

Referral to the March of Dimes Arthritis and Birth Defects Centers may be accomplished through the family doctor. Further information may be obtained at your local chapter of The National Foundation—March of Dimes.

BIRTH DEFECTS

The MARCH OF DIMES Birth Defects Center at the BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL emphasizes the total care of the infant with the defect and the impact on the child and its family.

Doctors, medical students and nurses are being trained in the early detection of birth defects. This information is also being communicated to local physicians.

POLIO

Hundreds of polio patients still need aid. They were stricken before the SALK and SABIN vaccines were developed with MARCH OF DIMES contributions.

These patients annually require corrective surgery, physical therapy, special shoes, braces or clinical treatment.

Research by the same health agency that was responsible for a reduction of 98% in the incidence of POLIO can, with your help, make breakthroughs in other crippling diseases.

School Board Hears Building Status Report

A memorandum to Charles E. Brown, superintendent of Schools, from John E. Gilleland, the School Department's director of business services, distributed to members of the School Committee at Monday night's meeting, contained a report on the status of various school building projects.

With reference to the Lincoln-Eliot School addition which was voted by the committee March 12, 1963, the report stated that present plans are to transfer all student equipment and supplies from the Stearns School to Lincoln-Eliot on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28 and 29, so student occupancy will be completed on Monday, Jan. 31. Stearns School classes will be housed in the new addition.

On the proposed new Burr School, bids must be obtained, the report stated, and an appropriation and bond authorization voted by the Board of Aldermen. Also, clearance on the bond authorization by the State Emergency Finance Board must be voted. Construction, it was said, may start this year, with possible occupancy in September of 1967.

Final plans and drawings for the Carr School new addition are to be completed in the immediate future, according to the report, and the project will be ready to put out to bids by spring.

$2000 Grant Awarded For Jr. College

The National Science Foundation has awarded Lasell Junior College in Auburndale a grant of $2000 for strengthening its Science Department and for continuing research by one of its faculty members, Miss A. Harriet Tinker, instructor in biological sciences.

The award is in support of a project initiated during the past summer in a National Science Foundation program of research participation for college teachers.

Under this program, with Foundation funds, Miss Tinker worked with the Icefield Ranges Research Project in the Canadian Yukon where she made extensive studies of the small mammals population.

The project is sponsored by the Arctic Institute of North America and the American Geographical Society, nominees of Lasell for the Science Foundation grant.

Miss Tinker will return to the Canadian Yukon this summer for further studies, made possible by a renewal of her Science Foundation grant.

In a congratulatory letter to Lasell's instructor, Senator Edward M. Kennedy wished Miss Tinker continued success in her research and commended her teaching.

"In these critical times," wrote Senator Kennedy, "there is nothing more important to the strength of our democracy than educated citizens."

School Board Votes For Buying Of College Land

The School Committee voted unanimously Monday night to recommend that the city, as an alternative to leasing it, purchase the Newton Junior College property at 5 Park Pl., Newtonville.

Charles W. Dudley, president of the college, now maintains his administrative offices in the building, which occupies 5500 square feet, including the third floor, which is not used at present.

Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, said the purchase price is $16,550, and that the required renovation would cost approximately $7,000. In terms of investment for the future, the land is well worth the price, Dr. Brown declared.

On recommendation of the superintendent, the committee voted to continue its annual support of $500 for the fellowship that was established three years ago by the Newton Teachers Association to allow teachers to take advantage of programs that add to their teaching ability.

Dr. Brown told the committhe members that he would like one meeting per month to be devoted to specific curriculum topics, the meetings to take the form of a presentation followed by open discussion.

The following tentative schedule, he said, had been arranged for the rest of this school year: Feb. 28, elementary mathematics; Mar. 28, elementary science; Apr. 27, elementary art; May 23, elementary reading and library, and June 27, summer programs.

Dr. Brown said he was preparing a document on the proposal, and that it would be ready for presentation to the committee next week.

Stamp Vending Machines In Newton Post Offices

Postage stamp vending machines have been installed in the box lobbies of the Waban Post Office at 83 Wyman St. and the Newtonville Post Office, located at 897 Washington St., for the convenience of the public in securing stamps before and after the normal business hours of these postoffices.

Postmaster Ephraim Martin states that the box lobbies at these two postoffices will be open during the following hours:

Waban — Monday thru Friday, 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturdays, 6:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Newtonville — Monday thru Friday, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Saturdays, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The regular service-window hours at both offices are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

The new stamp vending machines will dispense 4 and 5 cent stamps.

Boxholders at these offices will have additional hours of service to secure their mail with the box lobby areas of the postoffices open to the public.

Postmaster Martin advised that these installations were others in the program of the Post Office Department to provide additional service benefits to the public.

Norman Rabb To Head Parley

Norman S. Rabb of 129 Valentine St., West Newton, was invited by Governer John A. Volpe to be moderator of a conference on the Harrison-Willis Act Implementation. The University of Massachusetts campus Jan. 27 and 28.

More than 200 of the state's leading citizens have been invited to participate in the parley, which is designed to accelerate the drive for excellence in education in Massachusetts.

Meeting Feb. 6 For Support Of Project Exodus

Newton's leading religious and civil rights organizations are sponsoring a city-wide open meeting Sunday, February 6, to show their support for Operation Exodus, the bussing program of the Roxbury-North Dorchester Parents' Association. The meeting will start at 4 p.m. and will be held at the Eliot Church, Newton Corner.

Mrs. Ellen Jackson, chairman of the Parents' Association, will describe the activities and goals of her group, in particular the bussing program involving children from the over-crowded local schools to schools with open seats in the Boston area.

Father Thomas Carroll, director of the Catholic Guild for all the blind, will moderate the meeting.

Sponsoring the meeting are the Newton Council of Churches, the Catholic Interracial Council, Temple Beth Avodah, the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, the Roxbury-Newton Freedom School, the Newton Community Parents Association, and the Newton Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action.

Mrs. Heckler To Be Speaker At Rotary Meeting

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Newton Rotary Club to be held at 12:30 next Monday (Jan. 31) at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Councillor Heckler will speak on crime and what Massachusetts is doing about it and will discuss the steps being taken to strengthen the parole system in the Bay State. It will be the second time she has addressed the Rotary Club members.

Judges Named In President Leader Contest

Five prominent area citizens have been named by Star Market Co. as judges for the essay contest recently held for school children in the 5th through 8th grades.

Committee members chosen are Erwin D. Canham, Editor-in-Chief, Christian Science Monitor; Owen B. Kiernan, Commissioner of Education, State of Massachusetts; Alexander Brin, Publisher, The Jewish Advocate; Harold Case, President, Boston University; and Monsignor Lally, Editor of The Pilot, Boston.

This committee will meet to select twelve winners, four in each of the grades. Winners will be given a trip to Washington, D. C., where they will spend three days touring the capitol city and its many historic spots.

More than 2,300 essays were submitted in the contest, which required the students to write on any of our Presidents as a leader. Contestants wrote on every one of the Presidents, with Abraham Lincoln leading aas first choice, John F. Kennedy running second and Franklin D. Roosevelt third. It is expected that the trip will be taken during February.

Ethel says:
"George, tell me a Fairy Tale like better quality costs you less — you pocket the difference — never knowingly undersold — 1st quality irregulars — and jazz like that. Better yet, tell me a Scorbyism like there's more to a bargain than price — that no store can really sell everything 'below wholesale cost' — that there's more UNUSED photo gear lying around homes because people don't know how to use it! George, Scorbylate. Tell ALL. That Scorby's sends ALL Kodak Color Films ONLY to Kodak for Processing. That Scorby's lab makes black and white enlargements, reductions, copy negatives, slides from drawings and/or negatives etc."
Says I, Ethel, do you mind if I modestly point out that Scorby's tests all equipment before turning it over to a customer — teaches the customer HOW to USE it — services the equipment afterwards? Can I mention Scorby's Pre-Inventory Prices ar far below our usual selling prices which are always lower than most stores in Greater Boston? There's lots of parking behind 1029 Great Plain Ave., Needham. Scorby's is open from 8:30 to 6 — Fri. till 9 p.m. Prove to yourself that THERE'S NO OTHER STORE LIKE SCORBY'S for transistor radios, tape recorders, Hummels, Salton and everything photographic; sales, repairs, rental.
